Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

Pygmy Ota
and His Pet Chimpanzee

MUCH interest attaches to the presence at the New York Zoological park of a little fellow from Africa named Ota Benga, a pygmy of the tribe known as Bachichi, meaning bushmen. He is the only specimen of the African pygmies at present in the United States, though six little black people from the same part of Africa were a part of the exhibit in ethnology at the St. Louis world's fair. But the fact that little Ota is here all by himself and is a rare specimen of the human race does not account altogether for the interest taken in him.

Ota Benga was brought to this country by Dr. Samuel P. Verner, the explorer and ethnologist who had charge of the pygmies at St. Louis. After restoring the latter to their homes in the African wilds Dr. Verner came across Ota Benga on one of the southern tributaries of the Kongo, where he was a captive in the hands of a cannibal tribe. Knowing that he was liable to be eaten by his captors, Dr. Verner rescued the little man and tried to send him back to his tribesmen. This proving impracticable, Ota begged to be taken to the United States.

On arrival here the explorer tried to put him in an orphan asylum, but was unsuccessful. It thus happened that he was placed under the care of Director William T. Hornaday at the New York Zoological park. Here he was quartered in a room vacated for him by a keeper containing a bed and running water. He took a bath every morning and was allowed to run about the park, but in the afternoons to allow people to see him was placed in a big open air cage, there being no platform suitable for the purpose, where he disposed himself, made nets and hammocks and arrows, counted his money and played with a chimpanzee. It was this latter feature which proved objectionable. It was noised abroad that a man was being exhibited in a cage with a monkey to show the supposed close connection between the two species of beings, and this led to protest, particularly on the part of the colored people of New York, who regarded the matter in the light of a special insult to them. The director of the park denied that the pygmy was placed on view with any such idea.

The incident raises many interesting questions respecting the comparative development of different branches of the human race and the time man as a human being, supposing he was ever anything else, has been on the earth. Though there are interesting and curious points of resemblance between a member of the simian tribe and any member of the human race, black or white, red or yellow, it is yet a far cry from Ota Benga, the pygmy, to the chimpanzee with whom he plays. Ota Benga is twenty-three years old and four feet eleven inches in height. It might be supposed that he and his tribesmen, being so small, are more nearly related to the apes, granting that any relationship between the human and simian species exists, than men of races which attain larger size. But Ota Benga is not a representative of the lowest order of savage. There are larger tribes which are less developed than he and his tribesmen. He is bright and has mastered a good many English words already and is skillful at manual work. How long the pygmies have lived in Africa, where they came from and how they came to be smaller than the tribes around them are questions the scientists have not yet been able to answer.

America's Greatest Weekly

The Toledo Blade

Toledo, Ohio.

The Best Known Newspaper in the United States.

Circulation 185,000

Popular in Every State.

In many respects the Toledo Blade is the most remarkable weekly newspaper published in the United States. It is the only newspaper especially edited for national circulation. It has had the largest circulation for more years than any newspaper printed in America. Furthermore, it is the cheapest newspaper in the world, as will be explained to any person who will write us for terms. The news of the world so arranged that busy people can more easily comprehend, than by reading cumbersome columns of dailies. All current topics made plain in each issue by special editorial matter written from inception down to date. The only paper published especially for people who do or do not read daily newspapers, and yet thirst for plain facts. That this kind of a newspaper is popular, is proven by the fact that the Weekly Blade now has over 185,000 yearly subscribers, and is circulated in all parts of the United States. In addition to the news, the Blade publishes short and serial stories, and many departments of matter suited to every member of the family. Only one dollar a year.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for women's special use, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which is in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.
