TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR

MCCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 22, 1907

NUMBER 26

MY DEAR PATRONS.

During the Great Sale several people have asked me whether we will exchange goods, after goods have been taken home.

I would like to have this in your mind: That this is not a closing out or removal sale; it is mere a bona fide Money Raising Sale, and you will be treated during this sale just the same as when you are buying goods and paying regular prices.

I will exchange goods or even refund money, if goods do not satisfy, after you take them home, as I am here to stay and am looking for your future patronage.

Thanking you for patronage, I am respectfully yours,

H. SIMONS.

Hi Thrailkill Dies in Colorado.

A personal letter from Mrs. Ella M. Thrailkill announces the death, November 12th, 1907, in Colorado Springs, of her husband Hiram, well known to all early settlers of McCook. He had gone to Colorado for his health, which seemed improved by the change, but the altitude effected him and heart failure caused his death, as above. The remains were buried in Colorado Springs, where Mrs. Thrailkill is living at present. Mrs. Thrailkill has tendered sympathy of many friends in her loss and sorrow.

The Great Majestic Range Sale and demonstration is going on very successfully at the McCook Hardware store, this week, and many people have already taken advantage of getting the Majestic range free. There is no other ware made as good as the Majestic Lava ware and no other range as good as the Majestic Maleable and Char Coal Iron Range with air tight oven.

Fleece-Lined Wrappers.

Ample, well-made fleece wrappers for $1.00. Others $1.25, $1.35, $1.50. Not the narrow, skimpy, ill-finished kind, but proper and good garments. The Thompson D. G. Co.

All kinds of fruit—fresh each morning—at Huber's.

ANOTHER EARLY SETTLER ANSWERS THE SUMMONS.

Mrs. S. J. Cooley, Who Came to Red Willow County in 1878, Passes Away at the Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. Ellis.

Last Sunday, Mrs. S. J. Cooley, who has been ailing for several weeks, passed away to her long home, at the home of her daughter Mrs. Alex. Ellis, in Gerver precinct, southwest of McCook. This death removes one of the very earliest settlers of Red Willow county, and of McCook, and marks the passing of a noble and well spent life to its reward.

Funeral services were held at the home by Rev. G. B. Hawkes of the Congregational church of McCook, Wednesday morning. The remains were afterwards brought to McCook for burial, which was had under the ritual of the Degree of Honor, of which the departed was a member. The members of the order met the body in organization.

Burial was made in Riverview cemetery, besides the body of her departed husband, the late R. S. Cooley, who preceded her to the spirit land several years ago.

The pall-bearers were members of the order, Mrs. Lottie Brewer, Mrs. R. O. Light, Mrs. Julius Kunert, Mrs. M. U. Clyde.

OBITUARY.

Sarah Jane Ward was born in Burr Oak, Michigan, December 9, 1846. She with her parents moved to Grafton, Neb., at which place she was united in marriage to Robert S. Cooley, Dec. 12, 1871, and with her husband moved to Red Willow county, Neb., in 1879, where she resided until her death, November 17, 1907.

She became a christian in early life and joined the Congregational church. She is survived by two sons William W. of Shattuck, Okla., and George W. of Cheyenne, Wyo., and one daughter Mrs. Alexander Ellis of McCook. Her husband Robert S. Cooley and infant son Charles C. have gone on before.

The Great Majestic Demonstration.

The McCook Hardware Co. is to be congratulated upon making good in every particular in their Great Majestic Range demonstration, this week. Hundreds of people having attended and no one came away disappointed in any regard. The demonstration came up to highest expectations and then some. Hot coffee and biscuits—Majestic Range biscuits—were served every day.

But the demonstration reached its zenith, Tuesday, when the wonderful cake was baked, crushed and arose again. Many went doubting—none came away questioning. It is a marvel to all.

Sales were gratifying and the McCook Hardware people feel that their efforts have been appreciated.

Black Dress Goods.

You may judge a whole dress goods stock by the blacks contained in it. We show the following varieties: Broadcloths, mohairs, sicilians, batistes, prunellas, voiles, panamas, henrietas, satin solies, serges, chevots, perialas, cashmeres, tricots, armures, invisible check, poplins, broads, besides many novelties. They range in price from 35c to $1.50, mostly from 65c to $1.00. We solicit your inspection. The Thompson D. G. Co.

Entertained the Research Club.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Starr entertained the members of the Research club and their husbands, Wednesday evening. The special feature of the evening was an informal address by Congressman Norris on Hawaii, recently visited by him in company with a large congressional party. Refreshments added to the sum total.

The Rodgers-Hileman Nuptials.

One of the prettiest of the early-winter events was the wedding of Mr. Chester Rodgers and Miss May Hileman, which occurred at the bride's home, Thursday evening of this week.

The ring ceremony was utilized, with the groom's little sister Martha in white carrying the ring in an immense white rose. Rev. G. B. Hawkes of the Congregational church officiated.

The contracting parties were unattended, approaching the station from the dining-room, preceded by the ring-bearer, while the clergyman made his entrance from an adjoining guest chamber on the north, the while Wagner's "Chorus from Lohengrin" was softly offered by Mrs. F. M. Kimmell.

The ceremony was fulfilled under a large wedding bell, covered with smilax and white chrysanthemums, and illumined by numerous colored electric lights, suspending in the swell window of the front parlor. A "swastika" emblem in smilax was also a window decoration of note.

The bride wore a dainty creation of white Persian lawn, elaborately trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion and tiny tucking, with yoke and sleeves of tiny ruffles of lace. She carried a superb bouquet of white roses.

The parlors were done in white and green, large bouquets of white chrysanthemums and ferns adding to the color effect.

The presents-room was a scarlet effect, poppies being the floral evidence. The gifts were numerous and rich in money, silver, china, cut glass, pictures etc. A goodly check from Grandfather Lee of California and an express money order of generous figures from George H. Lee of Omaha, bride's uncle, were among the number.

Pink and white were the prevailing colors, the dual colors in streamers being suspended from ceiling-corners to the electroliers, and wide white streamers of ribbon from the electroliers to the corners of the dining-table. A large bouquet of choice roses on table and of pink and white carnations on buffet completed the pretty decorations.

Mrs. Lillian Snyder was in charge of the guest book, which was signed after congratulations offered.

A two-course luncheon was served. The dining room was in charge of Mrs. Albert McMillen and Mrs. D. C. Marsn, Mrs. W. D. Burnett and Mrs. C. W. Barnes presiding over the serving.

Mrs. C. B. Gray and Mrs. Mattie Welles were ushers.

Mrs. Cox of Exeter, sister of bride's mother, and daughter, were present, and will likely remain until after Thanksgiving.

THE TRIBUNE offers hearty congratulations.

Thursday evening of last week, the bride was tendered a china "shower" at the home of Mrs. W. D. Burnett, which event coming to the ears of gentlemen friends of the groom, he was promptly captured and taken to the residence and the gentlemen then gave the bride a noisy "tin shower."

I. J. REYNOLDS DIED IN DENVER.

Goes to Denver Hospital For Relief, But Dies Under the Operation.

I. J. Reynolds, known as "Es" Reynolds, died in a Denver hospital on Monday morning of this week, under an operation for supposed appendicitis, but which proved to be a growth on the intestines and ruptured gall bladder—he having been a severe and great sufferer with numerous and large gallstones. Dr. Kay accompanied him to Denver for the operation. His preceding illness was only of a few days' duration.

The remains were shipped from Denver, on No. 14, last night, for his former home in Charleston, Illinois, where he will be buried as per his request.

"Es" Reynolds came to McCook in 1884, and worked for the Fishers on the ranch in Chase county, and for Charles Rogers, E. L. Laycock, James McAdams, of this city. At the time of his death he was the standby in Fisher & Perkins' store.

He was born and raised in Charleston, Illinois, from which place he came to McCook. He was about 46 years of age. His mother, five brothers and five or six sisters survive him.

"Es" was a general favorite with all who knew him—all were his friends, and his sad death is a source of sorrow to many.

Just Regular Prices.

In our store the regular prices are a positive inducement at all times to trade. Heatherbloom petticoats are always $2.25. Fleischers' German knitting yarn is always 25c for a 1/4-lb skein. Good stout ginghams are always sold for 5c. Best table oil cloth—meritas—is only 15c a yard including white, year in and year out. Men's real stout denim overalls for 50c right along. Men's suits $5.00, $6.50, $8.50, to $13.50 every day. Other stores touch such prices only when shouting "sensational reductions." We treat you right every day. We solicit your trade. The Thompson D. G. Co.

Enthusiastic W. C. T. U. Meeting.

A most enthusiastic and well attended W. C. T. U. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. T. B. Campbell, last Friday afternoon. The subject "How to meet and resist temptation." Very praiseworthy remarks were presented by Mrs. A. F. Green, Mrs. M. B. Carman and others. These meetings under the leadership of Mrs. J. W. Wimer are growing in interest. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. M. B. Carman's, Friday, Nov. 29, at 3 p. m.

MCCOOK NEWS DEPOT.

"Showered" Miss Walters.

The rush incident to getting THE TRIBUNE to press, last week, side-tracked some items of correspondence as well as of more exclusive local moment. One of them was the "shower" by the "Owl-O's" at the home of Miss Stasia Brady, which was of more than usual moment. A number of the club members en masse assumed male attire and were the center and source of a vast fund of furious amusement.

Sustained a Fractured Arm.

Mrs. E. E. DeLong met misfortune in the form of a fractured arm, last Saturday night. She was on her way down to the furnace-room at the home, and tripped at the head of the steps leading down into the cellar, pitching head foremost down the stairway. The right arm was fractured at the wrist in a severe manner.

Walters-Matteson Wedding.

Wednesday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. W. Bronson, Miss Susan I. Walters of our city and Mr. John M. Matteson of Denver, were quietly united in marriage in the presence of a few relatives and friends, Rev. E. R. Earle, performing the ceremony. The bride is well and widely known to many TRIBUNE readers, the groom is employed in the Burlington train service out of Denver, whither they went on train 3, the same night, and will make their home, with good wishes of many friends.

Thanksgiving Service.

The Thanksgiving Union service will be held this year at the Baptist church on Tuesday morning at 10:30. Rev. E. R. Earle of the Episcopal church will preach the sermon. An offering will be taken for the poor of McCook. The service will last one hour and a large attendance is desired.

A Good Start.
