Pretty, If Not Political.

The Czar's rescript, whether inspired by the Queen, by a presence of the Anglo-German agreement, by the apprehension that France may take the bit in her teeth, or, as has been generally assumed, by all three, and Muscovite guile besides, is, nonetheless, an auriferous peace unfurled in a world full of war. With the motives behind it we have nothing to do. It is the beauty of the spectacle that allures. Were matters a trifle less mixed, had Russia fewer irons in the fire, and were the Colossus which she is in better form to fight, it might seem more ideal. But even so, out of chaos, sissie stars and out of rescripts, hopes. That the latter are chimerical is a side issue. The aspirations of the best of us are usually nothing else. Yet divest man of them and there remains but the brute—Collier's Weekly.

One Minute Cough Cure surprises people by its quick cures and children may take it in large quantities without the least danger. It has won for itself the best reputation of any preparation used today for colds, croup, tickling in the throat or obstinate coughs. A. McMillen.

LOOK OUT FOR THE PEDDLER
 And Remember What He Tells You.

He may say that he will give you three or five years to pay for a range. If he does, don't you believe him; he won't do it.
 He may say that the paper you sign is only a receipt to show where the range is. Don't believe him. It is a note, and if you sign it you must pay it.
 He may tell you that his company only wants 6 per cent interest, and that they will extend the time as long as is wanted. If he does, don't believe him. Thousands have been told the same story, and their notes had to be paid when due, or a law suit.
 He may say that he will board out $10 or $20 with you. If he does, don't believe him. It is seldom, if ever, done.
 He may promise to take your old stove in part payment, and that another man will come for it. If he does, don't believe him. It is never done.
 He may say that his reservoir is better than the MAJESTIC'S, which is not true, for the reason that it is connected by pipe and a large lock nut, which when once rusted, cannot be removed without cutting it out. It steams and it pounds, drips water on the floor, is uncomfortable in the kitchen, and rusts the water, unfitting it for use. The MAJESTIC movable reservoir don't fill with lime or mud, don't freeze or burst, don't rust the water, makes no noise, don't drip on the floor, and will last forever.
 He may say that his range is made of malleable iron, and the MAJESTIC of cast iron. If he does, tell him it is not true; that it has more malleable parts than his range, and such parts are heavier and better.
 He may say that his range has a heavier fire box. If he does, don't believe him. The fire box in the MAJESTIC is double the weight of that in his range.
 He may say that the steel parts in his range are heavier than in the MAJESTIC. If he does, say to him that you know better, and that you have it from authority better than he gives.
 He may say that his range is better than the MAJESTIC. If he does, don't believe him. It is not true. The MAJESTIC is heavier and better constructed, is made of better material, lasts longer, is more easily managed and consumes one-half less fuel. He may plead as a saint, but he won't tell you who follows for the money, and that it must be paid when the collector comes.
 He may say that his company owns a mortgage on competitors. If he does, don't believe him. The only mortgages possibly owned are the ones on their customers.
 He may say that repairs for the MAJESTIC RANGES cannot be had from dealers who sell them. If he does, it is false, as the dealer can be found at all times, and is responsible to you. Ask Mr. Peddler where he can be found after he leaves you.
 He may tell you that, if his range is not satisfactory after thirty days' use, the inspector will come and get it, giving back your note. If he does, don't believe him. The inspector don't come; it is the collector, and if you are responsible, he never leaves without the money, a mortgage, or a law suit.
 He may say that his range is riveted and the MAJESTIC is bolted. If he does, he is a negotiator of falsehood. In the construction of the MAJESTIC it is solidly riveted, the only bolts used being for brackets and shelf.
 He may say that he will take corn, wheat or stock at a high price for the range. If he does see that it is so stated on the face of the note, the time to be delivered, at what place, and that the terms are written with pen and ink plainly. If this is not done, don't sign his note. If you do, you will pay it in cash, as his verbal agreement is of no value in such matters.
 He may say that his company is very wealthy. If he does, you might ask him if this money was made on the plan as now carried on wherever possible, regardless of the dealers and without paying taxes.

Out in Kansas
 lives a happy wife. She writes: "I have used Mother's Friend before two confinements. The last time I had twins, and was in labor only a few minutes. Suffered very little." The reason why does expectant mothers so much good is because it is an external liniment, to be applied upon the outside, where much of the strain comes. It helps because the pores of the skin readily absorb it, and it comes into direct contact with and is absorbed by the parts involved. Morning sickness is quickly banished, and nervousness is kept completely away. The sense of dread and foreboding is not experienced, even during labor itself. Confinement is short and almost without pain. Recovery is quick and sure. Best of all, Mother's Friend benefits the unborn just as much as the expectant mother, and when the little one comes it will be strong, lusty and healthy.
Mother's Friend
 Druggists sell Mother's Friend for $1 a bottle. Send for our free book on the subject, finely illustrated.
