Festival of Mountain and Plain at Denver, October 5-7. Low rates via Burlington Route. See the ticket agent.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve the great pile cure. A. McMillen.

SCALE BOOKS—For sale at THE TRIBUNE office. Best in the market.

THE TRIBUNE and Demorest's Family Magazine for $1.75 a year, strictly in advance.

THE TRIBUNE and The Toledo Blade for $1.25 a year, strictly in advance.

Low rates to Denver, via the Burlington route, October 3-4 5-6, account Festival of Mountain and Plain.

More than twenty million free samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers. What better proof of their confidence in it's merits do you want? It cures piles, burns, scalds and sores in the shortest space of time. A. McMillen.

"I can't see how any family lives without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says J. R. Adams, a well known druggist of Geneva, Ala., in a letter inquiring the price of a dozen bottles, that he might not only have it for use in his own family but supply it to his neighbors. The reason some people get along without it, is because they do not know its value, and what a vast amount of suffering it will save. Wherever it becomes known and used, it is recognized as a necessity, for it is the only remedy that can always be depended upon for bowel complaints, both for children and adults. For sale by L. W. McConnell & Co.

Triennial Conclave, Knights Templar.

Pittsburg, Oct. 10-14. One fare and the round trip to Pittsburg is the rate offered by the Burlington Route for the occasion named above.

Tickets will be on sale Oct. 7, 8, 9 and 10, and will be good on regular trains of the Burlington Route as well as on the Knights Templar official train which will leave Omaha at 5 p. m., Saturday, Oct. 8, reaching Chicago at 8:20 next morning and Pittsburg at 5:50 a. m., Monday, Oct. 10.

For tickets, berths in the through sleeping car or information about return limits, excursions from Pittsburg, etc. see nearest B. & M. R. R. agent. 9-30-2ts.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases and especially piles there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. When you call for DeWitt's don't accept counterfeits or frauds. You will not be disappointed with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A. McMillen.

THE INDIAN CONGRESS

a permanent feature of the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition at Omaha.

NOW OPEN. CLOSING NOV. 1

Forty Tribes of North American Indians represented.

Unique Ethnological Exhibit. Rare opportunity to see the various types of American Indians in their native costumes and habitations.

Nearly a Thousand Indians on the Great Encampment Grounds within the Exposition Enclosure.

Under the direction of Capt. W. A. Mercer, U. S. A., these Indians tribes participate in their spectacular dances nearly every evening.

THE WAR DANCE, THE GHOST DANCE, THE SUN DANCE, THE SNAKE DANCE, THE MEDICINE DANCE, and other traditional rites of the red man are performed by these Indians.

This great ethnological exhibit, in aid of which the United States Congress appropriated $40,000, will continue to the end of the Exposition.

Reduced Railroad Rates from All Points now in Force.

One Minute Cough Cure, cures. That is what it was made for.

NORTH COLEMAN.

John Stryker has an uncomfortable swelling on his neck.

Threshing is all the rage and is being pushed with vigor. Help is scarce.

A young thresher was welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mitchell, on Monday.

Rev. Mayfield is back again on this charge. Rev. Vivian expected to go to Benkelman.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Church just returned from their Trans-Mississippi exposition trip.

A couple of Henry Carothers' nephews have been visiting with their relatives in this vicinity.

An account of the lamentable accident that happened to Chas. Simmerman will appear elsewhere in THE TRIBUNE.

W. S. Bixler's wheat that he threshed last was better than the first as he had 30 acres that went 26 bushels to the acre.

A Dunkard or Brethren minister is expected to hold a series of meetings in the vicinity of Box Elder in the near future so we are informed.

Henry Carothers is one of the successful farmers as his wheat went 22 bushels per acre and in consequence he will erect a good sized barn.

The Misses Drucilla and Eliza Traphagen and Ada Simmerman went graping on Spring creek. They were entertained so royally by Miss Millie Shepherd, that they want to go again.

R. Traphagen finished his own job of threshing last Monday. We do not remember just how much wheat he had but it was over 1000 bushels. Some of his spring wheat went 22 bushels per acre.

Last Sunday was unavoidably badly bent if not broken by so much threshing being done during the week past and so much coming on this week. The ox was in the gutter, so to speak, and it had to be helped out.

The next thing on the program will be putting in fall grain and thus it is jump and rush and hurry up before daybreak. Hurrah boys! The day's work not complete till the shades of night have fallen. Oh, who wouldn't be a farmer.

GERVER PRECINCT CAUCUS.

The Republicans of Gerver precinct will meet in caucus on the evening of Oct. 3d, at 9 o'clock p. m., at the Pleasant Prairie school-house, for the purpose of placing in nomination a precinct ticket and transacting such other business as may come before said caucus.

H. I. PETERSON, Committeeman.

THE FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS.

Professor Draper's Sister Sat Thirty Minutes For Her Portrait.

Elizabeth Flint Wade has an illustrated paper on "Photography—Its Marvels" in St. Nicholas. The author says: The first accounts of this great discovery are very entertaining reading. Professor Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, was in Paris when the news was published, and at once went to see Daguerre's wonderful pictures. In describing them afterward he said that moving objects made no impression on the plate, for a picture taken of a crowded boulevard showed it as if entirely deserted, with the exception of a man having his shoes polished. The man's feet, he said, were well defined, because they were kept stationary, but he was without head or body, for these were in motion.

To America belongs the honor of making the first photographic portrait, the artist being Professor John Draper, a professor and afterward the president of the University of New York. His victim was his sister, Miss Catherine Draper. He powdered her face, that the likeness might be more quickly impressed on the sensitive plate, and for 30 minutes Miss Draper sat—or, at least, tried to sit—as immovable as a statue.

The first class in photography was formed in Boston in the spring of 1840 by Daguerre's agent, Gouard of Paris. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, then a student in Harvard, became an enthusiastic member of the class. In his diary, under date of April 1, 1840, is this entry: "On my way home I stopped at the shop and got my daguerrotype thermometer. There seems to be a great demand; there were three or four others there."

THE RICH RUSSIAN.

He Has a Weakness For an Army of Family Servants.

We were a family of 8, occasionally of 10 or 12 says Prince Kropotkin in The Atlantic, but 50 servants at Moscow, and half as many more in the country, were considered not one too many. Four coachmen to attend a dozen horses, three cooks for the masters and two more for the servants, a dozen men to wait upon us at dinner time—one man, plate in hand, standing behind each person seated at the table—and girls innumerable in the maidservants' room, but how could any one do with less than this?

Besides, the ambition of every landed proprietor was that everything required for his household should be made at home by his "own" men.

"How nicely your piano is always tuned. I suppose Herr Schimmel must be your tuner?" one of the visitors would remark.

To be able to answer, "I have my own piano tuner," was in those times the correct thing.

"What beautiful pastry!" the guests would exclaim when a work of art, composed of ices and pastry, appeared toward the end of the dinner. "Confess, prince, that it comes from Tremble" (the fashionable pastry cook).

"It is my own confectioner, a pupil of Tremble, whom I have allowed to show what he can do," was the reply which elicited general admiration.

To have embroideries, harnesses, furniture—in fact everything—made by one's "own" men was the ideal of the rich and respected landed proprietor.

Bismarck as Dr. Jekyll.

No greater contrast could possibly be imagined than that which existed between the Bismarck of private life and the Bismarck of politics. "In the home circle," writes a correspondent who knew him well, "he was perfectly charming, easy going and good natured. He was passionately fond of children, and I have seen him over and over again have a game with the little ones of his gardener, who were very familiar with him and would not hesitate to climb upon his knee.

"Once when his gardener's little girl died the great statesman went to condole with him. He was dreadfully upset and while holding the poor father's hand burst into tears, for he was very fond of the child. He kissed the little corpse and himself placed a bunch of roses in its hand. He was always eager to assist his poorer neighbors and enjoyed chatting with them on all subjects but politics. These he never mentioned."—London Chronicle.

The Professor's Wisdom.

The stern professor of the feminine preparatory school sat at his desk trying to unravel a knotty problem when a fluffy haired miss of 16 approached.

"Please, sir," she began in a tremulous voice, "will you grant me permission to go out riding with my brother this afternoon?"

Now, the old man had not forgotten the days of his youth, neither was he a fool, and looking over his spectacles he slowly said:

"So you want to go riding with your brother, do you? By the way, is this brother of yours any relation to you?"—Chicago News.

Servian Marriages.

Servian men do not marry for love, but to secure an additional worker for the household, so very young men marry women several years older than themselves, as girls are less experienced in housework. In the lower and middle classes women are always helped last, and may not sit down unbidden in the presence of the men.

There are only 3,842 left of the Ainos of Japan—the "Indians" of that country. Nearly all of them live on the northern island of Yezo.

It has been estimated that it would take a man 3,000 years to read all the standard works.

The British postoffice makes $20,000 a year by unclaimed money orders.

When Hungry in China.

There was a painful lack of variety in our food. Men dying of thirst spend their last hour in thinking of iced champagne, sherry cobbler, cocktails and drafts of beer, whiskies and sodas, dead horses' heads or whatever their particular beverage may be. We gastronomically fooled ourselves to the top of our bent. "I think," one would say, "when we get to the Hotel de Paris tonight we'll have a nice little French dinner of six courses, with coffee and green chartreuse to wind up with."

"Well," another would remark, "I should be content with some soup, a little fish, a slice of beef and some tart." "Chops and tomato sauce for me," murmured a third, oblivious of the fact that befell Mr. Pickwick, who had a similar desire. Then we would reach a slimy, begrimed village, creep into a smelly hut and make our dinner of pork and rice, or rice and pork when we desired to vary the menu. But one night, at a spot called Taiping-pu, when we called for the perennial pork we were informed we could not be supplied. "No pork," we exclaimed, "no pork in China! Why, Chinamen are three parts pork." Then we were told we were in a Mussulman village, where swine were an abomination, but we could have salt beef. We jumped joyfully at the salt beef, so called, though we knew perfectly well it was nothing else but stale, unprofitable, sinewy wild goat.—Travel

A Day to the Cause.

Mrs. De Gadd—I heard the awfullest things about Mr. De Good today. They say he steals the church funds.

Mr. De G.—Nonsense. "Oh, I've no doubt it's true. Mrs. Veragood, that horrid young widow, you know, seems to be infatuated with him, and I shouldn't wonder a bit if they'd pawn the communion service for a bridal outfit. By the way, Mrs. Einsoul has not been out of the house for a week, and people think her husband has been beating her, but that isn't a circumstance to the way they talk about Mrs. Highwind. I saw her on the street today, and she said she felt sick, but most likely she'd been on an opium debauch. She has her husband's collars and cuffs washed at a Chinese laundry, and she's been seen to go there for them herself. Oh, she's a terror! Mrs. Highwind's husband has been away for two weeks, and I've got my opinion about it too. People say Mrs. Tiptop's hired girl left two weeks ago, the very day Mr. —"

"See here! Where did you hear all this?"

"I've been out collecting money for the heathen."—New York Weekly.

The Deacy of the Dandy.

Brummel went to prison for debt, but came out again to resume his fopperies. His friends made him a small allowance of £120 per annum—equal at Caen to £300—but he could not be expected to live on such a pittance. When he had not 4 francs in the world, he would order boot polish at 5 francs a bottle from Paris and call the tradesman who supplied it "a scoundrel" for venturing to ask for his money. In the end his intellect gave way. He lost his memory and much of his little mind.

He grew slovenly and careless, yet to the last clung to his eau de cologne and some other luxuries. Finally, his mind all gone, he was removed to a charity hospital, being now reduced to the utmost impoverishment and content to change his linen once a month, instead of three times a day, as of old. Here he died, under the care of sisters of charity, on March 30, 1840. Thus ended the striking career of perhaps the most worthless fop whom history records, his death being a fitting termination to his useless life.—Lippincott's.

Melba's First Appearance.

Mme. Melba recently gave an interesting account of her first public appearance. "I was quite a young girl in Australia," she said, "when, notwithstanding the persistent discouragement of my father, who was averse to the idea of a singer's career for me, I engaged a hall and sent round a notice to all my friends. Unfortunately somebody mentioned the little scheme to my father, and he, furious at my clandestine enterprise, begged every one of his acquaintances to uphold his parental authority by ignoring the performance. But I wasn't disheartened, and at the hour announced for the commencement of my concert stepped on to the platform—to find myself face to face with an audience of two. And nobody else came."

A Hard Pic.

That German was a delight, her cookery was often vile, but she was amusing. Her first efforts at pastry making were lamentable. "Margarete, what was the matter with the apple tart? The crust was like a stone." "Oh, madame, I worked so hard. I said to myself, 'Now be harder I work be better it will be,' so I rolled and I rolled, and I used all my strength, and now it is von stone."

One morning Margarete bounces into my room and bursts into an injured voice, "Madame, does our coachman belong to my towel?" At last I discover that she refers to the round towel in the scullery, on which the offender had wiped his hands in passing.—Cornhill Magazine.

Angelic Acid.

Propos of acids, there is an angelic acid, obtained from that most graceful of our unbelliciferous plants, cultivated in England in the sixteenth century as a pot herb and still used as a candied sweetmeat. From this "herb-angelick," or "root of the Holy Ghost," whose fragrance was reputed good against poison and pestilence, was also distilled a perfume, charmingly named angel water, affected by the beauties of the seventeenth century. "I met," says Sedley, "the prettiest creature in New Springarden. Angel water was the worst scent about her."—Cornhill Magazine.

Every Month

There are thousands of women who suffer death from irregular menses. Sometimes the "period" comes too often—sometimes not often enough—sometimes the flow is too scant, and again it is too profuse. Each symptom shows that Nature needs help, and that there is trouble in the organs concerned. Be careful when in any of the above conditions. Don't take any and every nostrum advertised to cure female troubles.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR is the one safe and sure medicine for irregular or painful menstruation. It cures all the ailments that are caused by irregularity, such as leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, nervousness; pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides, hips and limbs. By regulating the menses so that they occur every twenty-eighth day, all those aches disappear together. Just before your time comes, get a bottle and see how much good it will do you. Druggists sell it at 6c.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

In the District Court of Red Willow county, State of Nebraska. In the matter of the estate of Michael Travers, deceased. This cause came for hearing on the petition of James Doyle, administrator de bonis non of the estate of Michael Travers, deceased, praying for a license to sell the following described real estate, viz: The southeast quarter of section four, township three, range thirty, Red Willow county, Nebraska, or a sufficient amount of the same to bring the sum of $500.00 for the purpose of the payment of the debts allowed against said estate and for the costs of administration. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me in the district court room in McCook, Red Willow county, Nebraska, on the 10th day of October, 1898, at 9 o'clock a. m., to show cause why a license should not be granted to said administrator to sell so much of the above-described real estate of said deceased as shall be necessary to pay said debts and expenses. It is hereby ordered that a copy of this order to show cause be published for four consecutive weeks in THE McCOOK TRIBUNE, a newspaper published in the county wherein said real estate is situated. Dated this 30th day of August, 1898. G. W. NOBLES, Judge of the District Court. C. H. Boyle, Attorney for Administrator.
