have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock. J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cared by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten timesover. Porses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood. flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

Mr. Spearman has an individuality. His work is characteristic. He is like no other man, and he writes himself into his books. He is original, and he impresses his individuality upon his work. This is the chiefest reason for his success. This is why his stories are popular, why his writings are eagerly sought by editors, and eagerly read by the public. If he has not always new things to say, we expect, at least, to find the old things said in a new way, and novel expressions of old truths serves quite as Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Re-peated attacks of indigestion inflames the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucin instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.
