Neville's majority..... THE bachelor governor-elect of Nebraska might hear something to his advantage by addressing the late bachelor governor-elect of Kentucky. - Denver

Moses P. Kinkaid, Rep......17,280

THE disaster that overtook the Nebraska foot-ball team, Thanksgiving day, at the hands of the Minnesota giants, may be summed up in the tragic score-21 to 12. The Grophers made a heroic fight; but the Millers were too heavy, averaging 15 pounds per man more than the Nebraskans.

THE publisher of the Wilsonville Re view threatens to secure "outside work for five days out of the week" if the merchants of that burg don't "shell out" more liberally of advertisements and job-printing. If all Nebraska publishers should put such a threat into practice for the same reason, the sections would be crowded with 'em.

THE TRIBUNE has been alternately amused and moved to expletives with the veriest tommy-rot going the rounds of the press apropos of the recent burning at the stake of a negro rapist and murderer in the state of Colorado. THE TRIBUNE is not notably blood-thirsty, and stands for law, every time; but the dastardly act of rape blackened by the fiendish crime of hellish murder places the author outside of the pale of law; and the manner of the removal of such last night. Engineer Charles Lundberg a beast from the fair face of the crime- of No. 3 received a slight scalp wound stained earth is but a detail. And the and a passenger named King was slightsupersensitive ninnies may well subside, ly injured. and let the matter rest. Every virtuous such an inhuman brute.

The Chicken Show.

Attention should now be centered on the chicken show to be given in our city, next week, commencing Wednesday, December 5th, and closing on Saturday, December 8th. This exhibition by the Republican Valley District Poultry association should be the best in the history of the association. The poultry industry is one of increasing importance and profit to the people of South-Western Nebraska, and next week should be given over to the chicken-fanciers. THE TRIBUNE hopes the show may be liberally patronized, and that the association and industry may receive every proper lington machine-shops at McCook, has encouragement.

The Usual Celebration.

McCook observed the day in customary style: Union religious services in the Methodist church in the morning; turkey at noon; shooting tournaments in the afternoon; with partial suspension of business during the day. It was a day of ideal weather, and withal a day calculated to compel gratitude from the most thankless heart.

"An old maid says, "A kiss is something made of nothing and the Lord knows it's good."

A Japanese Dinner.

He who does not like the way the Japanese cook fish must be hard to please. They are better fish cooks than the French. The Japanese waters are very prolific, and the natives seem to have learned in cooking to preserve the inherent flavor of the John S. King, an inmate at the asylum fish, while their sauces are very simfor the insane, was struck and killed, ple. And as for eels, as they are cookthis morning, by the Missouri Pacific ed at the kandagawa, a teahouse in east-bound passenger. King, who was Tokyo, he who has tasted them has established a standard in his mind by which to judge other eels.

Seaweed we had, too, thin as paper, and crisp. It is the weed of the sea that is left on the rocks and scraped from them by the fisher women with shells and then dried in the sun. It is eaten as a relish and has a delicate flavor, suggesting cinnamon.

Rice we had in abundance. It was served from a bucket (not unlike ours, but not quite so deep) of unpainted white pine, with a little wooden shovel in playing at the seashore. Our rice bowls were filled again and yet again, and when we covered our bowls it meant we had finished dinner. I have seen the Japanese look with indifference at a fish cooked in a way that made my mouth fairly water with desire, but when they are served with rice it receives their immediate attention .- Harper's Magazine.

Napoleon Was a Dandy.

It is pleasant to learn, if one has Napoleon I on the hero list, that he had very dainty habits in personal mathis person, according to an article in a French contemporary, and poured eau de cologne into the water he washed in, then sponged his head with perfume and finally poured the remainder of the contents of the flask over the neck and shoulders. He was also extravagantly fond of clean linen and during his campaigns had relays of it sent to different places. In those days ed things" laundered, for, in account with a famous laundress in Paris, the emperor's "linen" for one "wash" amounted to 386 pieces and cost only a trifle over $20.

This strikes an American as very reasonable. But his majesty never wore any article but once, and as he always undressed himself without aid from his valet his garments were literally "cast" to the four corners of the room. Napoleon's bill for eau de cologne, however, exceeded the washerwoman's by a large majority. It is a relief to learn that the Little Corporal was so much a dude. Some of his predecessors in the Tuileries were not blessed with such excellent habits, if history is to be relied upon.
