

DANBURY.

Mrs. Dowler is still on the sick list.
Rex Miles' baby is on the sick list, this week.
Mr. Adams has moved into his fine residence.
J. L. Sims shipped two cars of hogs to Kansas City, this week.
Mrs. Young is to have the intermediate school again, this year.
Mrs. E. B. Young went to McCook, last Sunday, to attend the normal.
Billy Moss, the first baseman of the Norton club, is visiting his parents.
Misses Dora and Mary Greenway went to McCook to attend the normal, last Sunday.
Mrs. Bolinger, who was visiting her daughter Mrs. E. B. Young, returned to Lebanon, last Saturday.
The Congregational Sunday school had a picnic, this week, in S. W. Stillegebour's grove and report a fine time.
James Williams was surveying on Coon creek, last week, and was caught in a hail storm which demolished his buggy top and gave him a severe pounding. This week he surveys a road through William Shockley's place.

When Fitzsimmons licked Corbett at Carson City, the latter got mad and cried foul; when Jeff knocked Fitz sily he (Fitz) said he was doped, and got mad. Now the other champion—Lebanon—got licked and makes a great roar. Of course the vanquished always feel sore, but don't lover your good standing by talking fight. We are peaceable, here, and always pour oil on the troubled waters. If you expect to win bring a team with you that can play ball. No scrub team can beat our boys, "and don't you forget it." Regarding the grove: Joe and Gene Dolph's lanes are three-fourths of a mile long with tall cottonwoods on both sides of the road, and cannot be surpassed as a shelter from the sun by any grove within 25 miles of Danbury. And there was ample shade along the creek to accommodate all. At least 100 buggies and wagons were inside the inclosure. A man that cannot tell Fred Wiggins, the auctioneer, from the resident minister, surely has an affliction of the eyes.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well." Sold by A. McMillen.

BOX ELDER.

Crops are looking fine.
Fred Lakin finished plowing corn Monday.
Harvesting has commenced in this section of the country.
Fred Satchell and wife spent Sunday with J. K. Gordon and wife.
Mrs. Ben Lytle visited with her sister Mrs. F. G. Lytle, this week.
W. A. Stone and wife visited with Eliza Johnson and mother Sunday.
A. W. Campbell called on George Younger and wife Sunday afternoon.
J. B. Johnson and wife returned to their home at Plattsmouth, Wednesday evening of last week.
Elmer Johnson, Roy and Ernest Lytle went to Alma last Saturday to help their cousins Ernest and Jim Dixon with their harvesting.

While Steve Bolles and Guy Doyle were clearing a stacking ground Monday evening, Guy accidentally struck Steve on the leg just below the knee with the point of a scythe causing a very painful wound. Steve is now in McCook under the doctor's care.

Working Night and Day.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by L. W. McConnell.

Burlington's Low Rate Summer Tours.
The man or woman who takes a vacation during the heated period is the one who lives the longest, enjoys life the most and does the best work.

Mrs. Myrtle Mangus and little boy returned to their home in McCook, Monday evening, after a short visit with A. H. Reynolds and family.

Brooks Quigley died, Friday evening, after a long illness, and was buried in the Indianola cemetery, Sunday afternoon. The funeral was held at the M. E. church, Rev. E. B. Crippen having it in charge.

Mrs. Simon Skinner of Trenton, who has been spending the past few months with her son at Giltner, visited with her brother W. H. Smith and family, the first of the week. She was accompanied by her two grandchildren.

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Boesche's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough racked consumptive. New trial bottles, 25c; large size, 75c. At all druggists.

Less Than Half-Rates to St. Louis and Return.

The Burlington offers another series of low rate excursions to St. Louis and return on Mondays, July 11, 18 and 25. Tickets at $14.75 for the round trip—considerably less than half rate. Tickets are good in coaches and chair cars, seats free. The St. Louis Exposition is the most magnificent spectacle the world has ever beheld, and its like may not occur again in your lifetime. Let me send you our illustrated folder, or call on our agent for full information. L. W. Wakeley, General Passenger Agent, Omaha. 7-8-3t

THE THIEF OF BEAUTY

Is Captured by Bradford's Regulator.
Thousands of young women are awaking to the fact that inherited comeliness has been stolen, and instead of glowing cheeks and bright eyes, the tell-tale wrinkles of pain have taken their place. These are the warning feelings! Weak and tired in the morning, no life to enter upon their former pleasures, irritable, cross, dull headaches, general dispirited feeling, sleepless nights, cold feet, "bearing down" pains. All these symptoms indicate deranged and weakened organs, and exhausted energies follow the weakened condition of the female organs as surely as night follows day. Save yourself from worse results by taking

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator
The most invigorating menstrual regulator in the world. It relieves painful, profuse, obstructed or suppressed menstruation, nervousness, headaches, etc. Beauty of face and symmetry of form are the results of its use. Of druggists $1. Our book, "Perfect Health for Women," free.

A Pen Picture of Queen Anne.

Those outside of a palace may feel Shakespeare's sentiment, "There's such divinity doth hedge a king," but it is hardly possible to those inside. One of the Scotch commissioners to negotiate a union between Scotland and England, Sir John Clerk, could not have felt it during an official interview with Queen Anne, of whom he gives this realistic picture:
"Her majesty was laboring under a fit of the gout and in extreme pain and agony, and on this occasion everything about her was much in the same disorder as about the meanest of her subjects. Her face, which was red and spotted, was rendered something frightful by her negligent dress, and the foot affected was tied up with a pulvis and some nasty bandages.
"I was much affected at this sight, and the more when she had occasion to mention her people of Scotland, which she did frequently to the duke. What are you, poor, meanlike Mortal, thought I, who talks in the style of a Sovereign?
"Nature seems to be inverted when a poor, infirm Woman becomes one of the Rulers of the world, but as Tacitus observes it is not the first time that Women have governed in Britain, and indeed they have sometimes done this to better purpose than the Men."

Six Follies of Science.

The six follies of science are: (1) The squaring of the circle, (2) perpetual motion, (3) the philosopher's stone, (4) the elixir of life, (5) magic and (6) astrology.
In all ages men of undoubted ability have toiled early and late to unravel the mysteries supposed to be connected with these fascinating problems. It is not always remembered that such intellectual giants as Bacon, Sir Robert Boyle and Sir Isaac Newton sought the philosopher's stone, which, strange to say, receives some countenance from the modern theory of alchemy. In the study of astrology Lilly was for a time even pensioned by parliament. Most of these "follies" conferred indirect benefits upon science, for in seeking one thing their devotees discovered many another. The craze for the secret, or unknown, has still its hold upon men and is seen in palmaristry and kindred cults.—London Standard.

A Joke O'Rell Didn't Appreciate.

Max O'Rell was booked to lecture in Hartman's hall in Grand Rapids a number of years ago. Carroll Hartman was having a serious time in inducing the people of the valley city to see the merits of lecturers.
There was a big sale for the O'Rell lecture and Hartman wandered over to the Morton House. In the afternoon to call on the French wit; also to pay him his fee of $100.
"But I have not delivered the lecture yet. Suppose I should die before tonight," said O'Rell, who could not understand why a manager should pay for something not yet delivered.
"Oh, that's all right. I'd exhibit your corpse," replied Hartman. The witty Frenchman never recovered from the shock of Hartman's remark. At any rate, he refused to lecture in Grand Rapids again.—Detroit Free Press.

The Simple Coast Folk.

The Newfoundland coast folk are "wreckers" as well as fishermen—not wreckers in the criminal sense, but expert workmen in stripping and unloading the hulls that are tossed up against the frowning cliffs. Every fisherman can turn his hand to this labor, which frequently pays better than his regular vocation, and salvage schooners find permanent employment there with divers and hoists, recovering from the oozy depths the treasures of the submarine curiosity shop.
The Newfoundlanders of the southern shore counts on "a few wrecks" every year to help him maintain his family.—McClure's.

What's In a Name.

Canvasser—Are you single?
Man at the Door—Yes.
"Why, the folks next door told me you were married."
"So I am."
"Yet you told me just now you were single."
"Yes; so I did."
"Well, what is the matter with you?"
"Nothing, sir. My name is Single, and I'm married. Good day, sir."

The Value of Solitude.

Solitude, the safeguard of mediocrity, is to genius the stern friend, the old, obscure shelter, where molt the wings which will bear it farther than sun and stars. He who would inspire and lead his race must be defended from traveling with the souls of other men, from living, breathing, reading and writing in the daily time worn yoke of their opinion.—Emerson.

Better Than Art.

"Yes," said D'Auber, the artist, patronizingly, "I'm selling my canvases now at my own prices."
"You don't say?" replied Sharpley, whose works had not yet caught on.
"Yes, indeed. I suppose you'd give a good deal to be a great artist."
"No, indeed. I'd rather be you."—Exchange.

Quite a Different Thing.

Nagsby—Would you regard it as immodesty in a man to speak of his own good looks?
Wagsby—Well, it depends. If it were you I should call it plain lying.—Exchange.

Painfully Matter of Fact.

"If a fairy should appear to you and offer you three wishes," said the imaginative young woman, "what would you do?"
"I'd sign the pledge," answered the matter of fact man.—Washington Star.

But one-eighth of an iceberg is above the water.

BARTLEY.

George Carr has recently purchased residence property here.
Rev. Meeker's son arrived from the east Thursday morning.
C. E. Matthews has his new home about ready for the painters.
Mrs. C. W. Hodgkin went to Farnam, Friday morning, to visit relatives.
Bert Young has gone to Lincoln to work for the Adams Threshing Machine Co.
The hullo phone is in working order now and the wires are kept hot communicating sense and nonsense.
Mesdames Emma Hodgkin and Lila Ritchie returned this week from their visit with Mrs. Stenner in Kansas.
J. A. Malumbury of Omaha was here this week looking after some improvements on his farm northeast of here.
Jinks Fletcher the painter has commenced putting up a residence for himself and will soon have a neat little home.
George Liston returned to McCook, Saturday evening, and will resume his position as night clerk in the new Palmer hotel.
Cyrus Cowles and wife returned from Iowa, this week, where they had been visiting a brother. They have gone to Blakeman, Kansas, to visit their daughter Mrs. Irene Stenner.
Hail and wind Friday night and Saturday afternoon were very destructive in this vicinity. A strip about 12 miles long and 2 miles wide was covered by the hail. Small grain, fruit and gardens all destroyed, corn badly injured but will partly recover and make half crop.

Mrs. J. N. Lathrop died at her home north of town Thursday morning about six o'clock. She has been a great sufferer for many weeks with disease of the stomach. Everything that medical skill and friends could do has been done but all of little avail. The funeral services were held at the home and at the Mt. Zion church. The body was interred in the Mt. Zion cemetery Thursday afternoon. All deeply mourn her death and sympathize with the husband and family.

In Medieval Cities.

There can be no doubt that one reason why cities did not grow so rapidly in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries as in the nineteenth is the excessively high death rate that prevailed during the earlier period. The flood of immigration, mighty as it was, did little more than make good the places of those citizens who fell victims to grievous sanitary conditions. From the facts that can be obtained it seems to have been universally true that almost up to the beginning of the nineteenth century the death rate of large cities exceeded the birth rate. This was not because the birth rate was abnormally low, but because the death rate was abnormally high. In the medieval city both birth rate and death rate were far higher than at present. Infant mortality must have mounted to a grewsome height. The uncleanness and overcrowding of city dwellers, now largely relegated to the slums of our great cities, was the normal state of nearly all classes of society in the London and Paris of Louis and Elizabeth.—Professor Edwin O. Jordan in Popular Science Monthly.

Consul King David.

This amusing anecdote of Lamartine is related by the Baroness Bonde in her volume of letters: Shortly after the revolution of February he wrote on the blank leaves of his pocketbook the names of his proteges and sent the list to be provided with places immediately. Previously, however, it seems, he had scribbled "David" on the page, and the head of the cabinet appointed the said David consul at Bremen; the postulant, however, never came forward, and, though the poet did not like being disturbed, M. Hetroz was obliged to ask who was the David on his list.
"He who danced before the ark," was the answer.
"Oh, dear! I have gazetted him to Bremen!"
"How very singular! I meant him for a subject for meditation, not for nomination. But you can cancel it!"
The minister registered the change, but few knew that the last consul appointed to Bremen was King David!

Where Diplomacy is Needed.

Praise is one of the most difficult of things to deal out satisfactorily. If you do not praise a man as liberally as he thinks he deserves, he hates you; if you overpraise him, he sets you down as a sharper or a fool.—Boston Transcript.

TESTIMONIAL

Delmont, S. D., Dec. 17, 1902.
I used L. K. for hog cholera and it was all right. It cured my hogs. I had three sick ones and they all got well and done fine. I also used it for chicken lice and mites and it is all I claim for it. It is the only medicine for hog cholera, I think.
GOTTLIEB JERRE.
Harrington, Neb., Dec. 11, 1902.
I am using Liquid Kool and am well pleased with it. I am sure I saved my hogs with it last year, and am going to keep it in stock all the time as it is the best thing I ever had on the place for everything it is intended for. It is used for chicken cholera, lice on stock, insects of all kinds; it will destroy all kinds.
