CULBERTSON.

L. H. Lawton of Palisade was in town, Wednesday.

C. P. Hubbard returned to Atlanta, Iowa, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Taylor spent Sunday in Benkelman.

Tom Franklin took a load of hogs to Denver, Wednesday.

M. O. Reynolds was a McCook visitor, between trains Friday.

T. E. Ashby of Stratton was in town between trains, Tuesday.

C. L. Smith of Trenton witnessed the ball game here, Saturday.

F. A. Smith went up to Wauneta, Monday morning, on business.

Miss Marriett Wimple went up to Stratton, Wednesday evening.

Miss Isa Shoemaker was a McCook visitor between trains, Tuesday.

Jim Ferrier came down from Champion, Saturday, and remained over Sunday.

Channing Benedict was in town shaking hands with old acquaintances, Saturday.

Mrs. G. G. Eisenhart and daughter Florence drove to McCook, Tuesday morning.

Season tickets will be on sale at the drug-store, the first of the week, for $1.00 each.

Quite a number from here attended the commencement exercises at Trenton, Friday night.

A pleasant surprise party was given Miss Toola Gaardar by her young friends, Friday night.

C. Wacker, Culbertson's progressive German merchant, sold his farm north of town to Iowa parties, this week.

Miss Nellie Israel, who has been visiting C. G. Greves and family, returned to her home in Benkelman, Saturday night.

Bruce Vastine oiled the wood work and floors in the school-house, last week, and it is quite improved in appearance.

Miss Florence Eisenhart and brother Eugene went up to Max, Wednesday evening, for a few days visit with Miss Helen Hogue and Wayne Primmer.

Harry Lehman, while riding a cultivator, Friday evening, met with an accident in which he severely cut his foot. Dr. A. H. Miller dressed the wound and he is now doing nicely, though unable to walk.

The Trenton ball team crossed bats with the local team on the grounds here, Saturday, and literally wiped the earth with our boys—score 22 to 4. The kids here however propose to regain the pennant if it takes all summer.

Prof. E. E. Locker, who has had charge of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades in the Culbertson schools during the past term left, Monday, for his home near Palisade. The professor has made a good record and we predict a promising career for him in his profession.

The closing exercises of the Culbertson schools at the opera-house, Thursday night, were a most interesting entertainment and highly appreciated by a crowded house. The contata, "A Trip to Europe" by the primary department of the school was the hit of the evening and demonstrated the efficient work of the teachers, Misses Pearl King and Sara Williams. The program was completed with interesting features for which the teachers of the school are to be congratulated. Right here we desire to express our opinion that the corps of instructors employed in the Culbertson schools, the past year, should be elected for another year.

Crabs Are Fighters.

Crabs are fighting animals. In fact, they will fight anything, says a naturalist. I have seen a crab, in conflict with a lobster, catch the latter over the fore part of the head, where the shell is hardest, and crush it in by one effort, and it rather bears out my idea that the claws of these creatures are particularly weapons of war; that the moment one of them receives severe injury in a claw it drops it off by involuntary amputation, severing its connection with the body at the shoulder by an act of its own will. It seems to me probable that if the claw were necessary for feeding nature would rather seek to cure an injury to it than let the animal discard it altogether.

The species of crab which is most conspicuously a fighter is the hermit crab. Its first idea of independent life is to eat a harmless whelk and occupy its shell. Its next notion is to give battle to every crab of the same persuasion as itself that it comes across. Altogether hermit crabs are undoubtedly the most quarrelsome creatures in existence.

The Hand Kiss.

The kiss of the hand is undoubtedly ancient and therefore is not derived from that of the lips, but probably the converse is true. The hand kiss is loosely asserted to be developed from servile obeisances in which the earth, the foot and the garments were kissed, the hand and cheek succeeding in order of time and approach to equality of rank. But it is doubtful if that was the actual order, and it is certain that at the time when hand kissing began there were less numerous gradations of rank than at a later stage.

Kissing of the hands between men is mentioned in the Old Testament, also by Homer, Piny and Lucian. The kiss was applied reverentially to sacred objects, such as statues of the gods, as is shown by ancient works of art, and also among numerous etymologies by that of the Latin word "adoro," and it was also metaphorically applied by the inferior or worshiper kissing his own hand and throwing the salute to the superior or statue.

Convincing.

The methods employed by ex-Governor Throckmorton of Texas to make clear the claims of his clients were perhaps unlike those of any other lawyer, but they often carried conviction with them.

At one time he was defending a man who was on trial for murder in Gainesville, Tex. He desired to make it plain to the jury that the man whom his client had killed, although in his shirt sleeves and without a pistol pocket, might have been well armed.

"Can you see any signs of arms about me?" demanded the general, taking off his coat and standing before the jurors.

They shook their heads.

"Watch me!" he said dramatically, and with that he proceeded to draw a pistol from under each arm, one from each boot leg and from the back of his neck a bowie knife of most sinister aspect.—Youth's Companion.

Hearing a Fly Walk.

As the fly glides rapidly over a smooth surface every step presses out a supply of gun strong enough to give him a sure footing and to sustain him in safety if he halts. So strong is the cement that that upon one of his six feet is quite sufficient to sustain the weight of his whole body. But if he stands still the gum may dry up and harden quickly and so securely fasten the traveler's foot as to make a sudden snap the leg itself.

If you wish to hear a fly walk, you can do it without the aid of the telephone. Having made friends with the fly, spread a silk handkerchief over your ear and induce the insect to crawl across the handkerchief. As he approaches your ear you will distinctly hear a harsh, rasping sound, made by the contact of the insect's feet with the filaments of silk.

Two Good Arguments.

"I say that Adam and Eve never existed," declared the first theological disputant.

"Oh, but they did," answered the second theological disputant.

"How do you know they did? Were you there?"

"How do you know they didn't? Were you there?"—Baltimore American.

Giants Nearly Twenty Feet Tall.

The giant Ferragus, who was slain by Orlando, the nephew of Charlemagne, was eighteen feet high. He always accompanied the army on foot, there being no horse tall and strong enough to carry him. Platerus in his published writings tells of a giant whom he examined at Lucerne whose body measured 19 feet 4 inches and 3 lines.

Politely Put.

Anxious Father (from top of stairs)—Say, Mary Jane!

Mary Jane—Yes, papa.

Anxious Father—Is it 11 o'clock yet?

Mary Jane—Yes, papa.

Anxious Father—Well, give the young man my compliments and ask him to kindly close the front door from the outside.—Chicago News.

The Mississippi.

Before the coming of the whites to America the Mississippi river was known by a different name every few miles of its course. Each tribe that dwelt along its banks gave it a name, and more than thirty of these local designations are preserved in the narratives of the early travelers.

In Scotland a twentieth of the area is forest land. The greater portion of the country is mountain heath and lake. The cultivated land is comparatively very limited in its area.

Big Horn Basin.

Are you interested in the Big Horn Basin of Wyoming?

It's a rich but undeveloped portion of Northwestern Wyoming. It contains marvellous openings for small ranches along good streams in the valleys, with one million acres of government land open to settlement under the United States land laws.

The Burlington Route has just published a folder descriptive of the Big Horn Basin. It is illustrated and contains an accurate map. It tells about the lay of the land, character of the soil, products, yield, irrigation and opportunities. If you're interested, better write for a copy. It's free.—5-30.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somewhat the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking
