A Pueblo Indian Book.

The Santa Fe has in preparation a book on the Indians along its lines. The material is being gathered and arranged by an expert ethnologist, and although the primary object of the publication is to advertise the wonders and interesting features of the Southwest the book is expected to have a definite scientific value and great care is being given to the accuracy of the subject-matter and illustrations.

Advice, like castor oil, is easy enough to give, but most dreadfully uneasy to take.

until illness came upon me three years ago. I first noticed it by being irregular and having very painful and scanty menstruation; gradually my general health failed; I could not enjoy my meals; I became languid and nervous, with gripping pains frequently in the groin.

"I advised with our family physician who prescribed without any improvement. One day he said, 'Try Lydia Pinkham's Remedies.' I did, thank God; the next month I was better, and it gradually built me up until in four months I was cured. This is nearly a year ago and I have not had a pain or ache since."—MISS BONNIE DELANO, 3248 Indiana Ave., Chicago, Ill.—$5000 forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.

FOUND AMERICANS BUYING LAND AT SASKATCHEWAN, WESTERN CANADA.

A Michigan Farmer Visits Saskatoon and Is Well Pleas'd.

Mr. S. K. Lent was a delegate sent from the farmers of Allegan County, Michigan, to Western Canada, to report on the prospects for successful settlement. His report is as follows: I went from Winnipeg to Edmonton, thence east one hundred miles by wagon. I found the country in that vicinity a rich, black loam, varying from 12 inches to 3 feet deep; the crops are simply something enormous; wheat and oats by actual measurement often standing five feet in height. I have been a farmer for forty years, and consider myself a fair judge of the yield of grain, and I saw wheat that would yield 50 bushels per acre, and oats that would yield 100 bushels per acre; not one alone, but a good many. As for root crops and garden truck, in no country have I ever seen their equal for all kinds except corn and tomatoes; the nights being too cool for these to ripen well. As a stock country it has no equal. East of Edmonton, on the head waters of the Vermillion River, I saw hay meadows containing from 10 to 100 acres, the grass standing 4 feet high, and would often cut 3 to 4 tons to the acre. From Edmonton I passed through some fine locations, namely, Weta-skiwin, Lacombe and other points.

From McLeod I went to Regina, thence to Prince Albert, 247 miles north of the main line. For the first fifty miles is fine farming country, but the next hundred miles is more of a stock country. Then at Saskatoon, Rosthern and Duck Lake I found some very fine farming country, so good that I found a party of Americans from Minnesota buying land for themselves—one party buying 12 sections, and the other 20 sections of land for themselves, which they proposed to improve at once.

I have traveled over twenty-three different States and Territories in our Union, and never in my life time have I ever seen such magnificent crops and especially as fine a stock country.

The river supplies a mouth for the face of nature.

IRONING A SHIRT WAIST.

Not infrequently a young woman finds it necessary to launder a shirt waist at home for some emergency when the laundryman or the home servant cannot do it. Hence these directions for ironing the waist: To iron summer shirt waists so that they will look like new it is useful to have them starched evenly with DeLance starch, then made perfectly smooth and rolled tight in a damp cloth, to be laid away two or three hours. When ironing have a bowl of water and a clean piece of muslin beside the ironing board. Have your iron hot, but not sufficiently so to scorch, and absolutely clean. Begin by ironing the back, then the front, sides and the sleeves, followed by the neckband and the cuffs. When wrinkles appear apply the damp cloth and remove them. Always iron from the top of the waist to the bottom. If there are plaits in the front iron them downward, after first raising each one with a blunt knife, and with the edge of the iron follow every line of stitching to give it distinctness. After the shirt waist is ironed it should be well aired by the fire or in the sun before it is folded and put away, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

OF THE "LOST CAUSE"

HISTORICAL RELICS IN THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

Battle Flags That Waved on Every Sternly Contested Field During That Colossal Struggle, with Their Tender Memories, Are Sacredly Kept.

In Memorial Hall in New Orleans is a wonderful collection of relics of the "Lost Cause." There is the flag of Hilliard's Alabama legion, which was pressed eighty-three times in the charge up Snodgrass hill at the battle of Chickamauga, which had hundreds of men killed under it, which had three color-bearers killed while waving it on high, and which was at last planted where they wanted to plant it, while the command having lost half of its strength under the orders of a first lieutenant assembled under its bullet-torn folds and gave a cheer—weak and feeble though the men were—of defiance and resolution.

And there is the tiny rocking chair, upholstered in velvet with lilies, a worn mahogany chair, used by Miss Winnie Davis when she was a child. The flag of the 25th Louisiana regiment, army of Tennessee, faded, razed, worn, drooping from the weight of years—the flag which Lieut. Estelle wrapped around his body the night before the surrender in order that it might be brought safe to the golden hearts and the tender hands of the women of New Orleans who made it—hangs here.

Forty-eight per cent of the 4th Louisiana regiment was killed at Chickamauga. They went in under command of a colonel and came out under command of a second lieutenant. Flags of the 12th Louisiana, Dreaux battalion from New Orleans, Black Jaegers of the 23d Louisiana, a piece of the 10th Louisiana, 15th Louisiana, Rosalie Guards from West Feliciana, Cowan's battery, St. Mary Cannoneers, Legardeur's battery, guidon guards of New Orleans, lancehead and flag of 2d Louisiana cavalry, 20th Louisiana, 30th Louisiana captured by the 46th Ohio, and restored in September, 1901, flag used by merchants in the confederate service, Washington artillery, 16th Missouri, all these are draped over their staffs in the main hall.

Hardee's corps flag, a rare one, with the names Murfreesboro, Perryville, Farmington and Shiloh inscribed around the name of the corps in a circle, occupies a conspicuous place near the platform.

All these tell their story of courage. The bullet holes are eloquent of suffering, of privation, of long, weary marches and of supreme patriotism. The flag of Gens. Beauregard and Johnston, made from the silk skirts of the Misses Cary of Richmond and presented to the generals after the first battle of Manassas, flies here. A small piece of the flag which floated from the dome of the confederate capitol at Richmond during the seven days' battle when Lee's little army held the city safe against overwhelming odds, the flag which the soldiers fought for at Marvo's Heights, at Cold Harbor, at Gaines' Mill and in the wilderness, is sacredly kept.

And there are fragments of the standard of the 18th Louisiana which the men tore up the night before the surrender. They had marched under it, starved for it for four years; it was theirs and they would not give it up. There are cannon balls from nearly a hundred battlefields, minnie balls, stray bullets, pieces of muskets, a fragment of the flagstaff of Fort Sumter, a fragment of the flag of the Crescent City regiment, which was divided among the men the night before the surrender of Natchitoches. Every conceivable kind of relic from the great columbiad to a bird shot, all these have, and there is a story to each.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

TRAINING FOR WOMEN.

College to Enable Scholars to Acquire an Independent Living.

The proposed establishment of a great technical college for women in Boston, for which a bequest of $2,500,000 is available, will be a new development of higher education for women. The specific purpose of the college will be to teach "medicine, designing, telegraphy and other branches of art, science and industry best calculated to enable the scholars to acquire an independent livelihood." It is, of course, no new thing for women to acquire a technical training along the lines indicated; but they have often been obliged to acquire it in a haphazard way, without the advantage of competent teachers and adequate equipment, and then they have been expected to compete successfully with young men in the same callings graduated from great technical schools. The industrial side of education for women is well to the fore just now. The woman's auxiliary of the Kansas City Manufacturers' Association is planning a great industrial school, with many novel features, for dependent women, so that they may become self-supporting, and some Toronto women are about to establish a school of domestic science in Winnipeg.—New York Tribune.

Walking as an Exercise.

It is a mistake to begin by taking tremendous walks unless accustomed to much walking. The best way is to commence with very moderate exercise, say walking two miles a day, or even less, and increasing the distance gradually.

The Minnesota board of control recently bought two tons of chewing tobacco for the inmates of the state institutions.

Starches Crack Clothes.

There is nothing so annoying to women as the breaking of ironed goods after coming from the laundry. The blame is often laid to the ironer, whereas the fault is in the starch. The use of DeLance starch is an alternative. It gives a soft glossy finish and looks like new. Sells for less, goes farther, 16 ounces for 10 cents. Ask your grocer for it. Made only by Magnetic Starch Co., Omaha, Neb.

It is from the remembrance of joys we have lost that the arrows of affliction are pointed.

Began as a Potbook Expert.

Samuel R. Callaway, president of the American Locomotive company, was more than thirty years ago at the head of the shorthand writers of this continent. He kept up his practice and today could take a trick at an important assignment with the best of stenographers. He won his spurs at the clerical work in the office of the Grand Trunk railway of Canada, and his skill at potbooks and hangers had much to do with his subsequent advancement.

The Oil King's Private Wire.

John D. Rockefeller occasionally uses the long distance telephone when away from his New York office, but for important business. For such purposes he never uses the mails. There is a private wire from the office to his mansion at Forest Hill, O., and the Standard Oil millionaire when at the latter point transacts business just as though he were in New York. He never writes a message, but talks to a trusted and reliable operator.

A BLESSING TO HOUSEWIVES.

An Omaha Product That is Fast Winning Public Favor.

Without making any undue clamor about it or seeking the aid of capitalists or the Commercial club, the manufacturers of DeLance Starch started in business in Omaha a little over a year ago, and from every indication they have already achieved triumphant success. The local patrons, who were induced to try it by reason of its being purely a home industry and enterprise, have discovered an article manufactured right here in their midst superior to any starch ever before used by them.

There are, however, excellent reasons retailers and jobbers are giving preference to the product of this company aside from any consideration of the home patronage idea. "DeLance Starch" is unequalled for excellence and is fast supplanting other starches among careful housewives throughout the territory west of Chicago.

It is true that the progressive and energetic management of the company is doing some strenuous and effective work in acquainting the public with the superior quality by expending from $5,000 to $6,000 per month in advertising, but, after all, "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," and it is from the excellent results obtained by those who have been induced to use it on trial that this splendid Omaha production obtains its widest and most profitable publicity. It has taken so well from the start that the factory is being taxed to meet the demand, while the company keeps twenty-five salesmen on the road and is shipping its goods to every state and territory west of Chicago.

"DeLance Starch" is pronounced to be not only the best starch on the market, but the least expensive to the consumer. It is a cold water starch and needs no cooking. Yet for that class of goods where boiled starch is required, this same "DeLance Starch" excels the old-fashioned gloss or lump starch. It gives a better finish, works easier, goes further, therefore costs less. Not only this, the lump starch will blow out and freeze out, which is not the case with "DeLance Starch."

The ingredients are such that no chemicals, the presence of which in many other starch compounds has proven injurious to linens, are required in its manufacture. It contains nothing that can in the slightest degree injure the most delicate fabric, which must commend it highly to those who have had their garments ruined by the use of other starches. "DeLance Starch" contains ingredients that remedy all the objectionable features of other starches. It will not blister, nor does it break the fabric. It does not stick to the iron during the process of ironing and does not stamp unsightly streaks upon colored goods. It gives a beautiful, stiff and durable finish to fabrics and makes them look new.

Possessing so many points of superiority over rival preparations, and avoiding so many of the latter's faults, it is somewhat surprising to note that one can secure for the same amount of money one-third more of the Omaha-made article than of any other. Heretofore starch consumers have been paying ten cents for a twelve-ounce package of starch. A package of "DeLance Starch" weighs sixteen ounces and costs no more. Its manufacturers offer no chomros nor premiums to encourage its sale, but they do offer a better starch than any other, and one-third more of it.

Having utilized every medium of excellence which modern ingenuity has devised in the preparation of its product, this Starch Manufacturing Company offered their "DeLance Starch" with the most firm conviction that it would give perfect satisfaction, and the results of a year's work have proven that they made no mistake. Many a miserable commodity is sold by the use of premiums, but "DeLance Starch" stands on its own merits. Its makers guarantee all consumers that dealers are authorized to take back any starch that a customer claims to find unsatisfactory in any way.—Omaha Examiner, November 23.

Farmer Walaum's Find.

John Walaum, a farmer in La Crosse, Wis., found in a bag of wheat a sack of gold, notes and securities, placed there by his father, who died over two years ago. Ever since the death of his father, Mr. Walaum has been looking for money which he was convinced his father had concealed somewhere on the farm. While measuring wheat preparatory to taking it to market, the son found the sack of money and securities, the value of which runs over $2,000.

Speed Limit for Autos.

The new state law of Connecticut regarding automobile traffic went into effect August 1. Its provisions include a speed limit of twelve miles within cities and fifteen miles elsewhere, compulsory speed reduction at crossings and complete stops when horses hitched to vehicles show signs of fright. It deprives cities, towns and boroughs of all rights to regulate automobile traffic, going much further in this respect than the New York law.

The Leafless "Wonder-Wonder"

One of the strangest botanical curiosities in the world is the "Wonder-Wonder" flower found in the Malay peninsula. It is simply a blossom, without leaves, vine or stem, and grows as a parasite on a decayed wood.

An Important Discovery.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—A sensational statement is made by Mr. Benjamin Major, whose home is at the corner of Jane and Hurbit Ave., this city.

Mr. Major says that he has found a remedy which will positively cure all Kidney and Bladder troubles. He suffered himself for a long time with these diseases in the most painful form, and during his illness experimented with a great many medicines without getting any relief. Finally he tried Doad's Kidney Pills, and to his great joy was cured completely.

The statement he makes seems to have ample confirmation in reports being published every day of wonderful cures by this remedy.

In the years 1879-1899 the total number of duels recorded in Italy was 3,914.

INSIST ON GETTING IT.

Some grocers say they don't keep DeLance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz. in a package, which they won't be able to sell first, because DeLance contains 16 oz. for the same money. Do you want 16 oz. instead of 12 oz. for same money? Then buy DeLance Starch. Requires no cooking.
