THE blessings of freedom and civilization are by no means unmixed: One Milwaukee firm has already shipped 67 car-loads of bottled beer to Manila.

Few cities of McCook's size can claim a more philanthropic people: McCook has already given to the Cuban sufferers and for Red Cross purposes over $325. We are proud of the record.

THAT the state officers of Nebraska should be much better paid must be quite evident to all. The idea of paying but $2,500 to the governor, state treasurer and supreme judges is preposterously ridiculous. There have been object lessons enough to teach the average Nebraskan that the present plan is more than penny wise and pound foolish. It is inexcusable and idiotic.

COLONEL BIXBY has great difficulty to restrain himself when he thinks of how much fun Colonel Rosewater will have with Colonel Hitchcock. Bix can already see the smoke of battle and hear the bursting of shells. Colonel Rosewater will work his dynamite gun with most desperate energy and effect, and with the aid and consent of Dave Mercer, "won't do a thing" to Colonel Hitchcock. Nada, niente, nichts, rien, nothing.

COLONEL MITCHELL makes bold to claim that THE TRIBUNE took him too seriously when we imagined that he was trying to work the church racket in favor of Samuel Randolph Smith. The colonel didn't mean anything of the sort. A thousand times no. Even ten thousand times no, and never. That was only the colonel's clever style and way of closing the period. The colonel will deny, next week, that Samuel Randolph carries any cards up his sleeves at all, or that he ever dreamed of asserting that he did. In fine, as usual, the colonel is only amusingly funny, and not at all serious.

THE "yellow" journals are luxuriating in largely imaginary "hells" of army camps and the like. War is not picnicking, and those who went into the service with that idea have had a rude awakening. Those who imagined that the dangers of that southern clime could be met with impunity were also mistaken. Most of this rot about corruption and ignorance and mismanagement is nonsense and political buncomb. Most of the pain and apparent neglect and illness is unavoidable. But the "yellow" journalistic fakirs must have something sensational.

Capt. Claire E. Adams Nominated.

The Republicans of the Fifth congressional district met in convention in Holdrege, Tuesday evening, August 30th, and by acclamation and a standing vote named Captain Claire E. Adams of Superior, Nuckolls county, as their standard bearer.

L. W. Hague of Kearney county was temporary chairman of the convention and W. S. Perine of Hall temporary secretary. C. J. Dilworth of Adams county was permanent chairman, W. E. Babcock of Furnas permanent secretary, and W. S. Perine, assistant. Rousing speeches were made by both chairmen.

Before the convention got down to business the ladies' glee club of Minden and the Holdrege male quartette sang a number of selections most acceptably.

After the reading of the following telegram from Hon. W. E. Andrews, Washington, D. C., the convention selected its permanent officers, named a committee on resolutions, and commenced the regular work of the session:

"Washington, D. C., August 30, 1898. Mr. R. Q. Stewart, Chairman Congressional Committee: Hearty greetings to the Republicans of the Fifth Nebraska district. Let us send to Washington a loyal supporter of President McKinley, whose administration and statesmanship have won the admiration of the civilized world. I will be with you under the stars and stripes at Manila and Santiago. Signed, W. E. ANDREWS."

The committee on resolutions made the following report, which was unanimously adopted by the convention:

RESOLUTIONS.
FIRST—We, the Republicans of the Fifth congressional district of Nebraska, in convention assembled, heartily commend the magnificent record of President McKinley in peace and in war, and endorse the wise measures of the Republican members in congress that delivered the country from financial distress; that recalled the era of prosperity; that established the credit of the nation; that restored confidence to the business world; that set our machinery to work; that enabled our farmers to sell their products more readily and at higher prices, and that relieved all our people from the disastrous effects of Fusion blunders and incompetency.

SECOND—We point with pride to the wise foreign policy of the present administration in its prudence in avoiding complications with foreign powers; in looking after the best interests of the Cubans in our conflict with Spain; the intelligent management of the army and naval forces that brought victory to the American arms at Manila and Santiago and terminated the war; the energy with which it has prosecuted the just war against Spain and the final conditions of peace which will forever free from tyranny the Spanish West Indies, and has given this nation the control of the Caribbean sea and the ultimate uniting of the two great oceans, by the building of the Nicaragua canal, thereby enabling us to maintain a powerful navy at a minimum cost.

THIRD—We are unalterably opposed to removing the American flag from any land upon which it has been planted by the intrepid bravery of our army and navy.

FOURTH—Important problems are arising out of the war with Spain, not only as to captured territory, but the great commercial advantages to accrue to this country. We find ourselves already in possession of unlimited trade in South America, for which we have been equally contending with foreign powers for years. So great are our advantages that we can already hail it as the "Greater America," and we feel safe in placing the settlement of all these questions in the hands of our patriotic and wise president and a Republican congress.

FIFTH—We renew our allegiance to the principles of the Republican party that carried us to victory in eighteen hundred and ninety six, and secured this country from financial and industrial disasters, and we dedicate ourselves to the task of carrying out those pledges for sound money and protection of the American farm and home industries.

SIXTH—We renew our allegiance to the patriotic brave men who upheld the honor of our flag by their valorous deeds from '61 to '65 and saved us, a country reunited; and in their declining years let us remember them and their dependent ones and strew their pathway with the choicest blessings and tenderest care of a grateful people.

SEVENTH—We heartily commend the patriotism and bravery of our volunteer and regular army and navy, who left all that men hold dear on earth and answered the call of President McKinley in the Spanish-American war. And we hereby express to our brave boys our regret that they have been refused the right of suffrage while battling for humanity and their country's flag. And we pledge ourselves to remember them, not only in their trials, but their dependent ones as well.

EIGHTH—We denounce as political trickery, the acts of those members of congress from Nebraska, who, while posing as the friends of the soldiers of the late Civil war, at the same time opposed by their vote in congress the measures intended to raise the revenue with which to pay the pensions of the veterans; and who, as soon as they learn that the Republican administration, an administration that is now and always has been friendly to old soldiers, has granted any particular pension, fraudulently use their telegraph frank, received by them at the hands of corporations, to make such believe that his pension was procured through their instrumentality.

J. L. McPheely of Minden placed Captain Adams in nomination and the same was heartily seconded by Searles of Nuckolls. The nomination was made by a rising vote unanimously. Captain Adams accepted the honor in a stirring, patriotic speech of considerable length, which fairly bristled with party fervor and patriotic zeal.
