SOUTH SIDE.

Poor old South Side has been neglected, last three issues, for the reason that the correspondent has been under the doctor's care, but by good nursing and the watchful care of the doctor he's on foot once more.

Everybody is busy on South Side. The big new threshing machine is expected in this locality to commence on John Hesterworth's winter wheat. He expects it to average 50 bushels per acre. They will have two weeks' work on the finest grain in the Driftwood precinct when they commence.

While our supervisors are looking over bids for building bridges in the county kindly remember the west road and bridge. The approaches are had on both sides and should our crops turn out as we expect there will be two thousand tons of freight to pass over it during the months of October and November, which means something to McCook and the farmers.

At the building of King Solomon's temple, which was of stupendous magnitude, there were at work seventy thousand workmen of one class and eighty thousand of another class and beyond a doubt it would have created great confusion had all the men dropped their work and run for their coats when it rained. Not only that but it would have been considerable damage to the contractors, but we are told that it rained not in the daytime for seven years. Could it be possible we will have this at McCook. It has not rained here since April 1st, so the farmers could continue their work and not go fishing.

On the night of July 6th, during our last storm the ditch was nearly ruined. From Menard's place west there were fifteen breaks, caused by the flood of that night, coming from the hills with such force as to cut through the embankments. Since then the best raisers could get no water for their crops and they have suffered greatly; some of the beets are dead, others are badly wilted, so it will put them back even if they get water within a few days. The crop will not be what we looked for as our prospects were great until July 15th. Since then we have had hot winds that caused the damage. The ditch which was running now after this date, as there has been a gang of farmers here that mean business when they undertake to repair damages. Those who turned to the rescue were Joe Schmidt and son two teams, Monroe Wasson and Fred two teams, Mr. Atkinson one team, John Burtless two teams. From Little's place west there were as many more and now they are all at the head gate putting on the finishing touches. It has been quite a task to get necessary repairs in so short a time. These men have dropped work in their fields to do this, as help is very scarce at the present time.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures coughs, colds and lung troubles of the severest nature, removing the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. His Sight Threatened.

"While picknicking last month my 11-year-old boy was poisoned by some weed or plant," says W. H. Dibble, of Sioux City, Ia. "He rubbed the poison of his hands into his eyes and for a while we were afraid he would lose his sight. Finally a neighbor recommended DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The first application helped him and in a few days was as well as ever." For skin diseases, cuts, burns, scalds, wounds, insect bites, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is sure cure. Relieves piles at once. Beware of counterfeits. McConnell & Berry.

HE GOT THE GOODS.

A Business Deal Between Potter Palmer and A. T. Stewart.

"At the time of the civil war," said an old merchant, "Potter Palmer was in the dry goods business in Chicago, and Levi Z. Leiter and Marshall Field were working for him. Palmer wasn't so well known, but he had a good reputation in the trade, and he didn't have to introduce himself when he called on old A. T. Stewart to buy some goods. After some dickering they agreed upon the price, and Palmer calmly said that he would take about $100,000 worth. It was a little larger bill than Stewart exactly cared to sell young Palmer on credit, but he concluded to make the deal and told him to come in the next morning and arrange some final details. That night some big war news came, and it didn't require any declaration by the government to inform every dry goods man in the country that the price of goods would take a big spurt up. Stewart recognized it as soon as he had the news, and he immediately thought of Palmer. He also thought of the big bill of goods Palmer had bought of him. It didn't particularly tickle Stewart, that thought didn't. But it required only a few scratches of his red head to fix things to his satisfaction. He would simply tell Palmer that he was sorry, but that he didn't feel that he could sell such a big bill on credit, and as he knew that Palmer couldn't raise the cash immediately, why, that would end it, and the sale would be off. Well, young Palmer called early, and Stewart greeted him in his very abruptest manner, telling him how sorry he was, etc., but really he didn't think it wise business to extend credit for such an amount.

"Just how much does the bill come to?" said young Palmer, seemingly sorrowful-like.

"Just $110,000," Stewart replied, and then he straightway gulped for breath as young Palmer drew an immense pocketbook from his inside vest pocket and, opening it, counted out 110 thousand dollar bills and, laying them quietly on Stewart's desk, said: "If you will kindly count them and give me a receipt, I'll be obliged, as I must take the next train home. Ship the goods soon as you can, and when you're out our way drop in. Always glad to see our friends."—New York Times.

AROUND THE HOUSE.

If marks and stains are on papered walls, try French chalk on a piece of dry bread gently rubbed in.

To keep hardwood floors smooth and clean rub them with waste and warm paraffin oil and polish with dry waste.

Muslin curtains may be rendered less inflammable by rinsing them in alum water—two ounces of alum to one gallon of water.

To clean mirrors dip a cloth in methylated spirits and rub on the mirror. Allow it to dry on before polishing with a soft duster.

Galvanized iron pails for drinking water should not be used. The zinc coating is rapidly acted upon by the water, forming a poisonous oxide of zinc.

Make a splendid furniture polish by taking a wineglassful of olive oil, one of vinegar and two tablespoonfuls of alcohol; apply with a soft cloth and polish with flannel.

Rugs, mats or carpets can be cleaned thoroughly by generously sprinkling on them yellow cornmeal that has been well dampened in clean soapsuds or weak ammonia water. Sweep off in a few minutes.

Sensory Transmission.

It has been found that sensation is not absolutely instantaneous, but that a very minute time elapses as it travels along the nerves. Therefore, if a person put his finger to a heated iron or in the blaze of a candle there is a certain almost inconceivably small space of time, say the one-thousandth part of a second, before the brain knows of the burn. Now, suppose a man with an arm long enough to reach the sun. From the known rate of sensory transmission that man would have to live more than 100 years after touching the great luminary before he would know that his fingers had been scorched!

Showed It Clearly.

A man who was called on to address a Sunday school in a Pennsylvania town took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Elijah on his journey to Bethel—how the youngsters taunted the poor old prophet, and how they were punished when the two she bears came out of the wood and ate forty-two of them. "And now, children," said the speaker, wishing to learn if his talk had produced any moral effect, "what does this story show?" "Please, sir," came from a little girl well down in front, "it shows how many children two she bears can hold!"
