Republican Judicial Convention.

The Republican electors of the 14th Judicial District of Nebraska are requested to send delegates from their respective counties to meet in convention in the city of McCook, Neb., on Wednesday the 27th day of September, 1899, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for the office of District Judge, and to transact such other business as may come before the convention.

The several counties comprising the district are entitled to representation as follows, the apportionment being based on the vote cast for Hon. M. L. Hayward for governor in 1898, giving each county one delegate at large and one for each 100 votes and major fraction thereof to-wit:

Table listing delegates by county: Chase, Dundy, Frontier, Furnas, Gosper, Hayes, Hitchcock, Red Willow.

It is recommended that no proxies be admitted, but that delegates present be authorized to cast the entire vote of the delegation of the county which they represent.

THE Republican state convention was held in the exposition auditorium, and delegates were admitted to the grounds free. It was different, perhaps, on the Midway.

THE Republican state convention in Omaha, yesterday, nominated the following ticket: For supreme judge, M. B. Reese of Lincoln; for regents of the university, E. G. McGilton of Omaha and Dr. William B. Ely of Ainsworth.

MICHAEL DAVITT goes into print with the opinion that, "Had Dreyfus been a poor man, his fate would excite no sympathy in London and New York." And Mike never went on record as a greater liar, at least so far as America is concerned. Few Americans have given Dreyfus' financial condition a passing consideration even; but all are actuated by a high sense of justice, simply.

THE Republicans of Red Willow county have now in the field a ticket composed of men who recommend themselves to the voters of this county. They are men competent for the positions for which they have been named. The ticket is clean, strong and able from top to bottom, and is in a position to command the full Republican vote of this county, and that means nothing short of assured success. The times are auspicious and propitious for Republican success, let no section, or faction or individual falter in loyal support to the ticket.

Festival of Mountain and Plain.

Denver, September 25-30. An exposition, a street fair, a horse show, the return from Manila of Colorado's volunteers, parades beyond number, a masquerade ball, and a grand state ball. This is a brief outline of the programme which the citizens of Denver have arranged for the amusement and entertainment of visitors during the week beginning September 25.

It will be Denver's fifth Festival of Mountain and Plain and it will be as far ahead of last year's celebration as it was ahead of that of 1897.

Appreciating the wide-spread interest in this unique celebration, the Burlington offers reduced rates to Denver from a wider territory than in the past. The round trip rate from McCook will be $8. Tickets will be on sale September 24 to 28 and will be good to return until October 2d. J. FRANCIS, General Passenger Agent, Omaha, Neb.

TOM MCCOY of the Palisade Press pulled THE TRIBUNE latch-string, show-day.

Conductor C. W. Bronson enjoyed a visit, yesterday, from his brother who was a fighting member of the late gallant First Nebraska. He has been named by the Republicans of Kearney county for sheriff, and will draw the salary thereto attached after the first of the year.

BARTLEY.

J. G. Ogg is now located in his new quarters in the Nash building.

E. J. McLaughlin is constructing a barn on his recently acquired real estate.

Anna Wheeler is slowly recovering from her recent attack of typhoid fever.

The infant child of E. J. McLaughlin and wife has been very sick, this week.

John Clouse is erecting a commodious residence on his lots just east of his present home.

Jim Sipe still wears his knee in a sling and is prepared to give pointers on trick bicycle riding.

F. L. Enlow, formerly B. & M. agent at this place, is temporarily located at LaFayette, Colorado.

Frank Moon has disposed of his corn crop to Ed Sughroue and will depart, next Tuesday, for Greenwood, his former home.

In addition to his stock of fresh fruits, our postmaster contemplates putting in a line of high grade confectionery in the near future.

"Deacon" Wilson ceased selling soup-bones long enough to take in the circus, Monday, and grew so hilarious over the antics of the clowns that he nearly lost his store teeth.

Monday being circus day and Wednesday children's day at the fair, school was dismissed for the two days. The show-day vacation will be made up on Saturday of this week.

Since Sam Clark's nomination for county clerk, his checks are more erubescant than ever and his smile would discourage a clown. Vote for him for he is just as capable as he is fat and good-natured.

Agent Hanson reports that 155 tickets were sold at this point to the county seat, show-day. Considering this and the number that drove, Bartley was nearly deserted. There has also been a large attendance at the county fair from this point, this week.

The members of the Christian church are making an effort to secure the services of Rev. Roberts, their former pastor, for the coming year. The health of the reverend gentleman and his family has been very poor since removing to Missouri, their present home.

Rev. Foutch, wife and Miss King returned, Tuesday evening, from Broken Bow, where they were attending conference. Mr. Foutch received the appointment to the Lexington circuit and will remove there the first of next week. E. E. Crippen of Axtell was given this charge and, with his family, is expected here about the middle of next week. While we regret the loss of our former pastor and family, here's a welcome to the new dominie.

There was no school in district 72, Monday, teacher and pupils attending Ringling's show.

Penny's threshing machine has been stationed at J. F. Helm's for some days. Of course it stopped for Ringling's.

Holton Longnecker, who is teaching school near Danbury, was at home for the show. Charles Byfield also had a holiday.

Jacob Longnecker is helping Wm. Byfield through the rush of preparation for winter. Wm. Taylor will also lend a hand in the same direction.

We are filled with curiosity to know the street and number of that citizen who aspires to save the county clerk labor. The population of the "station" is not dense, at present, but we are no good at guessing.

We hate to have our booming young city called a station. An infant generally lives up to the appellation of its childhood, and it is possible that if we keep on calling Redwillow a station it will never have the courthouse, or any branch railroads, or in any way rise above the name. It's just too bad!

Mrs. Byfield has a pair of ferrets on the road from New London, Ohio. If the little animals arrive in safety, there will be a rat-hunt on the Byfield place that will discount con hunting, coyote hunting and all other kinds of hunting. The ravages of rats on farms where much feeding is done are rather appalling.

There was a big coon hunt in this neighborhood, Saturday night. Twenty-five men and an unlimited number of dogs joined in the sport, and a dozen coons and a couple of skunks rewarded the hunters. The patience of the owners of the dogs was somewhat tried by the overflow of spirits which caused the older men to give vent to cries and shrieks of ecstasy distracting to dog nerves. The young fellows, we were told, were better able to curb their excitement. Mr. Hyatt tried to secure a live coon, but the coon secured him, in its teeth, and he made a speedy end of it. To the lovers of this sport even Ringling's greatest proves tame pleasure.

THE TRIBUNE and The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer for $1.50 a year, strictly in advance.

INDIANOLA.

I. M. Beardslee, G. C. Hill and W. H. Wadsworth had business in the west-end town, Tuesday.

D. J. Fitzgerald communed with the Tammany chiefs in the county seat, Sunday evening, going on to Lincoln on No. 6.

Clark McClung went up to the metropolis, Saturday, to hear the band concert and wait for the elephants to arrive.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Keyes were McCook visitors, Ringling-day, the guests of Agent and Mrs. A. P. Thomson of the metropolis.

The Republican county convention is a thing of the past. The ticket named is generally regarded as a good one, and while there is some disappointment at the result—there always is—there is quite general satisfaction, and it is believed that the ticket will receive a strong support from the Republicans of this section of the county.

Bert Crabtree, who returned with the First Nebraska from San Francisco, died in the hospital in Omaha, Tuesday, following an operation to relieve him of distress from liver trouble. The remains arrived here, Wednesday evening, and the funeral occurred on Thursday morning, interment being made in the cemetery just northwest of the city. The deceased was a member of the First Oregon regiment, which did duty in the Philippines, and it was there he contracted the disease which ended his young life. The bereaved family has the sympathy of all in this affliction.

REDWILLOW.

There was no school in district 72, Monday, teacher and pupils attending Ringling's show.

SOUTH SIDE.

The haying season is almost over. Everybody went to McCook, show-day.

Mrs. Fitch was the guest of Mrs. Matthew Johnston, Tuesday of this week.

Regular meeting of the South Side Endeavor society at 3 p. m., next Sunday. All are cordially invited.

Sheriff Neel and Wm. Fisher passed through here very hurriedly, Tuesday, for the purpose of arresting a young man by the name of Joseph Dawson, who has been working for Clint Kelley.

Linford and Frank Fitch each had an overcoat stolen, last Sunday evening, while attending the concert in the Methodist church, McCook. Several South Siders attended the concert and all agree that it was good.

Fred, William and Earl Stone were down from Frontier county, fore part of the week. Mrs. John Stone came down with the boys and after a short visit in South Side started for her old home in Vermont, where she will spend some weeks visiting.

There was considerable stealing done in this neighborhood, early in the week. Mrs. John Whittaker had her buggy cushion and lap-robe stolen and B. C. Bowman lost part of a suit of clothes, besides some money and a note for $300. He will not lose the note, however.
