

Eugene V. Debs, Labor Leader and Socialist-Mrs. William T. Stead. Daniel C. Gilman-Sir Chentung Liang Cheag-Miss Clara Clemens. Adolphus Busch and the Earthquake.

EUGENE V. DEBS. prominence about fifteen years ago as president of the then powerful American Railway union. He has twice been candidate for president on the Socialist ticket. He was once asked what would be done with such captains of industry as Rockefeller, Carnegie, Havemeyer and the Goulds and Vanderbilts under a socialistic regime.

"Their wealth will be gradually absorbed into the common ownership of products," he replied. "We offer them a glorious field for their energy and genius. A man like Mr. Rockefeller could organize and direct the oil industries of the country for the benefit of the people. He would live comfortably and, I believe, happily and would not have to lie awake at night racked with the responsibilities of too great wealth.

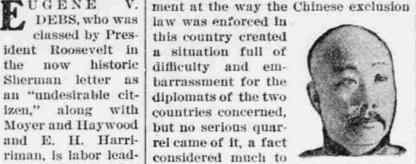

"Mr. Havemeyer could preside over the sugar making industries and see that they were managed prudently. Mr. Carnegie would be a great power in the building up of a co-operative commonwealth. We have no word of abuse for rich men. A man who has many millions is the unhappy slave of his money. Our co-operative commonwealth will relieve the millionaire as well as the involuntary tramp. The wealth of the country and the machinery for turning it into useful forms must be owned by the people in common."

When Andrew Carnegie invited the noted English editor and reformer William T. Stead to visit America at his expense to attend the dedication of negie institute," an attache of the hotel said.

The reporters hurried after Dr. Gilman to apologize, but failed to find

There has been a good deal to disturb pleasant relations between Americans and Chinese since Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, who is about to retire from the post of Chinese minister to the United States, took up his residence at Washington. The boycott of American goods resulting from resent-the credit of the SIR CHENTUNG Chinese minister, LIANG CHENG. who is quite American in his ideas, owing, in part, to his having been educated as a young man at American institutions of learning. He has been recalled in order that he may receive promotion from his government for his valuable services as a diplomat. Sir Chentung is to be appointed a member of the Chinese board of foreign affairs, a body created after the suppression of the Boxer uprising. His successor in this country will be Liang Tun Yeng, at present Chinese customs taotal at Tientsin.

Sir Chentung approves of many of the improvements in vogue in America, but he has an aversion to automobiles. For this he is indebted to an experience he had in California when he was on his way to make an address at the state university. In relating his adventure Sir Chentung said: "I noticed in front of me a long, wet stretch of muddy street, and without any warning the machine headed for the nearest lamp post. I told the chauffeur to straighten his course, and he just stuck his nose further over the wheel, and I decided he was intoxicatautomobile 'skidded.' At any rate, we smashed into the sidewalk. The whole right side of my head was bruised, and I had to get out and walk to the university. I never was very fond of automobiles, and now that their little peculiarity of 'skidding' nearly cost strictly alone."

eral members of his family, has started | said to me, "This is the burial place of the early printing is the fact that the paper and binding were so much bet-Louis collector.

BOOKS AND BINDINGS.

A Critic's Comparison of the Modern With the Ancient.

and bound by presumably reputable number, like those of the familiar starfirms, and yet after six or eight years fish, and these arms are divided into of careful use the paper is coming to minute branches, like the twigs on a pieces and the bindings are gone, while side by side with them are books 300 thought fit for use. Paper was hand- caught and about to die, remaining in made of real linen rags. Now book that shape when dried. eather is ready two or three weeks after the calf has been skinned. Paner is machine made of heaven knows dredge, for that is the only way it can what. Of course there may be honest- be taken) throws off these arms or ly made paper and strong binding now, parts of them, so that a perfect specihundred years ago good binding and pa- ral condition. per were the rule. Now they are the the paper, but still the fact remains pulling themselves along. that neither the temperature nor the gases affect the work of the old printers, so the difference, after all, is one of quality."-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A COINCIDENCE.

Peculiar Combination of Events Related by Andrew Lang.

As to "the long arm of coincidence," it may be as long as is necessary. Nothing is impossible to coincidence. An instance of my own experience, ed. But, do you know, he was just as book, "Out of the Hurly Burly," and them that they may provide for a hap- cellar sixty feet below the street levsober as he could be, and he said the some of the rhymes ran in my head. py old age by laying up a reserve of el."-Judge. They began:

> Bury Bartholomew out in the woods In a beautiful hole in the ground.

In the afternoon I drove with a party of friends, and we took the refreshment of tea at a house where there were several other guests, all unknown | ly than to dread the future. It is esme my right eye I shall leave them to me even by name. As two of these lived at a place on our homeward route, they accompanied us in our ve-Adolphus Busch, the multimillion- hicle. As we passed a wood on a hillaire St. Louis brewer, who, with sev- side one of these anonymous strangers

BASKET FISH.

When Dried, the Queer Arms Closely Resemble Plaster of Paris.

At its marine residence, away down "One of the strangest things about in deep water, the name on the door plate would be "Astrophyton," and it belongs to a species called ophiurans. ter than we have nowadays," said a St. It has a well marked control disk, not unlike a clam, but has no shell. From "I have books on my shelves printed this central body radiate arms, five in tree, until they number in some cases a thousand separately defined hairlike years old with paper intact and the tendrils. While the body is not large, bindings as good as new. The differ- the branches when extended measure ence is of course in honesty of ma- about eighteen inches in diameter. The hide was allowed to lie in the tan- these branches until it closely resem-

These arms and their subdivisions rare, also the costly, exceptions. It is are almost white when dried and closetrue that the high temperatures of the ly resemble plaster of paris. They are houses, the gases and coal fumes may very brittle, easily broken and cannot amination and study.-St. Nicholas.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG.

Be Hopeful, Avoid Worry and See the Amusing Side of Life. Women more than men are possessed with a dread of growing old, not realizing that maturity has its charms sound health and a store of happy memories as well as by cultivating tastes and resources which will outlast youth. As for those who are already approaching middle age, there is no surer way to grow old prematuresential, if we wish to keep young, to cultivate that hopeful habit of mind so characteristic of youth-the hope which makes one able to say with Browning, "The best is yet to come," and with Lucy Larcum, "Every year life is lar-derstanding of ourselves, a broadening of active human sympathies, a firmer faith in Providence, we shall find life abundantly worth the living, no matter what may be the number of our birthdays.-Western Review.

The Heart of a Child.

That which disparages us and quickens revolt is no less a factor in a child's emotional life. But there is this difference-we have the better opportunity to defend ourselves and to obtain reparation. So there is a certain pathetic pleasure in standing with humanity where its joys, its longings, its embarrassments and its disappointments are simplest and newest, and, perforce, where impotency is absolute. terial and work. In the old days a creature has the power of incurling Give me this most uncommercial, this divinest of enterprises for my own! ner's vats for a year before it was bles a shallow dish. This it does when Give me a child to be at home with, to be in absolute confidence with! If I cannot refashion my warped, wrin-

It has been given the name of basket kled and discolored old soul into the fish. It frequently (when caught by a unbiased graces and the ethereal purity of the spirit of the child, let me now and again open that little door and shut myself in that little heart, just for as there were then, but a couple of men is hard to be procured in its natu- the sheer delight of it .- Patterson Du Bols in Success Magazine,

Bad For Tall Hats.

New Year's eve, which is sacred to St. Sylvester, is celebrated in Berlin have something to do with impairing be repaired. The fish live among the by the blowing of tin horns, the ringleather bindings, for, as everybody roots of seaweeds and are supposed to ing of bells and all other devices for knows, a stout cloth or canvas binding feed upon these, moving about by making a noise. The only horse play is better than the leather now used. wriggling and clambering with their indulged in is at the expense of the The same influences may also damage arms or fastening upon the roots and wearer of the silk tile. Any one on the street is privileged to bring his Most of the knowledge regarding cane down on the crown of the oftheir habits is conjecture, for none fending headgear as hard and as often have been taken alive and kept for suf- as he can. When the man with the ficient time to give them proper ex- dilapidated hat complains to the police the only consolation he gets is, "It serves you right for wearing it on Sylvester night."

"You are anaemic," says the physician after thumping and prodding. "You should practice deep breathing." "Deep breathing." retorts the pasaid Andrew Lang, convinces me of and compensations. We wish young tient. "Why, doctor, that is just what this fact. I had been reading a foolish people oftener had it impressed upon I do all the time. I work in a subway

Dr. Story, the late principal of Glasgow university, taking a holiday in the country once, was met by the minister of the district, who remarked: "Hello, principal! You here? Why, you must come and relieve me for a day." The principal replied, "I don't promise to relieve you, but I might relieve your congregation."

Merchants and Bankers, Attention! I buy notes and accounts against corporation and railroad employees. 5 17-3t R. J. ORGAN, Council Bluffs, Iowa. Room 2, Brown Block.

MCCOOK, NEBRASKA

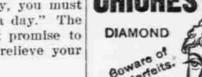

Real Estate

and Insurance

First door south of Fearn's gallery McCook, Nebraska

C. E. ELDRED C. H. BOYLE BOYLE & ELDRED ATTORNEYS AT I AW Long Distance Phone 44 Rooms 1 and 7, second floor. McLook, Neb. Postoffice Building CHICHESTER'S PILLS BRAND of the national arbitration and peace congress, he told him to bring his wife along. The editor decided to accept the steel magnate's invitation for his wife as well as for himself, and Mrs. Stead has expressed herself as greatly, enjoying her stay a mong Americans. She was Miss Emma L. Wilson and married Mr. Stead in MRS. W. T. STEAD.

1873. Mr. and Mrs. Stead have had four sons and two daughters. Two of their sons married American women-William, Miss Royce of Chicago, and Alfred, Miss Hussy of Indianapolis. Mrs. Stead has stood loyally by her eminent husband in all the strenuous episodes of his distinguished and useful career.

Dr. Austin Flint, the famous alienist, who testified in the Thaw case, said at the Century club in New York apropos of a will contest that had been tried last year.

"The plaintiff lost, and no wonder. His case was as difficult a one as that of the young man who appeared unduly depressed after the death of his rich aunt.

"'Why are you so sad?' an acquaint ance said to the young man. 'You never appeared to care much for your aunt.'

"'I didn't,' said the youth dolefully. 'but I was the means of keeping her in an insane asylum the last five years of her life, and now that she has left me all her money I've got to go to court and prove that she was of sound mind.""

When the noted actress Mabelle Gilman arrived in New York from Europe to become the bride of William E. Corey, head of the steel trust, newspaper men were on 'he lookout for her relatives in order to interview them about the approaching nuptials. It so happened that on the register of the hotel where the popular actress went on leaving the steamer they found the signature "D. C. Gilman, Baltimore."

One of the newspaper writers promptly looked up the owner of the signature, who proved to be a digni-

DANIEL C. GILMAN. "No. I have not rlage?" another reporter asked. "Who is Mabelle?" asked the inter-health by the visit to the old world. Mr. Busch was in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake about a year ago and was thrown out of bed by the shaking the hotel in which he was stopping received. It was a shock to the rich brewer in more than one sense of the word, and his health has suffered from it since. Mr. Busch was born in Mainz, Germany, and came to this country at eighteen, engaging in the brewing of beer and in time becoming connected with other lines of business also. He is a generous patron of ADOLPHUS BUSCH. art and of charitable institutions and was active in the work of interesting the business men of his native Germany in the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis in 1904. Mr. Busch is quite democratic, and the saloon keepers of St. Louis hold him in great affection. A well known writer tells of going into a small saloon in the suburbs of St. Louis and falling into a friendly chat with the proprietor, a native of Germany. As the writer was about to leave the beer dispenser walked from behind the bar, took him by the arm, walked him to the end of the counter and stopped him. "Stan' right dair," he said as he stepped off a few feet, still facing his visitor. "Adolf Busch he stan' right vair you is las' night t'ree hours."

The popularity of Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) causes the public to take especial interest in the efforts of his daughter, Miss Clara Clemens, to attain fame on her own account. But Miss Clemens has chosen music rather than literature as her field, and she is ambitious to win a name for herself as a singer without regard to her father's eminence in literature. She has many of his characteristics, and her resemblance to him is considered striking by many. Miss Clemens studied music in Europe and has achieved CLEMENS. a singer. Since making her professional debut in this country she has been making steady progress toward popular favor. She possesses a rich contralto voice, and her singing gives evidence of the care-seen Mabelle," he replied tartly. Enrique Creel, the new Mexican am-"Do you approve of Mabelle's marbassador, said at a dinner in Washcinnati Leader. ington apropos of unpleasant truths: "Why should we ever tell them? They Friends Now. are always unnecessary and how they newed guest, evidently puzzled "Why, Mabelle Gilman, the actress and fiancee of William Ellis Corey. Isn't she your daughter?" 'You were embarrassed when you pro- ment.-Philadelphia Press. The scholarly man walked away inposed to me, Percival, were you not? dignantly. 'Yes,' the man answered; 'I owed "That's Dr. Gilman, former president $300.000.* " of Johns Hopkins and head of the Carto deserve it .- Ovid.

the Carnegie institute and the sessions on a European trip, hopes to benefit his the Murrays of Glendhubreac." I absently and automatically replied;

Bury Bartholomew out in the woods In a beautiful hole in the ground. A kind of chill blight settled on the party, though one of them tactfully asked me what poet I was quoting. When we had set down our two strangers at their own home I was asked whether I knew the name of the gentleman on whom I had expended my poetical quotation? Of course I did not know, and of course his surname was Bartholomew, while, as he seemed in bad health, my citation had an air of brutal appropriateness. "Thus does fortune banter us," for Bartholomew is a most unusual name in Scotland.

Superstitious.

A well known New Yorker, while dining at his club one evening, observed that his order of oysters on the shell was not complete, that of the only eleven bivalves instead of the shell was not complete, there being reflecting that his waiter, an Irishman, was a newcomer, he decided to let the matter pass, but when on the next evening the same thing occurred he became a trifle impatient.

"See here," exclaimed he to the waiter, "what do you mean by bringing me eleven oysters when I order twelve? This is the second time that this thing has happened."

"Sure, sir," quietly responded the Celt, "I didn't think you would want to risk being thirteen at table, sir."

When Life Is Wasted.

Life is wasted every time one gives away to gloomy, selfish angry or revengeful thoughts; when resentment or a grudge against man or fate is allowed to find root in the heart; when the temper is let fly loose over a trifle; when one goes to pieces nervously when obliged to repeat a remark and the voice is allowed to rise in anger; when one forgets that a loose temper is a sign of vulgarity and lack of culture.-Philadelphia Press.

Julius Caesar.

The consensus of learned opinion is to the effect that history's all around greatest man was Julius Caesar, the originator of Roman imperialism. Caesar was great as a general and great as a writer and speaker, but greater as a statesman. Could he have been spared the assassin's dagger and been permitted to live ten years longer he might have set civilization ahead a full thousand years .- New York American.

Misled.

Mrs. Gadsby-I'll get even with Mrs. Gabble. Mrs. Gibby-What has she done to you? Mrs. Gadsby-She told me that Mrs. Guffy wasn't at home, so I hurried over to make a call on her. and she was at home, after all .- Cin-

Tom-Have you had any spats with wound! I have heard of an American | your girl lately? Dick-No. We're countess or duchess-I forget which- great friends now. Tom-How's that? who said to her noble husband fondly, Dick-We've broken off our engage-It is less to suffer punishment than ger and deeper and more beautiful in its possibilities." Allied with this attitude of expectancy must be the ability to see the amusing side of life. Worry and vexation over what would better be laughed at result in disfiguring wrinkles. Above all, if the years "What kick have you against mar-dressed in the height of fashion I have SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS trouble with her dressmaker."-Housbring us, as they should, a better unton Post.

LADIES ! "What kick have you against mar-rle? life?" ""ell, if I don't keep my wife dress-ed in the height of fashion I have trou-ble with her, and if I do keep her dressed in the height of fashion I have TRIED EVERYWHERE WORTH

While you think of it, drop in at THE TRIBUNE office and ask to see

The Best Typewriter Paper Made

The excellent quality and finish of the "Strathmore" will surely satisfy you.

You Can Get_____

ALL the NEWS of the WORLD and HOME

With the Choicest Magazine and Agricultural Features

For Only Five Cents More

Than the Price of the TRIBUNE Alone

What the Weekly Inter Ocean Contains Each Week

21 columns of news.

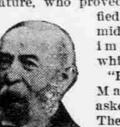

- 14 columns of talks by a practical farmer on farm topics—economical machinery, planting, growing, and storing of fruits and vegetables, breeding and marketing of live stock.
- 20 or more "Lost and Found Poems and Songs."
- I column of Health and Beauty Hints.
- Chess and Checkers-Best short and continued stories-Puzzles and Complications-Dr. Reeder's Home Health Club -Miscellaneous Questions and Answers -Poems of the Day-A special Washington letter-Taking cartoons and illustrations.

5 columns of live, entertaining editorials.

- 7 columns of live stock and market reports.
- 40 questions and answers by readers on anything pertaining to the business of farming, gardening, raising of live stock and poultry, etc., etc.
- 10 to 20 questions on veterinary subjects.
- 7 columns of information on recipes, patterns, formulas, etc., furnished by readers.
- 14 to 21 columns of stories of public men; historical, geographical, and other miscellany.
- 5 columns of a specially reported sermon by the Rev. Dr. Quayle of Chicago and the Sunday School Lesson.

These Make the Weekly Inter Ocean the Leading Farm, Home and News Paper of the West

> OUR OFFER --- The price of the Weekly Inter Ocean remains $1.00 a year; The price of the McCOOK TRIBUNE remains $1.00 a year; The two papers each one year will cost only $1.05.

middle age, with impressive side whiskers. "Have you seen Mabelle today?"

asked the reporter. The stranger looked at his questioner in ful training she has received. some wonderment.

fied looking man of popularity there as

N. B .--- This special arrangement with the Weekly Inter Ocean is for a limited time only. Subscribers to the Weekly Inter Ocean are assured that no papers will be sent after their subscription expires unless renewed by a cash payment.