Gray Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray."—Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.

There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor—it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back,—all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

PUBLIC FREE LIBRARY NOTES.

If the library is to continue the good work that has been begun, it should have funds: The contributions that were so freely made to its founding have been exhausted. Several months must elapse before the money arising from the two mill tax levy shall be available. In the meantime, while means are at hand to keep the library open, it will not be able to accomplish what is expected of it, and what it should do, unless some plan is formulated to supply its imperative necessities in the way of new books. A library is a development. Although much that was written in the long ago is superlatively excellent—better, indeed, than what the presses turn off today—still this is a progressive age, and our modern reader demands the modern book, not because it is better than the old, but simply because it is newer, because it more nearly suits the conditions of the time, because to us of this era the literature that treats of the phrases of life with which we are familiar is most interesting.

There are books for all time, and there are books for the hour. All serve their purposes. None can be dispensed with. The reader should not confine himself to the old even though it be the best. He wants to know, and he should know the new. We live in the present, and should know the present. We cannot know today without knowing the day's work, and books are a part of that work. Our existence is circumscribed, and we communicate with the world at large through books. The reviewers are already announcing the season's offerings. The patrons of our library will be calling for the new books, and they should not call in vain. Something should be done, and at once, to meet this situation.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.
For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflames the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

Kodol Digests What You Eat Make the Stomach Sweet. Bottles only. Regular size, $1.00, holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50 cents. Prepared by E. C. DeWITT & CO., Chicago, Ill.

A grateful dog is better than an ungrateful man.—Saadi.

We first make our habits and then our habits make us.—Emmons.

To be happy is not the purpose of our being, but to deserve happiness.—Fitch.

He Didn't Understand.

A little fellow out West Roxbury way some ten years old, perhaps twelve, bested his grandmothers the other day rather neatly. All three were at the table when one of the ladies casually mentioned the name of the family nurse. Immediately the little fellow wanted to know who the lady was. One grandma innocently remarked that it was the nurse that took care of the boy when he was born.

"But why didn't mamma take care of me? I was her baby, wasn't I?" queried the little fellow. "True," says grandma; "but, you see, mamma doesn't understand how to look after little babies, particularly the first one, and we have to have nurses who have learned how in the hospitals." That seemed to settle it, but all of a sudden the little fellow blurted out, "Well, then, who took care of Cain?"—Boston Traveler.

Blindfold.

Nine persons out of ten would probably give the derivation of blind as coming directly from blind and fold from the practice of folding a cloth round the eyes, as in the game of blind man's buff. The word has, however, nothing to do with fold, but means felt or struck blind and might be written blindfolded. In the same way the word buttery is easily confused with the common term butter, with which, however, it has no connection save in the minds of those who do not know it to be a contraction for bottery, a place where bottles are kept and over which the bottler, or butler, presides.—Chambers' Journal.

The Scientific Germ Killer. It contains every antiseptic known to science.

Hog Cholera
Is a germ disease of the intestines. The cholera bacteria finds its way into the animal through the drinking water or filth, passing into the stomach and finally down along the intestines it sets up fermentation and from there filters through the blood, liver and other organs.
Hog cholera cannot be treated successfully unless treatment is commenced before the germ has reached the period of rapid multiplication. If taken in time it can be cured, and in all cases prevented by the use of Liquid Koal, because it is the only known germicide that will pass through the stomach into the intestines and from there into the blood, permeating the whole system, and still retain its germ killing properties. All other so-called cholera cures lose their potency by the acid reaction of the gastric juices of the stomach, hence have no value.
