Home for Families of Bandits.
Not actuated by remorse, but by pure philanthropy, Jim Jenkins, hunter of outlaws, has concluded to devote all his money to the maintenance of a home for the orphans and widows of men he has run to earth, in particular, and of criminals of the great Southwest in general. Jim Jenkins, now of Kansas, is now 65 years old and has spent forty years as a scout and hunter of bandits and train robbers. In this way he has made about $50,000. Among the distinguished outlaws he has chased were Jesse James and his brother, Bob Ford, Bill Dalton and Bill Cook, while he was the leader of the band that caught Cherokee Bill in 1895. In the Dalton raid in Coffeyville, Kas., Jenkins was shot eight times. He estimates his bag of bad men at about 150. The home, which is being built on a 5,000-acre farm owned by Jenkins, near Pryor Creek, I. T., is to cost $20,000.—Buffalo Express.

THE SAVING HABIT
Should be encouraged in all possible ways. Like good morals and manners, the instruction should begin in the home. As early habits mold the future character, so do those who early acquire the saving habit, lay the foundation for future success. Many a boy has saved enough from his small earnings to give him a liberal education or to make a start in business of his own. Persistent saving opens the way to countless possibilities in success, and many a young man owes his start in life to his having opened a savings account and adhered to a strong determination to add to regularly and systematically the first deposit made. We invite your savings accounts.
