

It is the Cambridge Clarion vice the Cambridge Kaleidoscope with J. M. Hollingsworth as editor, J. C. Harlan retiring after fourteen years' service.

THE vote on U. S. senator in the legislature, yesterday, gave Hayward 35, Thompson 10, Webster 7. A committee has been appointed to draft rules to govern a senatorial caucus.

A TENDER has been telegraphed the president from Nebraska offering to recruit a regiment of cavalry for service in the Philippines. T. J. Majors, H. C. Russell, J. H. Culver, J. D. Gage and C. E. Adams have their names attached to the telegram.

A BILL has been introduced in the senate and house reducing the number of judicial districts in the state. Under the proposed bill the Tenth judicial district would include as follows: Phelps, Kearney, Franklin, Harlan, Furnas, Gosper, Furnas, Frontier, Red Willow, Hayes, Hitchcock, Chase and Dundy counties.

BRIGADIER GENERAL CHARLES P. EAGAN, commissary general of subsistence, has been suspended from rank and duty for six years for his ungentlemanly and unsoldierly remarks concerning the general commanding. The sentence will take him up to within a short time of his retirement from the army on half pay, when he will likely be reinstated.

THE Philippine question took a lively turn, last Saturday night, when the insurgents at Manila, in the cover of darkness, attacked the American forces. The battle waged during that night and the following day, with the result that the insurgents were driven back and defeated by the American forces, who fought with characteristic bravery and inflicted heavy punishment on the enemy, whose loss is placed as high as 4,000 killed, wounded and captured. American loss: Killed, three officers and 56 men; wounded, eight officers and 199 enlisted men; two enlisted men missing. The First Nebraska did heroic service in the advance. Seven are reported killed and 26 wounded, in the regiment.

PERHAPS no article that has recently appeared in the magazines has attracted more attention and comment than the one from the pen of Mrs. Lew Wallace in the February number of the Ladies' Home Journal, in which she gravely decries the present school system, which she assails as the "murderer of the innocents of the nineteenth century." Those who are even little acquainted with the free school system of America must stand in utter astonishment at the extreme views and statements made by the lady in question and must feel chagrined in an equal degree that so over-wrought an article should so widely stir the American heart. The conditions described by Mrs. Wallace can exist only in the most limited degree and do not touch the great system as an entirety. The American child of today has the best chance ever given by a free people for a free education under the most favorable circumstances, physical and mental.

BARTLEY. A SOCIAL EVENING.

This frolicsome and antiquated municipality was the scene of a very merry social affair on Thursday evening of last week. Then it was that Sam Bryan and Oliver Bush with a convivial friend or two drove up to the little hamlet on the west and returned with their pelts and a couple of bottles filled with condensed cussedness and wearing a determination to distinguish themselves. On arriving Sam made his way to that popular and swell cafe cycled the Star restaurant, halting en route to shake hands with his shadow and embrace the friendly lamp-posts as they came by, and there announced his ability and willingness to whip his weight in wiccats, intimating incidentally that he would find pleasure in mixing things with Bush. The last named gentleman (heaven save the mark) soon sauntered in with combativeness in his soul and a gatling gun in his southeast pocket, and in an exchange of pleasantries both began to feel that the other was a Spaniard and it was his duty as a patriot to remember the Maine. Bush retired in good order to the inner room of the hash-foundry and Sam followed as far as the door of the partition to conclude his remarks. After a spirited interchange of hot air Bush got action on his artillery and after the din and confusion of battle had subsided Sam took an inventory and found that his left hand had been the means of supplying a bullet after it came through the partition. Bush's action being quite rude and unexpected Sam was a trifle embarrassed for the once, but he soon recovered his composure and a stool and evinced a yearning to part his friend's hair with the latter. He was dissuaded, however, by some friends, and Bush improved the opportunity to depart without even a formal "our reservoir."

Then someone who didn't understand the playful spirit of the affair telegraphed for Sheriff Neel, who made an early call at the Bush domicile, the next morning, with the request that the young man accompany him up town. With a gesture which might be interpreted to mean "Nev' min", that'll be all right some day," he informed the sheriff that he would be up at his earliest convenience, or words to that effect, but the officer argued that a Bush in the hand was better than a load of saplings by promise and his eloquence persuaded the young man to accompany him. In the evening he was brought before Squire Hodgkin's court where a charge of shooting with intent to kill had been preferred against him, and as he couldn't think of anything to improve matters he acquiesced with the views of the county attorney and opined that the charge was about the right thing. After pleading guilty his bond was fixed at $500 and not being able to furnish it he was remanded to the keeping of the sheriff. He now languishes in durance vile with abundant opportunity to cogitate on the advisability of wearing Krupp guns in the pocket behind. The case will come up at the term of court in the county seat, next week, and this bold, bad man will doubtless find that his protracted and unceasing efforts to break into the penitentiary have been crowned with success.

Bryan had the bullet extracted from his "flipper" on Sunday, but while the member is quite painful, it won't keep him from working at his trade. Sam has been engaged in heavy resting most of the winter.

E. E. Smith shipped a car of hogs to Denver, Monday.

C. F. Shaffer was seeing the sights at the county seat, Tuesday.

DeWitt Clinton has been assisting in Duff Grain Co.'s elevator, this week.

Sam Bryan went up to Indianola, Saturday evening, to have the bullet removed which lodged in his "mitt" during the late unpleasantness.

There was a very pleasant social gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Finnegan, Thursday evening, and the young people had the usual jolly time.

W. H. Garrett of Phillipsburg, Kansas, stopped off between trains, Tuesday, to negotiate with W. F. Miller on a land trade. He expects to locate here in the future.

Richard Knox and bride of McCook were the guests of J. F. Farrell and family, Sunday. They were on their return from a visit to the Black Hills country and Billings, Montana.

B. F. Sibbett has moved from the Sexton property, recently purchased by J. M. Brown, into the Chrysler residence. The doctor will make some repairs on his new possession and occupy it in the near future.

J. G. Ogg returned, Tuesday morning, from his old home in Missouri, where he was summoned to the death-bed of his father. He spent several weeks in that state and reports extreme cold weather, being very wet and muddy before freezing up.

Frank Walsworth, who is attending a medical school in Kansas City, spent a few days here with his brother Floyd, the first of the week, having been called home to attend court at Beaver City. He returned to the City on the Kaw, Tuesday morning.

Sam Clark and Perry Premer went up to McCook, Monday evening, on a matter of business, returning home on the following morning train. The boys took in the play in the county seat, Monday night, and there are good reliable men who will make affidavits that they sat so far front that the dance artist kicked sand into their eyes.

All kinds of Valentines at the "Bee Hive."

DANBURY.

Last Friday morning the register indicated twenty degrees below.

The cold weather has been holding on pretty well for the past two weeks.

A. C. Furman of the News is again able to be out after a siege of measles lasting two weeks.

Thomas Good of Wilsonville was up, Wednesday, and bought ten head of cattle from Everist and Wicks.

The representative of Dr. Coe sanitarium of Kansas City, who has been here for a month past, left on Monday for Denver.

Dr. W. A. DeMay is on the sick list, this week. The doctor has been ailing for some time, but owing to so much sickness he has no been able to take care of himself. The Atwood doctor was summoned, Thursday, and we hope he will soon be able to attend to his work.

Mrs. Martha Hall, wife of William Hall, who lives a few miles northwest of Indianola, died on last Friday, and was buried on Sunday, in the Indianola cemetery. The funeral services were held in the Congregational church.

Word was received here, Tuesday night, that C. W. Beck of Lincoln was dead. Judge Beck was county judge of this county for two terms, and many friends in this city and county will sympathize deeply with the bereaved family.

J. A. Taylor, local manager for the Barnett Lumber Company, has resigned to accept a position in Holdrege. Mr. Taylor has made many friends here who are sorry to see him leave. C. W. Keys of Bartley, we understand, will fill the vacancy here.

Our former townsman, R. L. Duckworth, now residing in Frontier county, come to town, Tuesday, to bring his young son in for surgical treatment, the lad having fallen and sustained a dislocation of the left arm at the elbow. Dr. Hoyt reduced the dislocation.

Ed. Lawrence, of Danbury, who was one of the participants in a pugilistic encounter in this city, several nights ago, was brought before his honor, Police Judge Hetherington, Tuesday, and fined $5 and trimmings. By the way, our new police judge and city marshal seem to make a pretty good team.

From the various reports we hear about town, the Woodmen lodge of this place is having very interesting sessions. They are said to have exhibitions of hypnotism and oratory galore. At the present writing Bro. Phillips of the Reporter is commander-in-chief, determined to hold the fort if it breaks a lame-string.

Novelties in Valentines at the "Bee Hive."

BOTH branches of the Nebraska legislature are now on record as favoring a direct vote of the people for United States senator. And the people almost universally want it. That system will put an end to these fiascos that every few years bring anything but high credit to the people of the different states.

NORTH COLEMAN.

So far as known there has been no loss of stock on account of the severe weather.

Levi Sommers will soon move over in Chase county where he will reside in the future.

Elza Ward has hauled two loads of material with which to build a granary on his homestead.

Wm. Prentice is selling off the personal property of the late A. Prentice, and will soon return to Illinois.

Most of those who have had a tussel with the grip are convalescing. It was a pretty hard grip with some of them.

The cold wave predicted came with a vengeance, but we manage to keep right side up when we don't slip on a piece of ice.

S. C. Johns is getting ready to move to his farm not far from McCook. We are sorry to have him go as he is a good neighbor.

The literary at Spring Creek flourished like a green bay tree four weeks ago, but the combination of grip and cold snap has been too much for it to withstand.

Rev. D. L. Matson has not had any meeting at Spring Creek for two appointments, although the congregation was there to hear him. He has been sick, but we hope he will soon be able to resume his work.

The cold wave did not only touch us here in Nebraska, but we learn from Illinois that the thermometer has ranged from twenty to thirty degrees below zero there. And at Cando, North Dakota, it was fifty below on the twenty-eighth of January.

RED WILLOW.

It's real cold at the Willow. Wonder if that news is of import ance.

Mrs. J. F. Helm went up to Stratton, the first of the week, to attend the funeral of her little grandchild.

There were lots of beautiful Light Brahmas from the Willow at the chicken show in McCook, this week. First honors were shared between Mesdames Helm, Taylor and Byfield, Mrs. Helm securing first on pen, Mrs. Taylor first on cock, and Mrs. Byfield the same on hen, pullet and cockerel, Benj. Owing to the cold weather there was no church at this appointment, Sunday.

A crowd of young people went out sleigh-riding, the other night, but the load was too much for the horses and they came very near not coming home till daylight.

AFTER-EFFECTS OF GRIP.

Mrs. S. E. Dicker, of Osyka, Miss., in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, says: "I am sure that Pe-ru-na is one of the best medicines on the market. I have taken it every winter for the last four years. I first tried it, after a long, hard spell of la grippe. I am sure that I would of been in my grave now had I not used it. I have told many others the good it did me. Everybody said that I had consumption, and I knew that I would have it unless I got relief. Every fall for the last four years I take it as a preventive from cold. I believe that if people knew what a great preventive Pe-ru-na is they would have less trouble from that dreaded disease, la grippe. It never fails. I am well advanced in life, but I feel that I might live through many winters with the help of Pe-ru-na. I never forget to recommend it to young as well as old for all kinds of colds, coughs, catarrh, etc. I feel it my duty to give praise where it is due. I am and ever shall be grateful to the man who discovered Pe-ru-na." Pe-ru-na meets perfectly the conditions produced by the after-effects of la grippe.

Send for a free book written by Dr. Hartman, entitled "Winter Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

Officials of western railroads anticipate almost as great a movement to California, this year, as in 1897. The occasion is the annual meeting of the National Educational association at Los Angeles in July. Rates have not yet been fixed but they will probably be somewhere in the neighborhood of one fare for the round trip. In other words, the cost of a round trip ticket to Los Angeles from Nebraska will be about $52.00.
