Severe Hail and Rain Storm.

McCook and vicinity were visited, last Saturday afternoon, by one of the severest hail and rain storms in years. In the course of an hour or so 2.71 inches of rain fell. The hail was of extreme size and in some localities was most destructive. This was especially true in the neighborhood about Perry station, where the crops were practically annihilated for the space of a few miles north and south and for a mile or more east or west. In the city gardens were destroyed, window glass broken, cellars flooded and minor damages of various sorts caused by the hail and excessive water. The damage to crops was not so great in other sections about McCook but considerable nevertheless.

The moisture was needed, however, and the results are on the right side of the ledger, the entire county considered in the account.

AFTER THE HAILSTORM.

C. W. Shurtleff reports the loss of 200 acres of wheat in the rain-hail storm of last Saturday afternoon.

The glaziers have been busy since Saturday's hail.

The Urdike Grain and Coal Co. got ten feet of water in their grain pit.

Water in considerable quantity found its way into the cellars of the Zint McClain and the old Workman Temple Block Saturday afternoon. Some private homes over the city suffered inundation also.

The new sewer ditches were badly washed by the flood of water, Saturday afternoon, being washed out to a greater or less degree all over the system and rendering driving and traffic somewhat difficult and dangerous all over town until repairs can be made.

Almost three inches of water fell during the rain and hail storm of Saturday afternoon. To be exact 2.71 inches. And such hail, wow!
