As a speaker G. W. Norris has few if any superiors in Nebraska. As an honest man he is the peer of any man anywhere. To vote for him is to do your duty by the district, the state and the nation.—Hastings Tribune.

COUNTY JUDGE ELDRIDG was over in the Danbury-Lebanon country, first of the week, and reports conditions most attractive and encouraging for Republican success in November. The ticket is generally satisfactory to the people.

THERE are very few men in this part of the state who are better posted regarding political affairs and the needs of this section than "Min" Hasty, the Republican nominee for state senator in the 29th district.—Cambridge Clarion.

An amusing county contemporary, last week, in "roasting" the Nebraska public school system and at the same time making a plea for "readin', writin' and 'rithmetic," was guilty of atrociously misspelling nine words in an article in an adjoining column, not to speak of the lapses of veracity etc. the article contained.

It has been the history of all nations that in time of great prosperity there is always more or less contention between capital and labor. The present coal strike was not precipitated on account of political conditions, and no amount of fallacious argument on the part of Democratic orators can make the public believe it. Better than splendid prosperity with strikes than years of hunger and destitution under Democratic rule.

The fight that is being made on J. H. Mickey because he is a temperance man is more to his credit than against him. When the time comes that a man in order to be qualified for the office of governor of a great state like Nebraska has to be a saloon habitue and beer guzzler it is time for the millenium. The sober, intelligent and law abiding people of Nebraska will rise up en masse on the fourth day of next November and elect J. H. Mickey governor for the very reason that he is temperate and respectable.—Shelton Clipper.

It is stated by an authority who has given some attention to the question of the post check currency that if business men and business organizations urge the passage of legislation to provide it the action of congress can be secured at the next session. That being the case there should be a general call for that action. The post check currency means simply the printing of circulating notes in such form that the holder endorsing a note in his possession can convert it into a draft payable only to the person named in the endorsement. This will do away with the loss of time, annoyance and expense of a journey to secure a money order every time that the sending of a small remittance is necessary. The saving to the public will immensely outweigh the slight increase in cost to the government and the loss of revenues from money orders. There should be a strong representation to congress in favor of the bill.—Dispatch, Pittsburg, Pa.

Just a Slight Correction.

THE TRIBUNE learns that our old friend Sidney Dodge, the fusion nominee for county attorney, is trying to make some campaign thunder in his own behalf by circulating that he was responsible for placing the warrants of Red Willow county at par, thus securing a large saving to the people of the county;—all of which would be very interesting and creditable to our friend Sidney if it were a fact. But unfortunately the fact is lacking, and the claim ridiculous.

If we remember aright Sidney Dodge was not chosen county attorney until 1891, and the records show that no county warrants were registered after June, 1887, and that the last registered county warrant was paid in October, 1887, or more than four years before Sidney flashed across the political heavens of Red Willow county as prosecuting attorney and financial agent.

It will be found to be a fact, however, that from and after the date of the funding of the floating indebtedness of Red Willow county the warrants of the county have been at par, and that Sidney Dodge had nothing to do with making them at par.

We do not refer to this because there is anything new in the information given, but just to correct any false impressions that may have come to any who are not posted about the matter.

If Sidney Dodge ever saved Red Willow county a cent it was because of what he DID NOT DO, as the record of his occupancy of that office will prove absolutely. And THE TRIBUNE is willing to credit him with doing practically nothing but draw his salary. He might have done worse.

THE free trade Democrat says "smash the trusts by taking off the tariff." That means, besides the destruction of American industries, that the trusts of Europe would swarm into this country. Are there trusts in Europe? Just a few. In Germany syndicates have increased since 1870 until they cover practically the entire field of industrial activity. In France, although there is a law against them, they control furniture, groceries, coal, borax, candles, matches, pig iron, rice, cheese, silk spinning, sugar refining, sulphur, tiles, tobacco, and transportation by land. In Belgium, they control coal, coke, glass, stone, mirrors and sugar refining. In Norway wood pulp, paper and lumber. In England it is difficult to say what they do not control. It is similar to Germany—everything is under the trust. Don't talk to a Republican about taking the tariff wall down for any purpose please. We had it down in 1893 and 1895 and the ferocious foreign pigs rooted up Uncle Sams garden entirely.

EVIDENCE is accumulating with paralyzing rapidity to prove that there is no darker blot or more humiliating stain on America and our republican form of government than the foul boodling in our cities. Few of the larger cities escape the curse.

Resolutions.

At a meeting of McCook Lodge No. 61, Ancient Order United Workman, held September 29, 1902, the following resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, In the mysterious dispensation of human life and death our beloved brother Workman John T. Brady has fallen before the relentless sickle of the silent reaper; and

Whereas, Brother Brady was long a faithful member of our order, devoted to its principles and possessed of exemplary character as a man and a Workman; therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of the Supreme Master Workman of the Universe, whose decrees are ever beneficently directed toward our good, we most sincerely deplore the loss of our brother, and shall ever hold his memory sacred.

Resolved, That the sincere sympathy of the lodge be extended to the family of our deceased brother in their bereavement, and, as a mark of respect, be it

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, a copy presented to the family of our deceased brother, a copy sent to the "Workman" and the McCook papers.

Pride and Pleasure.

THE TRIBUNE'S corps of correspondents is unequalled in this section of Nebraska for quality, quantity and extent of field covered. The publisher is as proud of it as its readers are pleased with it. If your neighborhood is not represented, get in correspondence with us about the matter and the publisher will do his part to fill the need. THE TRIBUNE is gradually expanding into what its owner desires it shall be, namely, a county newspaper, which shall represent as faithfully as may be all of Red Willow county, and not one town or locality. Our wide-awake correspondents are assisting us in realizing this ambition. Still we are looking for more news—observe that the emphasis is on the word NEWS. It's always welcome, thrice welcome at this office!

Fell Into Honest Hands.

A few weeks since, Fred C. Kellogg had the misfortune to lose his pocket book containing about $50 and valuable effects in a passenger-car. A few days later from Kansas City he received a letter asking for a description of the contents of the pocket-book. He sent same and soon afterward received the same and contents from Prescott, Arizona. Wilbur O. Ayer, superintendent of construction, Whipple Barracks, had found the pocket-book on a seat in the smoker, and being a conscientiously honest man promptly sent Kellogg the wallet and contents upon identification.

Did Not Get His Boy.

Sam Ball came up from McCook on Monday's train to go out to Widow Wiley's to bring in his boy that had run away about a week before. He talked very abusive about the boy and what he would do with him when he got hold of him, he went out but did not get hold of him, as the boy had got wind of his coming and had got a small army to help defend himself, so he left without the boy. No man that talked like Mr. Ball did should be allowed to take the boy.—Wauneta Breeze, 9th.
