Says Pe-ru-na is a Splendid Catarrhal Tonic.

Congressman T. Y. Fitzpatrick.

Hon. T. Y. Fitzpatrick, Congressman from Kentucky, writes from the National Hotel, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"At the solicitation of a friend I used your Peruna and can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with catarrh or who needs a good tonic."—T. Y. FITZPATRICK.

A Good Tonic.

Pe-ru-na is a natural and efficient nerve tonic. It strengthens and restores the activity of every nerve in the body. Through the use of Pe-ru-na the weakened or overworked nerves resume their natural strength and the blood vessels begin at once to regulate the flow of blood according to nature's laws. Congestions immediately disappear.

Catarrh Cured. All phases of catarrh, acute or chronic, are promptly and permanently cured. It is through its operation upon the nervous system that Pe-ru-na has attained such a world-wide reputation as a sure and reliable remedy for all phases of catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

The World's Letter Writers.
People who speak English write two-thirds of the letters of the world, says Bradstreet's. There are substantially 500,000,000 persons speaking colloquially one or the other of the ten or twelve chief modern languages, and of these about 25 per cent, or 125,000,000 persons, speak English. About 90,000,000 speak Russian, 75,000,000 German, 55,000,000 French, 45,000,000 Spanish, 35,000,000 Italian and 12,000,000 Portuguese, and the balance Hungarian, Dutch, Polish, Flemish, Bohemian, Gaelic, Roumanian, Swedish, Finnish, Danish and Norwegian. Thus, while only one-quarter of those who employ the facilities of the postal departments of civilized governments speak as their native tongue English, two-thirds of those who correspond do so in the English language. There are, for instance, more than 20,000 postoffices in India, the business of which in letters and papers aggregates more than 300,000,000 a year, and the business of these offices is done chiefly in English, though of India's total population, which is nearly 300,000,000, fewer than 300,000 either speak or understand English.

The Big Ice Cream Bill.
Statistics are not available, but we, as a nation, are addicted to ice cream to an extent almost beyond belief, says the New York Press. One company in New York, the largest and most important in the country, sells something like 100,000 quarts a day. Its capital stock is only $40,000, and all of its officers and directors are millionaires. Eighteen or twenty other companies do a large business, besides which there are numberless confectionery shops which make their own and dish it out in a small way over the counter. Possibly the daily consumption in Greater New York is 200,000 quarts, and the average price is 30 cents to the consumer. This makes our ice cream cost us $60,000 a day, or nearly $22,000,000 a year.

This is an English Joke.
A story heard in the house of commons is of some one's meeting Sid Wilfrid Lawson, the temperance leader and radical, and asking him, "Well, Lawson, what do you feel about the war?" Whereupon Sir Wilfrid replied: "I try to feel about it as our Captain Christ would wish us to feel." "Ah," rejoined the other in a disgusted tone. "I might have guessed that you'd be a pro-Boer."

"I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to several others, who are using them with good results."

THE VISION OF JACOB

SACRED SPOT IS NOW A DESOLATE HEAP OF RUINS.

One of the Oldest, Holiest, and Most Interesting Sites Referred To in Christian History—Stone Which Served as a Pillow.

It is strange that some of the religious organizations which are fighting among one another over the possession of bogus or doubtful places associated with Scriptural events do not take possession of Bethel, one of the oldest, holiest and most interesting of all the sites referred to in Christian history. It is now called Betin, and is an abandoned and desolate heap of ruins, with a few miserable hovels occupied by wretched families of Bedouins, who herd the sheep and goats upon the neighboring hills, writes William E. Curtis in the Chicago Record-Herald.

The hill called Bethel is a conspicuous place, rising several hundred feet from the plain and visible for a considerable distance. There are several ancient tombs, marble columns and other pieces of dressed stone, some of them bearing inscriptions and others showing evidences of elaborate carving, scattered about the fields in the vicinity, and near the summit of the hill is a remarkable circle of large blocks of stone which the Moslems say is the place where King Jeroboam set up the golden calves for the Israelites to worship, and brought down upon himself the wrath of Jehovah.

There is also the foundation of a large square tower, called Burj Betin by the natives, and, like the reservoir, its origin is lost in the mist of the ages. It was probably built by the Crusaders. The Moslems say that it marks the spot where Jacob slept that night when he saw the angels on the ladder and when God made with him the greatest covenant ever made with man and said: "I am the Lord God of Abraham, thy father, and the God of Isaac; the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it and to thy seed, and thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth, and shall spread abroad to the west and to the east, and to the north and to the south; and in thee and in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed. And Jacob rose up early in the morning and took the stone that he had used for his pillow and set it up for a pillar and poured oil upon the top of it, and he called the name of that place Bethel." And yet the place where this occurred is not only neglected, but absolutely abandoned, and no one has thought it worth while to erect a monument here since the days of the Crusaders.

The stone which Jacob used for a pillow is supposed to be the seat of the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey, and Edward VII. will sit upon it when he receives the crown and scepter of the British empire next June. This stone is said to have been taken to Ireland by one of the early Christian missionaries, and the kings of Ireland were crowned upon it; it was then carried to Scotland and was the throne of the Scottish kings for centuries, and finally in the reign of Edward the Confessor it was brought to London, and has since been in Westminster Abbey.

Gen. Winfield Scott's Variety.
Besides being a royal gourdman and a person of unusual size, Gen. Winfield Scott was probably as vain a man as may be discovered outside of the realm of literature. Gen. Keyes, author of "Fifty Years' Observation," was reading to him an article on Henry Clay, in which the size of Clay's mouth was referred to, and the writer had added that Burke, Mirabeau and Patrick Henry all had mouths of extraordinary size, concluding with the remark, "All great men have large mouths!" exclaimed the general; "why, my mouth is not above three-fourths the size it should be for my bulk!"

The Khedive and the Rascal.
Even to the adventurers and downright swindlers who hung about his court at Cairo, and afterward pursued his wanderings, Ismail extended a good-natured, half contemptuous patronage. He liked a rogue far better than a fool. Once, when he had formally forbidden his door to a flagrant offender, the man, who knew his character, got a ladder and climbed into the viceroys' room, remarking, "I have obeyed your highness' commands, and I have crossed your threshold by the window, and not by the door." The humor of the thing at once appealed to Ismail, and the offender was reinstated in his favor.

A Forgetful Diplomat.
Viscount De Alte, the new Portuguese minister to this country, comes from a distinguished family, which has for generations been in the diplomatic service of Portugal. He resigned as charge d'affaires in St. Petersburg to accept his new post. It will be remembered that his predecessor, Viscount Thyrso, was suddenly recalled last autumn because, through an unfortunate set of circumstances, he announced to his government the death of President McKinley two days before the event occurred.

Veterans in Tennessee.
Tennessee now has 1,445 names on its state pension roll of old soldiers, and the total amount paid to them in the last year was $149,220. HEALTH AND ALL ITS BLESSINGS

Health will come with all its blessings to those who know the way, and it is mainly a question of right-living, with all the term implies, but the efforts which strengthen the system, the games which refresh and the foods which nourish are important, each in a way, while it is also advantageous to have knowledge of the best methods of promoting freedom from unsanitary conditions. To assist nature, when nature needs assistance, it is all important that the medicinal agents used should be of the best quality and of known value, and the one remedy which acts most beneficially and pleasantly, as a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

With a proper understanding of the fact that many physical ills are of a transient character and yield promptly to the gentle action of Syrup of Figs, gladness and comfort come to the heart, and if one would remove the torpor and strain and congestion attendant upon a constipated condition of the system, take Syrup of Figs and enjoy freedom from the aches and pains, the colds and headaches and the depression due to inactivity of the bowels. In case of any organic trouble it is well to consult a competent physician, but when a laxative is required remember that the most permanently gratifying results will follow personal cooperation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs. It is for sale by all reliable druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

The excellence of Syrup of Figs comes from the beneficial effects of the plants used in the combination and also from the method of manufacture which ensures that perfect purity and uniformity of product essential in a perfect family laxative.
