PUBLIC SCHOOL ITEMS.

Monday morning, "Old Glory" was again unfurled to the breeze over the several school houses in the city and the bell in the east ward building cheerily announced the opening of the fall term 1901 of McCook's public schools.

In the high school Monday was devoted to organizing, classifying, distributing books and supplies, assigning lessons, etc., and on Tuesday morning the regular routine work was taken up. In the several grades, the preparatory work occupied the morning period and the regular programme was begun in the afternoon.

Some little confusion was incident to the changing of pupils from one building to another, but on Tuesday morning in all grades the regular work was well in hand and progressing nicely.

About 100 new pupils entered the preparatory grade, this week.

The black-boards in the office have been removed to one of the rooms in the new frame building.

The total number of "outside" pupils, opening day, was 22; this exceeds that of last year, when the opening attendance was 18.

One room in the new frame building is unoccupied and one in use unprovided with black-boards—a condition shortly to be remedied.

The boiler at the east ward building has been given a new set of flues and incidentally a new brick jacket. The new frame building will be heated from this plant. The steam connections are all in and the radiators only are lacking.

The new frame building will no doubt fill a long-felt-want. The rooms are fair-sized, well-lighted and comfortable, being a little pinched, however, for cloak room, but with a vast improvement over the old system of disconnected rooms.

The superintendent's office and assembly room in the east building, three rooms in the west building and the South McCook building have been repapered, which places every school-room in the system in clean and attractive condition.

The entire system seems to be well organized and equipped as to teachers, supplies, apparatus etc. and definite work laid out for each of the grades and THE TRIBUNE expects good work from Sup't Thomas, his well-selected corps of teachers, and satisfactory results from the pupils.

The old laboratory in the basement has been refitted and is now used as a recitation-room as well. Black-boards, seats etc. have been provided, the ceiling has been deadened and ceiled, and the result is a commodious recitation-room. A new case has also been provided for laboratory apparatus, and the stock-room adjacent has undergone some improvements as well.

The opening-day attendance in the several grades was:

DANPURY.

The snake show pulled stakes for Indianola, Tuesday morning.

Commissioner Waterman of Lebanon was in town, Wednesday, looking up bridge matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Danford were visiting friends around Danford, Saturday, and remained over Sunday.

Mrs. Wm Kendall left, Saturday, for New York state for a short visit with old acquaintances.

Miss Myrtle Cochran has purchased a new piano and is now giving lessons to a number of pupils.

C. C. Monroe left, Saturday, for Elmira, Ohio, on a vacation trip; he expects to be gone about thirty days.

Mrs. Headley, our assistant teacher, who has been ill for the past week, is able to be around again. Miss Pearl Hayes has taught in her place during her illness.

The Sappy creek on the south of us is reported as being four feet higher than ever known before. All bridges are reported as being swept away from Oberlin to S. A. Fish's place some eight miles east.

Simeon Billings, transacting business in the city of McCook, Saturday, was another one of the victims that was caught on the other side, Saturday evening. Partly swimming and wading his team he managed to cross the creek at Morgan's, Monday forenoon.

Guy Curlee of Bartley made an extra effort to reach Danbury, Saturday evening before the rain, but being a little behind time when he reached this valley, the whole valley was afloat and admission to the other side was impossible, he therefore made up his mind to return whence he came, which he did through all the storm and rain, and on returning home he found that water dwelt upon the valleys of the Republican as well. The last we heard of him he was all covered with mud, team and buggy, and waiting on the shores of the Republican valley, thinking.

One of the heaviest rain storms ever known in the Beaver Valley fell, Saturday evening and Sunday morning, between the hours of nine and four. About nine Saturday evening it began and continued for an hour or more raining about an inch or so then calmed down for a short time and later about one o'clock the rain began to fall in torrents and continued till about four that morning. Many never thought of such a hard rain falling on account of there being no wind with it and thinking that it was one of those gentle northeast rains did not stir around to get up and see what was going on. However, when on arising in the morning those in the valley found that the water was up in their door yards, and their barn yards were afloat, haystacks, fences, hogs and pigs had taken leave of absence and were floating down the creek. The stream was from a mile to a mile and a half wide and fences, haystacks, bridges and anything that was loose were easily swung round or carried off. It is reported that a number of culvert bridges from the northwest for a distance of five miles were washed to the creek valley near B. B. Smiley's place. Farmers are having quite a time locating what belongs to them in the way of fences, posts, etc. Most everyone along the valley from the west as far east as Lebanon, lost more or less hogs and pigs, and most of the alfalfa seed was cut and being bunched on the meadows when the water came and drifted it away clean from the fields piling it up in great drifts along trees mixed with trash so that it will be impossible to save but very little of it if any. The alfalfa hay in the stack will be more or less injured in the bottom of the stacks as the water in many places was from three to six feet up around them. H. W. Naden had two fair sized stacks of alfalfa in the draw west of his house and these were carried a distance of a quarter of a mile and set down as nicely as if they had been moved there. There is only one bridge at present that is passable for those living on the north side of the creek is the one at George Morgan's place and those living west are compelled to go around by his place to get to town. The water has remained high all this week since Sunday on account of the heavy rains farther up the valley. It is reported that eleven wash-outs have occurred between this place and Atwood, Kans., and the trains have been unable to get any farther west than that place until today they reached Herndon, Kans. The rails in many places near Traer were washed off from the dump and twisted up in general and the construction train is now at work building up a new track with ties and it is thought the road will be opened again by the first of the week. The water fallen during this time is variously estimated. Some think it rained fifteen feet where they had nothing to measure it in, but as near as we can learn from those having the best measurements it rained here about eight inches, on west farther about nine inches.
