THE Populists renominated Congressman Sutherland at their convention in Holdrege, Tuesday, by acclamation.

CONDITIONS in the Fifth district are much more encouraging and the expectation is widely entertained that the next representative from this district will be in harmony with the administration.

THE Democrats and Free Silver Republicans stole a march on the Populists at Holdrege, Tuesday, by nominating Congressman Sutherland first. This placed the Populists in position of endorsing, rather than the other fellows.

W. R. STARR will be the next attorney of Red Willow county, and this fact can be counted a source of satisfaction and congratulation to the tax-payers of the county. He is a lawyer of recognized ability and will give the people an able and careful prosecutor.

THE nomination of Hayward for governor is keeping the Fusion forces guessing harder than they have for a number of years. He is a large and brainy man who has the respect and admiration of all who come in contact with him and will roll up a big vote in the coming November election accordingly.

DR. J. E. HATHORN is especially well qualified for the office of representative. A professional man of liberal education, ready of speech, energetic and a careful weigher of public affairs and public duties, he will make Red Willow county a highly creditable and efficient servant in the halls of the state legislature.

The hospital, commissary and transportation departments of the army have not covered themselves with any amount of desirable honor in the Spanish-American war. They all need a little energetic and intelligent bracing up, at least. And yet the widespread sickness is largely due to wilfulness, neglect and ignorance of the volunteers themselves, especially those in camps, as well as in the unpreparedness of the departments mentioned.

It has been truly said that the next session of congress will be one of the most important since the reconstruction period, and that the demand is for large men, men of high motives and honorable intentions, men of pure purposes. The average political hack will not measure up to the requirements of the day. America is coming out into a larger place, and demands broader men to make her laws. The Fifth district should be represented by such a man, and if lightning should strike Deacon Morlan in the Republican convention which meets in Holdrege, next Tuesday evening, a great advance would be made toward securing talent and ability in our halls of legislation.

STAND up for America. Stand up for Nebraska. Stand up for Red Willow county. Stand up for McCook. Stand up for every honorable and useful organization, social, religious, political, or commercial with which you are connected. Any half-hearted support is unbecoming a man. If you can't be sanctimonious, and radical, and partisan, AND WE DON'T MAKE IT, be loyal to your own. Shoot or give up the gun; don't be a "quaker gun." Maybe your prayers are poor and faltering, your bank account small and your raiment common, but if you are true and loyal to your engagements of every sort, a multitude of sins will thus be covered. Do; don't tear down. Require nothing you would not give. Be fair and considerate of the rights of others. Maintain your own rights like a patriot. Be faithful.

THE manner in which Congressman Sutherland assailed the present administration, in his acceptance speech at Holdrege, Tuesday, because it did not declare war with Spain long before it did, accentuates the suspicion we have had for some time that Roderick Dhu is but a common, though perhaps shrewd politician, without any of the earmarks of the statesman or intelligently patriotic citizen. Nothing has paid higher tribute to the far-seeing statesmanship of President McKinley than the management of the Spanish war, which has been absolutely with a flaw. Roderick might have told them about some of his clever pension schemes without so much loss of respect.

E. N. ALLEN has been given the Furnas county delegation for state senator with enthusiasm. Ed made a strong run, two years since, and it would not surprise THE TRIBUNE to see him defeat Mr. Graham, the next time. Mr. Allen would make the district an energetic and intelligent senator and his renomination is among the possibilities, nay even probabilities of the coming senatorial convention in our city.

NORTH DIVIDE.
Stacking and threshing grain is going on at a lively rate between rains.

Misses Tillie and Roxy Brown from McCook were visitors during the week.

The corn crop is not going to be so bad after all; there's going to be more than plenty.

Mrs. Jacob Longnecker and Miss Longnecker were visitors at Mrs. Geo. Hanlein's, Tuesday afternoon.

Geo. Moehler has attached some of the farming implements belonging to A. F. Reeves to satisfy an alleged account due him.

The yield of small grain is not panning out as some thought it would early in the season, but thirty bushels to the acre is too much to expect.

Roy King has bought A. J. Hanlein's "bays" which, together with a fine rig, a nice driver and an equally nice and agreeable partner, makes an attractive turnout.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kinghorn and the boy Dan came over and spent Sunday with the writer. No word has been received from their son, Fred, who sailed for Manila early in June.

Vanie Modrell has rented the Gus Goheen place and intends to farm for himself another year. Vanie's a good hard-working lad, and no one need suppose that he'll be by himself over there for any length of time.

Watermelons are a scarce article in this locality and we are reminded of the time when not far away was located a certain patch where the melons had been watered and shaded and tended to such an extent that they grew to an amazing size, and the only fellow in the neighborhood known to hammer a bass viol as it should be helped the writer to take more than one of those same melons into a nearby cornfield, and we had anything but a hot time.

TYRONE.
Florence Moore is in Holdrege. The Coleman items are much commented upon by parties here.

E. R. Bee of Cambridge was through here, last week, buying calves.

Olie Nelson and family from Furnas county were here on a visit, last week.

Some argue that the deep wells on vacant lands can be put to no better use than to put money lenders in.

We learn that the owners of the Himar Davis farm will put down a well and build a small house, this fall.

At the Epworth League meeting, Sunday, Frank Moore gave an extended report of the assembly at Lincoln Park.
