CHICAGO LADY ENTERTAINERS
Have won the approval and endorsement, without a single exception, of the committee, the press and the public in the various cities of the forty-two different states where they have appeared during the past three seasons.

STELLA L. HITCHCOCK
Possessing a high soprano voice of great beauty and birdlike clearness, which combined with a fine stage presence, makes her a star attraction. She is a charming lyric singer, both captivating and artistically perfect.

MARCIA M. MOORHEAD
Is a good musician and more especially an excellent accompanist, playing with great expression and spirit. She fully understands the art of following, and yet sustaining, the voice parts, so necessary to successful solo singing.

BESSIE M. MERCER
Has a rich and unique contralto voice of unusually low range, suited to pathetic and dramatic singing, and sings with equal facility in lighter vein and never fails to thrill her audience.

ESTELLE M. CLARK
As an interpretative reader is an artist and her impersonations form a chain of purest gold, each link without a flaw, encircling the entire list of characters known to the art of expression.

Dr. D. F. Fox, a lecturer well known and admired in McCook, says:
The Chicago Lady Entertainers closed our last season's lecture course in such a very satisfactory manner that they were promptly secured for the opening number this year. Most successfully did they fill the demand for an attraction that would insure not only the largest attendance, regardless of the many counter-Thanksgiving night events, but the greatest help in the advance sale of season tickets as well. It was the only re-engagement of our course. A more delighted audience never went away from our church. I give them my unqualified commendation.—D. F. Fox, Pastor California Avenue Congregational church, Chicago.

Robert Sutton Succumbs.

Last Saturday morning about six o'clock, Robert Sutton, whose long illness and recent operation have been a source of much anxious inquiry in this community for the past few weeks, passed away suddenly after hopes were entertained that his recovery was a probability. The abscess involved an artery and the end came quickly.

The funeral services were held at the home, Monday afternoon, attested the depth of sympathy aroused in this community in the death of this son, flowers, affection and sympathy going out in lavish spontaneity from many sources to the living as well as to the dead.

Rev. M. B. Carman of the Methodist church conducted the brief services and a quartette, composed of Mrs. A. P. Bonnot, Miss Ida McCarl, Mr. Stewart B. McLean and Mr. J. Raymond McCarl, providing the simple, touching music of the sad occasion.

The pall-bearers were Floyd Curran, John Burnett, Willie Morris, Galen Perry, Arthur Pronger, Floyd Stayner, all chums of departed and schoolmates. The boys of the eighth grade of the city schools of which departed was a member attended the funeral and burial in a body. They marched ahead of the remains to Longview cemetery, where during the choir's singing "Lead Kindly Light," they marched about the open grave and each offered a floral tribute—carnations—to the memory of the schoolmate gone on before.

Robert was born in this city, February 22, 1891.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd of Omaha were present at the funeral, the latter a sister of Mrs. Sutton, being still in the city.

On motion the clerk was instructed to notify the owners of this action.

The ordinance committee was instructed to have C. H. Meeker make a preliminary survey, draw plans and specifications, with estimates etc., for a sewerage system for the city of McCook.

J. S. LeFlew and Mrs. Mary Waite were appointed members of the library board to fill vacancies.

Burial of Mrs. J. V. O'Connell.

An Important Step Taken.

At the last session of the city council, this week Monday, an important step was taken by the city authorities, when they empowered the ordinance committee to secure the service of C. H. Meeker to make a survey, run levels etc., draw plans and write specifications, cost etc., of an adequate sewerage system for the city of McCook. For years there has been much talk about the necessity of a sewerage system for McCook. The cost of the preliminary work has in the past precluded anything being done by the authorities. This work will take in the neighborhood of $300.00, but the object to be gained is well worthwhile and so far as it goes will be a permanent asset of the city. And without it, we will never even know whether the project is practicable from a monetary point of view.

This step authorized by the city council will determine the matter of feasibility and practicability and the council will then be in position to tell the people of the city what it will cost, what sections of the city can be served by the proposed sewers etc., what connections will cost the property-holders and in fact it is proposed to secure all needed information the citizens of McCook may need to act and vote upon this question intelligently.

THE TRIBUNE endorses this business-like action of the council, and as the matter develops will take pleasure in giving publicity to the results of their action as brought out by Mr. Meeker in his work. The people of McCook are now in line to know whether or not they really want a system of sewers. We need the system. The question is will we be willing to pay the price. It would be a good investment in money and in health. It would mark a distinct advance in the development of this city.

Get Off on the Right Foot.
The Citizens Entertainment Course got off on the right foot, Wednesday evening, in its first number of the season's series of entertainments. Bohumir Kyril and his company came up to all reasonable expectations and highly and profitably entertained a large and appreciative hearing. Mr. Kyril's cornet work captivated and his recalls were unreasonably numerous—his audience was fairly gluttonous. Miss Roberts, the reader, had the audience from the outset, and they would not be satisfied but must be satiated, and like her blond, many-haired chief, she responded often and well. Miss Heinrich's singing was wholesome, understandable, voluminous, delightful. As to the daintily goateed Herr Heinrich, well he will grow. In toto it was very satisfactory.

Died of Blood Poisoning.
Mrs. August Miller of Frontier county died on Saturday morning last, of blood poisoning, and was buried on Sunday in the Lutheran cemetery—Emmanuel cemetery—southeast of St. Ann, Frontier county.

Deceased was a daughter—Louise—of August Droll, being married to August Miller, October 14th, 1903. Two young children were born to them—both however, preceding the mother into the spirit land, the youngest about two weeks since. Services were held at the home on the Willow, Sunday, Elder H. H. Berry of this city officiating.
