TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR

MCCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 11, 1907

NUMBER 20

A Pretty, Home Wedding.

That was a happy, pretty wedding which occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Garvey, Wednesday evening of this week, when Rev. M. B. Carman spoke the mystic words uniting in holy wedlock their daughter Miss Cora Francis Garvey and Mr. Hurley F. Dye, at the hour of seven o'clock sharp.

The ceremony was performed under a canopy effect of white lace and flowers, Miss Rose Akers presiding at the piano and playing the wedding march.

The pretty bride was lovely in a white airtone chiffon. The groom conventionally garbed.

Only the immediate relatives of the parties were present, together with a few near friends, Mrs. J. A. Andrews and Miss Flossie of Indianola and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schaldeck of Grafton being among the latter number. Mr. and Mrs. Schaldeck were present at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Garvey.

The bride is popular and prominent in church and social circles, accomplished and much beloved. The groom is an efficient member of the clerical force in Sup't Young's office.

The happy couple departed on No. 3, same night for Salt Lake City on their honeymoon, and upon their return will occupy their cosy home on Remount street, No. 310, which is now in readiness for them. A host of well-wishing friends join in the hope that theirs may be a happy and prosperous wedded life.

A three-course luncheon was served. They were objects many pretty and handsome gifts.

Miss Akers was in charge of the guest's book.

Thought Syl Had a Hemorrhage.

Syl Cordeal was at his old tricks the other day—painting. This Hibernian has a penchant for emerald green and was doing the transom screens, etc., in his favorite tint. By some misadventure he spilled a quantity of the pigment on the pavement and when Pat chanced along he innocently inquired, "Have yez had a hemorrhage, Syl?"

Death Claims a Sweet Spirit.

The death of Mrs. Charles W. Hamilton in Lincoln, Sunday evening, was to most people a complete and sad surprise. While her health had been a matter of some family solicitude for some time, her condition was not regarded as serious, though it was thought that a visit to her former home at Creighton would be beneficial.

On account of her very nervous state, a private car was chartered and attached to train No. 6, Friday evening last, but by the time Lincoln was reached her condition became so alarming that the journey was concluded and Mrs. Hamilton was taken from the car to a hospital, where she soon relapsed into a comatose state from which she never revived,—passing to her reward about half past eight o'clock, Sunday evening.

The remains were brought to the home here, Monday night on No. 3, for interment.

Funeral services were held at the home, corner Madison and Douglas streets, Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. George B. Hawkes of the Congregational church, assisted by Rev. M. B. Carman of the Methodist church, conducting the same. Interment followed in Longview cemetery.

There was a wealth of lovely floral offerings to the memory of the dear soul gone on before and many friends were present in sympathy and to pay a last, farewell tribute.

Both parlors of the home were beautifully decorated with roses, carnations, smilax and potted plants, the handsome casket being covered with them. The grave was lined and trimmed with flowers and greens. The lovely flowers at the home were buried with the remains.

There was familiar hymn music by a quartette.

A short service of prayer was held at the grave.

The bereaved life-companion and children have a tender place in the hearts of sympathetic friends in this sudden and o'ershadowing sorrow.

Eliza M. Goldthwaite was born in Peru, Berkshire county, Massachusetts, August 3rd, 1839. Her early life was devoted to the care of her invalid mother. She was married to her bereaved husband, Chas. W. Hamilton, of the adjoining county, Hampshire, January 3, 1859. Soon after her marriage she was converted and at the earnest request of her parents and sister, who were Congregationalists, she joined the Baptist church of which her husband was a member and for forty-five years they put in their best efforts to advance the cause of Christianity, working together.

She was a true wife, a loving mother and a true friend to everyone, as all will testify who made her acquaintance. For a long time she was a sufferer from some ailment, hard to be determined by the medical fraternity, which up to within about one month of her death, was of a form which did not deter her from her household duties. She was a patient sufferer. About thirty days before her death she admitted that she was sick and during that time gradually wasted away and suggested that she would soon see her father, mother and the other loved ones who had gone to the spirit land. She had a great desire to visit her former home, Creighton, Neb., thinking that the change might improve her condition. The journey was made as far as Lincoln, and enjoyed very much, but soon after being there her disease became master and after being unconscious for a short time she fell asleep so peacefully that her attendants expressed the hope that their last end might be like hers.

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep, in which none ever wake to weep."

She is survived by her husband, C. W. Hamilton of this city and three sons, Frank C. of Spokane, Wash., Fred L. and Clinton H., both of McCook, and one daughter, Mrs. B. N. Saunders of Center, Neb.

A CARD TO FRIENDS.

We want to extend our heartfelt thanks to our friends, who so kindly assisted us in our sad bereavement through the loss of our wife and mother. We thank you, we thank you all, for the beautiful floral decorations, lovely singing and services by the pastors. The manner in which it was all conducted was in perfect touch with our feelings. We realize your kindness more as we are comparative strangers here and you will always be remembered because of what you have done.

TOTAL FIGURES ARE $6,492.73

This Is the Amount of the Red Willow County Treasury Shortage Reported to County Commissioners.

DETERMINED BY PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT GILCHRIST

Who Submits an Exhaustive Report Now on File in the Office of the County Clerk.—It Is Not Thought that the Surety Company Can Successfully Evade Payment of the Shortage.

The amount of the shortage of the late county treasurer, Benj. G. Gossard, was finally determined, last Saturday, when the report of Public Accountant John M. Gilchrist was formally accepted by the board of County Commissioners, which report in brief and summary is as follows:

	DR.	CR.
Amount due as per state examiner's report.....	$6,280 44	$
Taxes collected and not accounted for.....	467 77
School land and not accounted for.....	425 55
Interest on county deposit.....	23 74
Redemptions and not accounted for.....	90 41
Check on First National bank.....	1 00
Difference in Kountze Bros' bank account.....	330 52
School district warrant not credited.....		31 84
Road receipt warrants not credited.....		21 00
Village and precinct vouchers not credited.....		330 52
Difference in State Bank, Indianola, account.....		27 79
Difference in Bank of Danbury account.....		223 58
Difference in Bank of Lebanon account.....		429 73
Additional checks turned in as cash.....		62 24
	$7,619 43	$1,126 70
	1,126 70
Total amount of shortage.....	$6,492 73

A representative of the surety company was present when the report was closed up and submitted to the county commissioners and formal demand was made upon him for the amount. The representative took cognizance of the fact and will submit the matter to the company for action, which is thought by those wise on the subject will be favorable to paying the amount, without legal objection and delay. It is thought the company would have small hope of defeating the payment in case of a fight in the courts.

Harness Protection.

A harness made impervious by oiling with the right kind of oil will give twice or three times the service it otherwise would. Our is the right kind of oil. It is the kind that is used in preparing new leather. It makes leather pliable without injury to fiber. Will keep a harness in perfect condition and looking like new. Don't use petroleum oils, such oils have a tendency to weaken, stretch and harden the leather.

L. W. McCONNELL, Druggist.

Keep Open the Sidewalk.

If Dennison street is to be utilized for auctioneering purposes, the city authorities should see to it that at least space enough is kept open on the sidewalk to allow of the passing of pedestrians, who should not be compelled to go into the street, on account of the sidewalk being too congested with goods and people to allow passage of people, as was the case, last Saturday afternoon.

Go to Benkelman.

A delegation of McCook Knights of Pythias assisted the Benkelman brethren, Wednesday night, in conferring the third degree on a number of candidates. A big feast followed the work. The only authentic fact we can secure from the feast is the unqualified and unassailed statement of George Scott (Nankipoo), who asseverates that the tables were straight away 385 feet long and seventeen feet high. He could just comfortably reach the top shelf. But the feast was a peach.

Bound Over to District Court.

This week, Wednesday, Chris Scheit was bound over to district court for alleged cutting on the hand with a knife of Philip Trout. There has been trouble before between Scheit and the Trouts. The case in point was doubtless caused by former difficulties. Scheit and Pete Trout were mixing when Philip Trout attempted to separate. The cutting then happened.

Attempted to Hide Her Shame.

Carrie Kinzer, a Russian girl about twenty years old, died in Danbury, yesterday, as a result of an effort to hide her shame. She was employed in the hotel at that place, accompanying the lessors over to Danbury from McCook. An inquest was held and their verdict was in harmony with the above statement of the case.

Just a Little One.

The business end of a match caused a slight fire in the store of DeGross & Co., last Saturday. The party was striking a light, when the end flew off into some of the drapery or hangings in the north front window. A hand fire extinguisher did the work of extinguishing the fire promptly and thoroughly. The damage was slight.

COURT HOUSE NEWS.

Following are the marriage licenses issued since our last report: William G. Elliott, 37, Culbertson, Neb., and Mrs. Kate Wheeler, 36, McCook, Neb. Married by county judge, October 2nd.

Van Earl McMurrin, 22, and Orla Bertha McAninch, 17, both of McCook, Neb.

Joseph M. Vincent, 30, and Ella Carothers, 30, both of McCook, Neb. Hurley F. Dye, 26, and Cora F. Garvey, 20, both of McCook, Neb.

Beginning January 1, 1908.

For a good many years of THE TRIBUNE's quarter-century existence in McCook, the establishment has been conducted as to its business methods on semi-philanthropic lines and the editor and publisher has looked to and depended upon other sources for his livelihood and the maintenance of his home. In spite of phenomenally prosperous times and periods of a practical doubling of the single item of labor, and the steady and repeated advances of type, machinery and paper, the chasm between profit and loss has continued to widen. Every single item going into the production of the paper has largely increased, in some instances, doubled; while so far not one single item of job printing, advertising or subscription has been increased one penny. This incontrovertible fact alone tells its own story, and is fateful. Advance in price is the unbroken chorus of the farm, factory, merchant and laborer America over.

With this state of facts to face the publisher of THE TRIBUNE has determined to advance the subscription price of the paper to $1.50 per year, beginning with January 1st, 1908. The cost of production now equals or exceeds the present price—$1.00 per year. The new price will but give a fair profit and we have confidence to believe that our readers will acknowledge the reasonableness of the price under the circumstances related above.

Some additional changes in advertising and job printing prices may be necessary to meet changed industrial situation, but these will be announced in due season.
