THE BEE HIVE McCOOK NEBRASKA

Not Over-Wise.

There is an old allegorical picture of a girl scared at a grass-hopper, but in the act of heedlessly treading on a snake. This is paralleled by the man who spends a large sum of money building a cyclone cellar, but neglects to provide his family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a safeguard against bowel complaints, whose victims outnumber those of a cyclone a hundred to one. This remedy is everywhere recognized as the most prompt and reliable medicine in use for these diseases. For sale by L. W. McConnell, druggist.

Notice to Subscribers.

Dysentery Cured Without Aid of a Doctor.
"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by L. W. McConnell, druggist.

MODEL SHOE STORE A. E. PETTY, Proprietor

In the Cody-Toluca Country.

Marquette, Wyoming, Aug. 10th, 1903. F. M. Kimmell—Dear Sir: It seems strange that a man has to take a trip of about a thousand miles on the railroad, to successfully fish for the most beautiful of the finny tribe, the trout. Such is the case, however, and it may not be long when even this may be lost to those who enjoy the sport and the outing it affords. Westward the course of empire has taken its way to such an extent that wild land hardly exists except in the "bad lands" where nothing can grow. The reservation allotted to the Crow Indians would be a perfect paradise, were it settled by the white people. As it is the Indians only raise ponies and dogs. We came across a few ranches where wheat, alfalfa and potatoes were grown, which shows what can be done with the land. It is well watered with creeks and ditches. We came by the Custer battlefield, and so calm and green and peaceful did it seem, one could hardly imagine that only a few years ago, such a bloody battle was here fought. Uncle Sam don't issue rations to Indians under forty years of age, so Mr. Buck Indian has to rustle like a white man. After landing at Toluca, Montana, we took the branch to the end of the line. About one-third of the line runs through the well watered reservation, but the remainder goes through what reminds one of "no man's land of Australia," nothing there except a lonely jack rabbit who hides behind a boulder, as if he were ashamed to be found there. The road bed all the way between Toluca and Cody is fine, all ballasted with the finest kind of stone, there is one short tunnel on the line. The company could not get into Cody without building almost a suspension bridge, so the town is about two miles from the station. It is a typical frontier town, five or six saloons, with the gambling attachments, all in good working order. A majestic mountain rises above the town, rugged and covered with scrub pine and cedar. At the top is where William Cody, (Buffalo Bill) wishes to be buried. It is certainly a grand and beautiful place in the summer. We left Cody in a wagonette, which was certainly well loaded, and drove about thirty-five miles. "Buffalo Bill" has a ranch on the south fork of the Shoshone. There is only one store on the way, where the principal thing sold was blankets and whiskey. The county road was miserable, which we had to follow for about two-thirds of the way; the remainder of the way was over the government road to the Yellowstone park. Forest reserve guards patrol this road almost every day and the one who don't put out his camp fire, will find that it will go hard with him; fire notices are put on trees everywhere. Some parties camped out in the Yellowstone park, and left without extinguishing their camp fire, were brought back by the inspectors after getting away almost ten miles. It was certainly an oversight that we did not have a photograph outfit with us, and someone who could handle it. Some of the most beautiful and grand mountains, passes, and rugged cliffs were constantly presenting themselves. The Shoshone tumbles through gorges and over boulders noisy and swift. The boys had two large guns with them but could not use them, the game law is rigidly enforced, (even the bears are protected). As far as the elk are concerned the game law was imperative. Thousands of elk were slaughtered for their teeth alone, a full set of elk teeth are worth a fortune, (a small one). I have seen one alone mounted and sold for thirty-five dollars, for a watch charm. I stood within fifty feet of one of the finest red deer I ever saw; the noise of the river made it impossible for the animal to hear. We went up to fish for trout and found that owing to the immense number of grasshoppers constantly falling into the river, the trout refused to bite at an artificial fly, and we used a plain hook with a hopper attachment. I don't know who got the most fish, but think R. B. A. got his share. Young Sutton is getting to be a thorough sportsman; of course that is natural, a "chip off the old block" you know. Mr. Archibald, George and Bruce Campbell, John Archibald, Harold Sutton, Herbert Frey and myself made quite a party to cook for, as this is always a difficult and thankless job, I will pass it by, but we did most surely miss Brother Ward. Camping parties are constantly passing up the government road on the way to the Yellowstone park. We met one party from far off Boston, with the most expensive outfit that could be purchased; they had Winchester enough with them to kill all the bears in Wyoming. The girls in the party as well as the young men had their sleeves rolled up so as to get a good coat of tan to take back to "Boston." It makes me think of the young lady who came from the east, and made the remark, that it took four years to get her complexion, and she spoiled it in one day in McCook.

I came across Len Meserve, Bert Godwin and John Mullen, all old McCook men. We certainly had a fine time, and the boys did not order bacon for their supper when they got home, I don't think. Yours truly,
H. M. T.

BARTLEY.

Mrs. Niltonberger's father and mother are here on a visit from Oklahoma. John Wolfe is hauling stone for the foundation of an addition to his home. Several parties from Bartley drove to Indianola, Sunday evening, to church. Ed Lohr came in from Inavale, where he is operator. He will visit the home folks a few days.

Rev. Meeker stepped into a ditch, last week, and badly sprained his ankle. He is improving slowly.

Miss Grace Brown enjoyed a pleasant visit in the country, this week, with her friend Miss Nellie Rittenberg.

Bartley played a return game with Lebanon, Tuesday afternoon, in which Bartley won by a score of 7 to 6.

The return of the teachers from the normal makes it more cheery. They all speak words of praise for the school.

The M. E. Sunday-school had a picnic in the timber north of Mr. Ritbie's home. It was well attended and all report an enjoyable time.

Henry Baumgartner called in Bartley, Tuesday afternoon, on his way to Indianola, where he is working in the barber shop of Mr. Enfield.

The Bartley and Stockville ball clubs will meet on the Bartley diamond, Friday at 2 p. m. The best game of the season is expected at that time.

The Misses Dell and Dott Gregory, accompanied by Messrs. Frank Premer and Bob Gregory, went to Wilsonville, Saturday, to visit Mrs. Hayes, a sister of the Gregorlys.

Monday the Bartley ball boys went over to Lebanon with the hope that they would return covered all over with glory, but returned a humiliated crowd. Score 13 to 9 in favor of Lebanon.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot of Albany, Ga., says "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel, blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. W. McConnell.

BANKSVILLE.

Temperature, Tuesday afternoon, 98 degrees above.

B. W. Benjamin was a Herndon business visitor, Tuesday.

Much grain stacking is done, but there is lots of it in the shock yet for lack of labor.

The late rains are making the corn and fodder crop, and are worth many dollars to this section.

William Sigving is doing the theshing for Andrew Anderson. Harve Rowland has been helping.

The rainfall here, Friday afternoon and Sunday morning, amounted to over an inch and a half.

A. M. Benjamin and family were visitors, recently, at his brother-in-law's in Kansas,—Mitchell's.

C. F. Elliott and Ira have 400 acres of grain to put in the stack, and have a large amount of it stacked already.

J. H. Relph has been having a "dickens of a time" getting a new windmill put up, and in the meantime has had to draw on outside supply to keep his stock moist. The mill is up now.

Call For Bids.

The building committee of district 8, Redwillow County, Nebraska, will receive sealed bids for the construction of a new school-house for said district, according to plans and specifications to be seen at THE McCOOK TRIBUNE office. Said bids will be opened on Saturday, August 22nd, 1903. A certified check for $50.00 must accompany each bid. Committee reserves right to reject any and all bids.
