

The McCook Tribune.

TWENTIETH YEAR

McCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 28, 1902.

NUMBER 46

Running Under Full Steam.

After being closed down for two or three months for repairs, a thorough overhauling and extensive improvements, the McCook Roller Mill is now running under full steam again, everything moving along as smoothly as can be desired, turning out the popular and in-demand product of that well-known milling plant at an increased capacity of one hundred barrels per day when the demand is pressing.

One of the principal improvements made to this excellent milling plant is the new, strictly up-to-date Columbus bolter, one of the latest and most approved machines in the milling world. This bolter, separator and grader combined makes sixty-six separations from first to last of the grain and is a marvel of excellence and thoroughness in its every operation. It has not only increased the capacity of the mill, but has improved the quality of its output—and the many patrons of the mill will appreciate what it means to improve the quality of such excellent brands of flour as 91, Pride of McCook, Anchor and so forth. But it has been accomplished.

We shall not attempt to record in detail the work performed but suffice to say that the old machinery rejected and the new machinery installed, the numerous changes, improvements, the thorough renovation, the cleansing, painting and the net results of all these weeks of hard work has placed the McCook Roller Mill in apple-pie order to continue its triumphant career as one of Nebraska's leading mills, as one of the business establishments of which McCook is justly proud.

Many Attend the Reception.

The reception tendered the new pastor and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Dean, by the ladies of the Dorcas society, in the Congregational church Friday evening last, was a charming social affair at which the guests crowded the church. Scores took advantage of the formal opportunity of meeting the new pastor and wife, who moved here a few weeks since from Red Cloud.

A most enjoyable mixed program followed the formal reception, the program consisting of a piano solo by Luella Thompson, a recitation by Mrs. W. W. Archibald, a song by little Marjory Schobel, a quartette by Misses Blanche McCarl, Nellie West, Ida McCarl and Olive M. Howe, a recitation by Mrs. J. A. Gunn, a song by little Velma Sutton, piano solo by Miss Olive M. Howe, vocal solo by Mr. Knud Stangland, a chorus by Mrs. P. F. McKenna, Mrs. Peter Foxen, Misses Blanche McCarl, Nellie West, Ethel Oyster and Ida McCarl, Messrs. S. B. McLean, F. M. Kimmell, J. G. Schobel and L. R. McCarl, Miss Howe, accompanist; a recitation by Mrs. F. W. Bosworth, vocal solo by F. M. Kimmell. This feature was meritorious and well received.

Light refreshments were served by the ladies in the church parlor after the completion of the program. The adlibbers were of the usual dainty sort and were tastefully served.

The attractive interior of the church was heightened by pretty and artistic effects in cut and potted flowers, appropriate items of furniture, flags etc.

Their Wedding Anniversary.

Conductor and Mrs. C. E. Pope celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary, Tuesday evening, with happiest particulars and with most auspicious circumstances. It was a 6:30 dinner and there were present about forty guests from among their neighbors and numerous friends. The bride and groom's table was spread in the dining room and seated twelve. The decorations of table and room were in scarlet and green—red carnations and ferns. Five small tables were arranged in other rooms of the home to accommodate the rest of the guests. These tables were decorated in pink and white carnations. An elegant four-course dinner was served. Mesdames U. J. Warren, James Hatfield, Margaret Oyster, F. W. Bosworth and Miss Stella Norval assisted.

Cards, crokinole and music were among the entertainment features of the evening.

A number of very pretty gifts were bestowed, and all in all it was a most happy and memorable event in the lives of conductor and Mrs. Pope.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hall of Holdrege were among the guests.

A Glorious Fall of Rain.

Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday evening this section of Nebraska was visited by a steady, soaking fall of rain, which has been a great benefit to the small grain crop. The Burlington water-gauge at this station measured a strong inch and a quarter of rain. As the moisture fell slowly, every drop was conserved that fell on ploughed ground. It makes the opening outlook for small grain very encouraging.

A Sure Winner.

The man who saves on his present salary. Are you saving? Have you saved anything the past year? If you have not, commence now by taking five or ten shares of stock in the McCook Building Association, which will be secured by gilt edged loans on McCook real estate.

Death After Much Suffering.

Mrs. E. A. Dodge passed away, last Saturday, after a long illness, on a farm southwest of the city a few miles. Funeral services were conducted at the farm by Rev. J. E. Tirrill, Sunday, after which the remains were brought to McCook and interred in Riverview cemetery. The husband and son have the deep sympathy of many neighbors and friends in their sorrow.

[LIVA JANK PTLERY was born near Centerville, Genesee county, New York, May 14th, and died near McCook, Nebraska, March 22d, 1902. Was united in marriage with E. A. Dodge, who with two children still survive her—Myrtle Hartman of Elcelesior Springs, Arkansas, and Bert Dodge, who lives on the farm with his father. The mother has gone to join another daughter gone on before. The deceased came to Red Willow county in October, 1899, and since November, 1900, has been a constant sufferer with the acute agonies of a malignant cancer.]

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to thank my many friends and neighbors for their kind and thoughtful help and sympathy during my wife's long and severe sickness and also at the time of her death. May God bless each one of you, is my wish. E. A. Dodge.

Second Annual Wall Paper Exhibit.

Monday and Tuesday of this week Messrs. McConnell & Berry made their second annual exhibit of wall paper, using the spacious Menard hall for that purpose. It was a very gratifying success, hundreds being astonished and delighted with the exhibit made of their superb stock of the latest styles of wall paper. At a cost of much labor and money samples in combination of side-wall, border and ceiling, by the hundreds, were tastefully and conveniently displayed from racks built on the floor of the hall and from the walls of the hall; in addition papers for different purposes, papers of similar styles, prices and so forth were arranged in sections. The display embraced a wide range of styles and prices, though only such papers as are carried in stock were exhibited.

Messrs. McConnell & Berry are to be congratulated upon the fact that their enterprise in this instance has been so fully appreciated by the people of McCook and vicinity, who have thus been afforded an unusual opportunity of seeing under most favorable circumstances the latest product of the wall paper manufacturers in most attractive and numerous array.

Each visitor was given a carnation as a souvenir of the opening.

The Good Old Game.

"McCook has organized for base ball, this season. McCook always did play ball, and as long as George Berry, Pat Walsh, John Bennett and other ancients with one foot in the grave have a voice to holler with, McCook will always play ball. Here's hoping for a good, swift team."

The above from the Hastings Democrat reminds the writer of at least one instance when a "dead" man was of more importance than a "live" one. It was one fateful Fourth of July in the latter 80s and Stratton was the scene of the tragedy and victory. McCook was playing Stratton and was being thoroughly pounded into the sandy soil of that community. Something "heroic" had to be done—Charlie Wahlgquist fainted dead away, overcome by the heat. A cracker-jack substituted for him and McCook won out easily. Charlie had both feet in the grave and won.

John G. Woolley in Boston.

For phrases that arrest the attention and challenge the memory the speech of Mr. John G. Woolley against the saloon delivered before the Endeavorers, yesterday, is quite noteworthy. He characterized Croker and Platt as "twins of the zodiac of New York dirt." He spoke of the necessity of "overcoming the sag of dirty politics by our Christian Endeavor policy in this country," and stated that he would call "wrong wrong in New York City, hell or Norway."—The Boston Transcript.

Farwell to Mrs. Warren.

The meeting of the Entre Nous club, Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. W. Bosworth, took the rather lachrymose form of a farewell for Mrs. U. J. Warren, who joined her husband in Fort Morgan, Colorado, Thursday afternoon. As a slight token of esteem the ladies presented the departing member with a set of solid silver teaspoons, besides Mrs. Warren carried with her the love and well-wishes of all for her happiness in the new home.

The New Hats Are Fetching.

Among the absorbing local events since our last issue were the millinery openings—those choicest delights to the feminine heart and chiefest of terrors to the masculine purse. The openings were accorded the usual large and pleased audiences—they are irresistibly fetching. The styles, this year, are pronounced uncommonly pretty and stylish and the local exhibits, this year, are handsome and comprehensive. Mrs. Delhanty greeted her friends on last Saturday and Miss Lowman on Monday. Both openings were gratifyingly successful.
