

TO THE FARMER:

To help and encourage each and every farmer to do his share in the destruction of the grasshopper pest, we have decided to give each farmer a half-pound package of Paris green and ask that he follow the directions we give:

Thoroughly dissolve two table spoonfuls of Paris green in one quart of water. Mix this with twenty quarts of bran that has been soaked in water five hours, put in a teacupful of molasses, if you have it. Now distribute the mixture in small piles of about one teaspoonful one rod apart around the out edge of your grain between FIVE AND SIX O'CLOCK P. M.

Come in and get your package at once. This work should not be delayed

CULBERTSON.
OBITUARY.
Mrs. Stella Green, wife of P. M. Green, Burlington station agent at Culbertson, Nebraska, entered into rest on June 8th, 1902, at 4 o'clock a. m. LUCY STELLA MARSHALL was born in Winsted, Connecticut, June 30th, 1860. At the age of eleven years she left Connecticut with her parents and settled on a farm near Viola, Iowa, where the aged mother and brother still reside. She was united in marriage with P. Malanchuk Green at Viola, Iowa, in 1874. To this happy union one child was born, Bertina, now Mrs. S. H. Blum of Superior, Nebraska, whose husband is a prominent business man of that city. A husband, daughter, mother and brother, mother-in-law, Mrs. Loomis, besides many relatives and friends, mourn her death.
Mr. and Mrs. Green came to Ayr, Nebraska, in 1882, where he was agent for the Burlington company. From Ayr he was transferred to Fort Morgan, Colorado, and twelve years ago he was sent to Culbertson. They were great favorites in railroad circles as well as in general society wherever they have lived.
She has been a member of the Presbyterian church and lived and died a consistent Christian. The funeral services were held at the home on Monday afternoon at 2:30, being conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. M. Stewart of Culbertson, assisted by Rev. R. M. Hardman, rector of St. Alban's Episcopal church, McCook, an oldtime friend of the family. The floral decorations consisted of a lovely cross and star of carnations from the Culbertson lodge, Order of the Eastern Star; a beautiful C. E. emblem from the Christian Endeavorers of Culbertson; potted plants and bouquets so arranged in vases and about the casket as to produce the effect of a veritable flower-garden. The Eastern Star of Superior also sent some handsome flowers. As the remains rested in the casket, a sweet smile on her face, a bank of beautiful carnations surrounded the tribute of Roy Kleven of McCook.
The sermon by Rev. Stewart from Romans 8:28 was touching and unique, full of good advice to the living and lovely tribute to the dead. Rev. Hardman said in part that "Mrs. Green's life was bright with enthusiasm for what was noble and beautiful; pure in thought, word and deed. She was generous, faithful and just; a kind, affectionate and true wife; a loving mother."
"Tis the last pang, she calmly said,
To me, Oh Death, thou hast no dread;
Savior, I come, I come,
Spread but thine arms on yonder shore,
I see, ye waves, they bear me o'er,
There's my home, 'tis heaven."
The remains were shipped to Viola, Iowa, for interment, Tuesday, being accompanied by Mr. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Blum.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL AND INSTITUTE.
The visitors to the Normal school during the first week have carried away distinct impressions of its usefulness. The perfect organization is shown in the orderliness with which classes change from room to room, at the close of class periods and in the immediate taking up of the work without loss of time. This has been a matter of general remark. The work which will be done will cover a large scope, but visitors are surprised at the thoroughness with which details are treated by the instructors. Prof. A. O. Thomas proposes to introduce his Botany class to one hundred varieties of plant life, and when one talks with him the feeling is that this introduction will mean a thorough acquaintance. Prof. G. H. Thomas will take the History class through a complete review of U. S. History. This means a great deal more than the handling of the text-book. There is a distinct "historical feeling" manifest in the work of this class and interesting historical side-lights are thrown upon the subject, and the causal forces underlying the period are brought out in a way to make it lived before the imagination of the student. The writer feels that the work of this class will make the capable teacher a philosophical student of history. The visitors from abroad during the first week of the school were Hon. W. E. Andrews of Washington, D. C., Auditor for the Treasury; Deputy State Sup't J. L. McBrien, and Rev. L. P. Ludden of Lincoln. The lecture of Mr. Andrews on Wednesday afternoon on "Our Common School" and his lecture in the evening of the same day on "Christian Civilization" show a deep interest in the cause of education. While the lecture of the evening was the more scholarly, that of the afternoon was of greater practical benefit to the teacher. It exhibited the actual management of the public school problem in this country. Mr. McBrien spent Thursday in the school, making a thorough examination of all the departments of its work, of which he spoke in detail in the afternoon. Mr. McBrien expressed the greatest pleasure in the complete systematization of the work so early in the term. He is a pleasing and forceful speaker and keyed up a notch higher the enthusiasm already aroused by the teachers of the school. Rev. Ludden preached Sunday evening, and on Monday he addressed the teachers on "Ideas and Ideals" and in the evening lectured before the teachers and citizens on the subject "Individuality." This was a strong lecture. The second week opened with six additional students and four more came in today. June 10, 1902. J. M. S.

Dangerous if Neglected.
Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve affords a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Harly, Yankee-town, Indiana. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits. McConnell & Berry.

For Those Who Live on Farms.
Dr. Bergin, Pana, Illinois, writes: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment; always recommend it to my friends, as I am confident there is no better made. It is a dandy for burns." Those who live on farms are especially liable to many accidental cuts, burns and bruises, which heal rapidly when Ballard's Snow Liniment is applied. It should always be kept in the house for cases of emergency. 25c, 50c and $1.00 at A. McMillen.
