BOX ELDER.

Bain Kinzer has returned home. A party is the next thing on the program. No preaching at Box Elder, last Sunday. A great many of the farmers are sowing a large acreage of small grain. D. P. Brewer, our nobby, expects to soon leave for the east per wagon. Jesse Younker's hand is doing nicely, considering the ugly way in which it was mangled. Rev. C. W. Satchell and wife are attending annual conference at North Platte. The weather is suggestive of approaching winter, mornings and evenings especially. Mrs. Henry Winans is back in old Nebraska again. She seems to think there is no place like the west. Bertha Wolfe entertained the "Lonesomes" last Sunday, to their great enjoyment, playing croquet in the rain.

Winter Reading on the Farm.

Long evenings are here again and naturally one thinks of a good family agricultural weekly because its regular visits are welcomed by the whole household. The Twentieth Century Farmer is out of the rut in which most agricultural papers travel. This is true particularly of the splendid illustrations and special articles by the best known and most practical men in every branch of agriculture, such as J. H. Harris, secretary of the Iowa Seed Corn Breeders' Association; H. W. Campbell, the authority on soil culture; James Atkins, the authority on farm management at Ames, Iowa; Frank G. Carpenter, famous for his letters of travel; C. R. Thomas, secretary American Herdford Breeders' Association; Dr. A. Peters, Nebraska experiment station; E. Stephens, president Nebraska Horticultural society; Woman's Department, conducted by Mrs. Nellie Hawkins, Erie, Nebraska; and Edgerton of the Iowa Experiment Station will answer all questions relating to live stock management.

This is a weekly agricultural family paper, in which the farmer's wife is particularly interested on account of the pages devoted to her particular interests. In fact there is no paper published either in the east or west that meets so well the wants of the western farmers and stock raisers and their families. If you do not get it send 10 cents for a ten weeks' trial subscription to The Twentieth Century Farmer, 2351 Farmington Street, Omaha, Neb., and you will have an opportunity to become acquainted with it. A dollar will bring it for a whole year.

Let Us Figure On Your Lumber Bills.

If you are going to build a house, or a barn, or a granary; or if you are only going to make a few needed repairs about the place, let us tell you the cost of the lumber.
If we fail to show you an advantage in buying from us you will be nothing out. If we can save you some money you will be just that much ahead.
If you take the trouble to look around a bit, you will probably be better able to appreciate our meaning, when we say that we have the most complete assortment to select from, and that our prices are the lowest when quality is considered.
