JUDGE ALTON BROOKS PARKER and Ex-Senator Davis of West Virginia are the Democratic nominees for president and vice-president respectively.
W. J. BRYAN admits that he is between the devil and the deep sea, but thinks that after all the Democratic plutocrat is perhaps not the meaner devil and announces that he will support Parker. But he wants every thing to stand unqualified that he has said about the manner of the plutocrats securing Parker's nomination and after election will commence a reorganization campaign.

THE JOURNAL is not going to hazard any guess as to what the outcome of Mr. Norris' career would be. There are a thousand and one different turns it may take. But we do know him to be "every inch a man" and if kept in congress will soon be in shape to make Fifth Nebraska something more than a blank space on the legislative and political map of the United States. Eastern states have long had the habit of finding a good man and then sticking to him. That's why eastern men control to a very great extent the legislation. The Fifth has found a man in Norris who has the making of a statesman. Stick to him!—Superior Journal.

One Lady's Recommendation Sold Fifty Boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets.

I have, I believe, sold fifty boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets on the recommendation of one lady here, who first bought a box of them about a year ago. She never tires of telling her neighbors and friends about the good qualities of these tablets.—P. M. Shore, druggist, Rochester, Ind. The pleasant purgative effect of these tablets makes them a favorite with ladies everywhere. For sale by all druggists.

No Pity Show.
"For years fate was after me continuously," writes F. A. Gullede, Verona, Ala. "I had a terrible case of piles causing 24 tumors. When all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. Equally good for burns and all aches and pains. Only 25c at McConnell's drug store."

PUBLIC FREE LIBRARY NOTES.
The most valuable single collection the library has received is a large number of magazines, a recent gift of Miss Rache Berry, who, with the assistance of the librarian, has put them in accessible form. They include seventy-four bound volumes of the standard periodicals, as well as several hundred loose numbers. There is a complete set of the Atlantic for the last fifteen years, as well as numbers of Harper's, Scribner's, Munsey's, McClure's, The World's Work, St. Nicholas, Century and others, which complete in themselves for the years they cover, fill many a gap that had existed in the collections already possessed by the library.
The fact is not generally recognized that the magazines furnish us with the best of current literature, not only in the way of fiction, but along other lines. It is a duty we owe ourselves to know current history,—to be familiar with the events that are happening in the world and the day of which we are a part. The newspapers do not give us enough, or at least what goes to make up their contents is hastily gathered and so confused with inaccuracies that we need something besides, to digest and sift the cumbersome and unwieldy mass of facts. The reviews fill admirably this want. They are the clearing house for the vast quantity of crude material accumulated each month by the army of news gatherers from the four corners of the earth. The Outlook, is, probably, the best of these. The Review of Reviews is also good, and covers a wider scope. In both of these magazines we find the facts classified and arranged, and one who reads one or the other of these publications conscientiously, cannot be ignorant of the history of his own times.
The more popular magazines, at least one of them, preferably the Atlantic, though if one must have illustrations, some other will serve almost as well, should also be read. While the others do not attempt so adequate a transcript of the daily life of humanity as do the reviews, they will be found to contain special articles of unusual merit and interest, on every day topics. These magazines, of course, are read principally for their fiction, which may usually be depended upon to be the best that is obtainable. A reference to the tables of contents for the last few years will disclose this fact. Many of the most widely read books of the last ten years have first appeared serially in the magazines. One of the most notable of these, though by no means the best, is Trilby, while the author's last book, The Martian, which was, unfortunately, somewhat of a failure, was also offered in this form. Mrs. Humphrey Ward has had Margella, Sir George Tressady, Lady Rose's Daughter, and now her last story, which is running in Harper's. Miss Johnston's three most successful novels have appeared, two in the Atlantic and one in Harper's, during that time. There is scarcely an author who counts for anything in the realms of literature whose name has not appeared in the pages of one or another of the periodicals that we buy on the news stands every month.
This is what makes it necessary for us to read them, and this is why the back numbers have so great an interest and so high a value.

Weak Hearts
are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, the stomach expands—swells and puffs up against the heart. This crowds the heart and shortens the breath. Rapid heart beats and heart disease is the final result. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, takes the strain of the heart, cures indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Daniel Freeman Was Hurt.
Beatrice, Neb., July 12.—Daniel Freeman, the first citizen to file on land under the homestead laws of this country and who gained considerable prominence some time ago in his suit to prevent the reading of the Bible in the school of his district, was brought to his home north-west of this city, today, from Munden, Kansas, by George Freeman and W. D. Carre of Beatrice. Mr. Freeman was thrown out of a buggy at Munden and sustained a fracture of the left hip, afterward lying in the road for several hours before being found by passersby. He was brought home on a stretcher and is now being attended by local physicians. The injury is thought to be serious on account of the age of the patient and the extreme hot weather.—Special to Lincoln Journal.

She Tried Five Doctors.
Mrs. Frances L. Sales of Missouri Valley, Ia., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble five years; had severe pains in my back and a frequent desire to urinate. When riding I experienced much pain over the region of the kidneys. I tried five physicians without benefit and then concluded to try Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three $1 bottles I was completely cured." Sold by A. McMillen.

If there is a chance to boom business, boom it, says an exchange. Don't be a knocker, don't pull a long face and get sour on your stomach. Hope a bit. Get a smile on you. Hold up your head. Get a hold with both hands. Then pull. Bury your hatchet. Drop your tomahawk. Hide your little hammer. When a stranger drops in tell him this is the greatest town on earth. Don't roast. Be jolly. Get popular. It's dead easy. Help yourself along. Push your friend along with you. Soon you'll have a whole procession. Be a good fellow. No man ever helped himself by knocking people down. No man ever got rich trying to make people think he was the only good man on earth. You can't climb the ladder of fame by stepping on other people's corns. They're their corns, not yours, and tender. Keep off the corns. All men are not all alike. Once in a while you may find one who is very much alike. But some are different. You're not the only shirt in the wash. If you don't like their styles let them alone. Don't knock. You'll get used to it. There's no end of fun in minding your own business, and it makes other people like you better. Better have others stuck on you than that you should get stuck on yourself. Nobody ever got stuck on a knocker. Don't be one. Be good.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

542 1-3 Congress St. PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902.
I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-sent to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.
Wilhelmina Snow
Treasurer, Portland Economic League

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

Anton & Magner

Will Defend R. E. Dutton.
R. E. Dutton of Lincoln must appear before the postal department at Washington to show cause why he should not be debarred the use of the United States mails because of a charge of alleged fraud filed against him by Inspector Sinclair. The charge is misuse of the mails to circulate literature treating of magnetic healing and describing Dutton's "marvelous" powers in healing, which is considered by the inspector a misrepresentation of fact.
Dutton was charged with a similar offense in the federal court sometime ago, but a demurrer to the indictment was sustained by Judge Munger and the case was dismissed. Dutton will be represented before the department by R. J. Greene of the firm of Billingsley & Greene, and the defense will be that the terms of the contract issued by Dutton provide that no money is to be paid for the treatment or teaching until the patient or pupil is satisfied good results have been accomplished. The contention is made in regard to healing that the power is mental and that for this reason it would be impossible to prove it false or true because of the extreme liability of witnesses to vary, where the testimony would merely be a matter of opinion.—Lincoln Star.
