It Needs a Tonic.

There are times when your liver needs a tonic. Don't give purgatives that gripe and weaken. DeWitt's Little Early Risers expel all poison from the system and act as tonic to the liver. W. Scott, 531 Highland ave., Milton, Pa., says: "I have carried DeWitt's Little Early Risers with me for several years and would not be without them." Small and easy to take. Purely vegetable. The "Cry" of Silk.

One of the most peculiar features about manufactured silk is the rustling sound familiar to every woman. In the silk trade they call it the "cry" or sometimes the "scroop." Of all textiles

As everybody knows, the sound is heard especially when silk is subjected known is that the quality is found in to kill this property in it, will when opened up emit the noise slightly. A safer position. When the skein is squeezed in the hand, the sound becomes quite audible. The "cry" is considered a very desirable quality in silk. Dyers try to develop it as much as possible.

Unexpected Applause.

Shortly after Mr. Wilson Barrett joined the theatrical profession he became a member of a company performing at the old Theater Royal, Dublin. His part, naturally, was a small one, and, greatly to his surprise, his first speech was greeted with a round of applause. This unlooked for tribute elated the young actor, and he exerted himself to sustain the good impression he appeared to have made. Just as he was leaving the theater one of the scene shifters grinningly accosted him and said, "Sure, it's got about among the bhoys that ye're a brother of the man that was hung!" A Fenian named Barrett had that morning paid the extreme penalty of the law.

Like all things, good and bad, the sermon came to an end at last, but Weddle slumbered on like a baby even after a deacon began taking up the collection in a hat. When the derby was passed to Weddle, Mrs. Weddle was surprised to see that he did not respond. She nudged him violently to bring him back to his senses, and Weddle, awakening with a start, sat upin the hand of the deacon. Then he shook his head sleepily and said:

"No; that isn't mine. Mine is a gray one."-New York Tribune.

"Well, ain't that a lovely customer? I just dote on waiting on that kind. Did you see her, though?" The shopgirl was bubbling over with rage. A woman and her daughter had looked at not fewer than twenty-five silk waists. At last they took up one, and the woman brought forth a tape measure. "I think we might get it out of three and a half yards or three and two-thirds anyhow. Just wait - twenty-three Inches down the front, three-quarters for the sleeves, allow a quarter for collar and cuff's. Yes, that'll do it." As she talked she ran the tape over the waist, the clerk standing by almost bursting with indignation, "Three yards of lace, one and a quarter of insertion," she went on, measuring the trimming. "Put that down, Amy. Now let's go. We can get up a waist exactly like that for $7.50, and they ask $14.98. They've got their nerve, haven't they?"-New York Press.

From the Theater Gallery.

Mr. W. Pett Ridge tells in the English Illustrated that the best repartee he ever encountered was in the galsilk is the only material which pos- lery of a theater. An extremely stout, good tempered woman contrived to wedge herself into a space that would have accommodated a person of ordito friction. What is not so generally nary size, to the unconcealed annoyance of a smartly dressed youth next silk yarn before it is woven. A skein to her. She began to peel an orange, of silk, unless it has been so treated as and the youth, with a gesture of complaint, removed his silk hat fussily to

"I suppose," said the good tempered woman, "that you'd rather have had a gentleman sitting by the side of you, sir, wouldn't you?"

The youth replied snappishly in the "Ah," said the woman thoughtfully, "so would I!"

Presence of Mind.

During a performance at one of the London theaters a man and his wife had to quarrel on the stage, the woman in a rage of jealousy, the man trying to persuade her that she was too suspicious and too passionate. Both were acting with great spirit when the wife moved her arm too near the candle, and her muslin dress was in flames in an instant. Both actors kept their heads, however. The husband extinguished the fire and, proceeding with his part, interpolated:

"You see, my dear, I was right. You are ready to flare up at the least thing."
