GROVER CLEVELAND has gone afishing is the latest political item of interest.

The state central committee will meet in Lincoln, Tuesday evening, May 26th, at 8 o'clock, to fix the time and place for holding the Republican state convention. One judge of supreme court and two regents of the university will be elected this year.

The brethren of the Nebraska daily press are just now having an inning they would just as soon some other fellow enjoyed. The Bee has been soaked for $2,500 and the Journal is now defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages for an alleged defamatory article published on March 1st.

There is a movement now started which will, if enacted into law, provide what is known as the "telephone stamp" the purpose of which is to give the postmaster the privilege of pen letters bearing such a stamp and read them over a telephone to the parties to whom they are directed.

The New York correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer writes: "There does not remain a shadow of a doubt in the minds of eastern democrats as to Grover Cleveland's attitude toward the presidency. They believe that he is not willing to accept a nomination, but is hoping that one may be offered him."

The postal officials at Washington are proceeding in the president's absence just as if he were there giving directions in person. They know that Theodore Roosevelt insists, above all things, on absolute fidelity and integrity in the public service, and that no public servant under a cloud need look to him for protection unless he can clear his skirts.—Bee.

The absorption of the Frisco road by the Rock Island may not come within the scope of the decision in the Northern Securities case, but it accomplishes an object similar to that the men behind the Northern Securities merger were seeking to attain. The Rock Island gets the new road by exchanging securities at top prices, with guaranteed interest payments, and the people pay the freight.—Bee.

The action of Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania in signing the new bill in that state has attracted general attention of the country. The measure is something distinctly new in the line of libel laws and will doubtless work a revolution among the newspapers of the old Keystone state. The TRIBUNE is disposed to the opinion that the newspapers have been grossly misusing their liberty and that more stringent measures are demanded for the protection of officials and public men especially against their often inexcusable assaults. We shall watch with interest the result of the new Pennsylvania law.

HOLDING the Temple amendment unconstitutional, Judge M. A. Roberts of Ottumwa has sustained the demurrer of the Burlington attorneys in the case of McGuire versus the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy for $2,000 damages. McGuire was a member of the Burlington voluntary relief association, and accepted the benefits of the association eleven months after his injury in 1901. Briefly, Judge Roberts held that the effect of the amendment was to enable a party to recover twice for the same injury; once from the association upon his contract to which defendant was a party, and once by direct action against the defendant.

Broken steam mains at the intersection of Main and Dodge streets, Monday, caused the electric light people some trouble and expense and those depending upon heat from their plant some discomfort, Tuesday, until the repairs could be made and steam was turned on again. The break was chargeable to the heavy rains, Saturday night and Sunday.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

Kodol Digests What You Eat Make the Stomach Sweet. Bottles only. Regular size, $1.00, holding 2 1/2 times the total dose, which sells for 50 cents. Prepared by E. C. DeWITT & CO., Chicago, Ill.

PUBLIC FREE LIBRARY NOTES.

We are accustomed, in these days, to hear much said on the subject of war, and its benefits to the participating governments. It is even maintained that war is essential to a healthy condition of the body politic, as exercise is necessary to the physical well-being of the individual man. In this country our recent experience should qualify us to speak with authority. The question is one of wide scope, and one on which we expect to find a diversity of opinions. Among the realistic authors who have written of war there is, however, unanimity of views. Without exception they portray human warfare, even in the civilized form in which it is now waged, as the most horrible of catastrophes.

Tolstoi has drawn a rather hasty sketch in Sebastopol—hasty in the sense of brevity, for it is artistic, masterful, fully worthy of its great author. A few years ago Stephen Crane startled the reading world with "The Red Badge of Courage." This is a remarkable book in many ways, but crude and faulty too. It is the first important work of a very young man—a man who had not seen war. Neither of these books seeks to influence except by description. Facts are recounted, and the reader is left to draw his own conclusions.

The most graphic account of war is "Ground Arms," by the Baroness von Suttner, an Austrian noblewoman. Her tale is absorbingly interesting, because her experiences are personal. She, of course, was not a combatant, but she visited the battlefields a few hours after the guns had ceased firing. Let us who advocates war read this book, and then say whether an institution that entails such frightful misery is beneficent. The picture is too vivid, too real. It dwells in the mind. It haunts the imagination. It flashes back to the memory in after years. And yet there is a lurid fascination about it that impels one who has read the book to turn to it again and again, and to read on and on, until a sickening realization of the horror of it all compels him, for the time being, to turn from it.

All these books may be had at the library.

The New Class K4b Engine.

Referring again to that new experiment in locomotive construction, the K4b, now outside the shops, the machine is somewhat an oddity in appearance, being radically different from any other locomotive yet designed in several respects. We understand the "Q" is building a similar one as an experiment. The height of the locomotive from rail to top of smoke stack is 15 feet, 4 inches. This is not on account of any large sized drivers, but owing to the fact that the rear pair of three pair together, sets directly under the cab and firebox, which is the new wide pattern, projecting over the drivers. In consequence the boiler head is very high and the boiler itself sets high above the frame. The engine has four truck wheels under the front, but almost its entire weight sets on the drivers, greatly increasing its tractive power. One of the peculiarities of the construction and one of the best features are the long valve rods extending back and fastened directly to the rocker bar between the middle and the first pair of drivers under the firebox. This does away with the transmitting rod, simplifying the construction, making the working of the reverse lever a great deal easier, and making the mechanism easier on the valves, easier to repair and less liable to breakage.—Havelock Times.

ADDITIONAL RAILROAD NEWS.

Louis Herstrom will leave for Denver tonight.

J. Heun of the boilerwashers resigned, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pickard are still visiting in Havelock.

Engine 313 is in the roundhouse for repairs to her firebox.

Engines 103 and 221 are in the shop for an overhauling. No. 255 will be out of the shop next week.

Engineer L. F. Neilson has Engineer J. E. Sanborn's run from Hastings to Red Cloud for a month.

Foreman Burton of Oxford, Foreman Paver of Akron and Foreman Hutchinson of Red Cloud were up to attend the railroad meeting, last night.

Se Kapke, the South Main avenue tailor, if you want a suit or pair of pants. Orders taken and goods guaranteed. Prices very reasonable.

Waycar No. 33 is in the carpenter-shop for an overhauling. No. 135, a Denver waycar, will be out of the shop next week, if her cupola puts in an appearance in time.

It is said that the Burlington will soon do away with the car initials, "B. & M." "C. B. & Q." "H. & St. J." and the word "Burlington" will then be used. The numbers will be changed to make them uniform for all system cars. This will be done to make easier the work of the car accountants.

Mrs. Lambert Rodstrom came down from McCook last Sunday to visit with relatives for a few days. She will leave the first of next week for Lincoln where her husband, who is a passenger fireman, has been transferred from McCook and they will hereafter make their home at Lincoln.—Holdrege Progress, 8th.

The Northwestern has a new model switch engine at work in the yards at Fremont. It is smaller than the ordinary locomotive, has a low, small boiler and an under-sized cab. There are no small front wheels, and the engine rests only on the four drive wheels. It is smaller in every way than the locomotives hitherto used on this division.

A gang of ten linemen are at work in the vicinity of Holdrege repairing the telegraph lines on the main line and the Cheyenne and Edgar branches of the Burlington. During the sleet storm last week it is reported there were over 400 breaks in the wires between here and Minden—a distance of twenty-three miles.

The corps of linemen now at work here expect to have the lines cleared up by Saturday night. There will remain, however, a large number of shattered telegraph poles to replace.—Progress, 8th.

I have recommended it to many and they always speak very highly of it and declare its merits are wonderful." For sale by L. W. McConnell.
