UNSAFE! UNSAFE!

Democratic Charge Against President Roosevelt That is Without Foundation.

THREE YEARS IN WHITE HOUSE

And at No Time Has Anything Been Done That Did Not Tend Toward Peace with All the World.

When the bitter personal attacks on Theodore Roosevelt are analyzed, and when a Democratic agitator is asked to define his opposition to the president, the inevitable reply is that "Roosevelt is an unsafe man."

Now, is he?

What makes an unsafe man? When is a man safe and when is he dangerous? How are we to judge a man—by what he has done or by what some one says he may do? Are we justified in calling a man unsafe who has all his life been eminently safe? Is not a man entitled to the reputation he makes for himself?

For three years Theodore Roosevelt has had absolute power, as president of the United States, and yet during that three years, although called to the great office suddenly, as the result of a horrible murder, he has never lost his head. He has never done a dangerous thing, he has at no time involved the country in difficulties, either at home or abroad.

False Predictions.
 Immediately following the murder of William McKinley predictions were freely made in the Democratic press that President Roosevelt would involve the country in war. Has he done so?

It was also freely predicted that he would break with the Republican majority in the house and the senate, and that he would insist on having his own way, disregarding the advice of the time-honored leaders of the party. Has he done so?

Does not every one know, on the contrary, that the conditions of peace between the United States and the rest of the world were never more securely anchored than today? This has not been because the president has not had an opportunity to go to war. There have been half a dozen such opportunities at the very least since he became president, when, if he had been the unsafe man he was alleged to be, he might easily have involved us in war with one or more of the great powers of Europe. He has met every diplomatic emergency with rough and ready diplomacy and extraordinary tact, which have won for the United States the respect of the civilized world.

partment under Theodore Roosevelt for the last three years, and see how much has been accomplished to uphold the dignity and the honor of the United States, without at any time causing the slightest apprehension of foreign war. It was during the present administration that a special commission was appointed to adjust the disputed boundary between Alaska and the Dominion of Canada. Some of the Canadian people and papers talked rather savagely. There was every opportunity for a mis-step on the part of the United States. A little too much bluster, a little too pronounced brag, failure in tact at the proper moment, a substitution of timidity for bravery, or of rashness for conservatism by Theodore Roosevelt would have fanned the feeling in Canada into a dangerous flame. The Alaska boundary was an inheritance from the McKinley administration, but it was safely settled under Roosevelt, settled to the credit of the United States, settled without the loss of an inch of American territory, and settled, too, without the destruction of the friendly feeling between Great Britain and the United States.

When Germany and England were at the throats of the little republic of Venezuela, an unsafe president might easily have involved us in war with those two countries, and a timid president might easily have brought upon the flag the shame of the rest of the world. Russia and Japan have been at war. The sentiment of the people in this country has been largely in favor of Japan. Yet John Hay, the wise and discreet secretary of state, appointed by McKinley and unhesitatingly retained by Roosevelt, has so successfully directed the course of American diplomacy that the United States today is as much the friend of Russia as it is of the little fighting-cock, Japan. The United States, in fact, has dictated the diplomatic conduct of hostilities between Russia and Japan. This country has dominated the situation, and yet at no time has there been the slightest danger that we might become embroiled with any foreign nation.

Safe Every Day in the Year.
 These are the actual results of three years of the foreign policy of Theodore Roosevelt, the man who, when he entered the White House as the result of a murderous bullet, was by his political adversaries pictured to the other nations of the world as a braggart and swashbuckler. He has been safe, always safe, every day and every hour, since he has been president of the United States. He has never lowered the American flag to anybody, he has never been forced to apologize and he has conducted every episode of our foreign policy, with the advice of John Hay, in such a way as to preserve the honor of the American republic, and to gain the respect of the sovereigns of the world. There is not a king, nor an emperor, nor a president, nor a potentate from Peking to Timbuctoo who does not know today that Theodore Roosevelt is of the best American type, honest, frank, courageous, sensible, and always safe for those who treat him fairly.

Men of the Roosevelt type are unsafe only to the dishonest, to the disturbers of the peace of nations, to the grafters at home and the grabbers abroad, to the manipulators of markets and the wreckers of nations. To the honest men, to the people of the home and the fireside, to the good king and to the good subject, the Roosevelt type is the safest thing in all this world.

The Same Old Difference.
 Two flies stood close together on a screen. "It's pleasant weather," said the first fly. "I'm glad you think so," buzzed the second fly. "It's well enough, I suppose, but it looks like rain."
 "Let her rain," said the first fly. "Who cares? I believe in making the best of things. What's the use of kicking all the time?"
 "I admit," said the second fly, "that there's no use in kicking, but if you don't kick there's little else to do. I tell you this is a hard world. I see mighty little in it. I'm disgusted with the whole trouble."
 "The trouble with you is," said the first fly, "that you are a pessimist, and I'm an optimist. I naturally look on the bright side of things, and you look on the dark. It's a question of temperament. I can't help being happy, and you can't help being unhappy. We were born so. It's fate, pure and simple. That, my friend, is the difference between us."
 The second fly buzzed satirically. "That's where you're way off," he replied. "As a matter of fact, the difference between us is simply this: I'm on the outside and you're on the inside of this screen."—Collier's.

Financial.
 Hicks—I've got to borrow $200 somewhere.
 Wicks—Take my advice and borrow $300 while you are about it.
 Hicks—But I only need $200.
 Wicks—That doesn't make any difference. Borrow $200 and pay back $100 of it in two installments at intervals of a month or so. Then the man that you borrow from will think that he is going to get the rest of it.—Somerville Journal.

Why They Delayed.
 The Russian commander stamped his spurred heel impatiently.
 "Why the deuce," he ejaculated; "why the deuce doesn't that battery go into action?"
 "Why, general," said an aid reproachfully, "can't you see that the men have not yet arrived with the moving picture machine?"—Judge.

Genial Jane.
 Jane—After looking at me for a minute or two Harry said, "Do you know, Jane, that a veil improves you greatly?"
 Carrie—Not very complimentary.
 Jane—No; but what pleased me was the fine tact he employed in imparting an unpleasant thought.—Boston Transcript.

The Lucky Day.
 "What day of the week do you think is the luckiest to get married on?" queried the soft and sweet young thing.
 "The eighth," replied the confirmed bachelor, refusing to be sentimental even for a minute.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Proficient Charles.
 "Does your husband take as much interest in horse racing as he used to?"
 "Yes," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "Charles can always tell the day before a race which horse ought to win and the day after why he didn't."

Fearful Odds Against Him.
 Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies. "I am on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for liver and kidney troubles and all forms of stomach and bowel complaints. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by L. W. McConnell, druggist.

The Start

In married life is generally sane on an equal footing of health in man and wife. But how soon, in many cases, the wife loses the advantage and fades in face and fails in flesh, while her husband grows even more rugged and robust.

There is one chief cause for this wifely failure and that is, the failure of the womanly health. When there is irregularity or an unhealthy drain, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, the general health is soon impaired.

$500 REWARD!
 FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Proflapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"A little over a year ago I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Elizabeth J. Fisher, of Diana, Va. "You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did, and with the most happy result. I was troubled with female weakness and bearing-down pains. Had a very bad pain nearly all the time in my left side, nervousness and headache. Was so weak I could hardly walk across my room. Could not sit up only just a little while at a time. My husband got me some of Dr. Pierce's medicine and I began its use. Before I had taken two bottles I was able to help do my work. I used three bottles in all and it cured me. Now I do all my housework. It is the best medicine I ever used."

A Continual Strain.
 Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on kidney and liver ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

Cured of Bright's Disease.
 George A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence county, N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." Sold by A. McCullen.
