M'COOK WOMAN AFTER HER SON.

Accused in Denver of Kidnapping Him from Custody of His Father.

Denver, Colo. Nov. 13.—(Special)—Deprived of the society of her four children, who were given into the custody of her husband, William Cox, 3223 Navajo street, when he obtained a divorce from her ten years ago, Mrs. Annie Cox Lilly of McCook is charged with having kidnaped the youngest, Ernest, and to have been abetted in her schemes by Mrs. Bertha Parker, 1008 Twenty-first street. Yesterday Cox and his second wife went before Judge Alexander of the juvenile court and made their complaint. Ernest Cox is only 12 years old. Last Saturday he asked permission to go to the theater. He had not returned home Sunday morning, and the father made inquiries. It was learned that Ernest was seen in the company of Mrs. Parker and had not been to the theater at all. An older son was sent to the depot, and says he saw Mrs. Parker put his brother aboard an eastbound train at 1 o'clock Sunday.

No previous attempt has ever been made by Mrs. Lilly to secure custody of any of the children, it is said. She met Mrs. Parker more than a year ago, it is stated, and Cox believes that the two have been good friends since. He thinks that the scheme to kidnap Ernest has been in progress for some time and that Mrs. Lilly received the money to purchase his ticket only a few days ago. A warrant for Mrs. Parker's arrest on the charge of kidnaping was issued yesterday, and steps will be taken by the father to have his son returned.

Despite the Weather.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, Tuesday afternoon, the Kensington and sale by the ladies of the Dorcas society of the Congregational church at the home of Mrs. Barney Hofer, was fairly successful and fairly well patronized, the society realizing about $50.

Most men who mingle with great crowds or participate in an event of many features are absolutely unable to describe in detail any one particular feature. It is then that they find their weekly newspaper most valuable. Just so it is with the readers of daily newspapers; they have not the time or the inclination to follow every phase of the week's events and so turn to a weekly newspaper for a concise and connected account of any event of more than local interest. This demand is easily supplied at small cost by The Weekly Inter Ocean, which can be obtained with this paper, one year, for $1.25.

THE need of more money or of an elastic or expansive currency is not nearly so obvious to the average layman as the necessity, the absolute imperative necessity for more legitimate, honest banking and less stock-gambling and frenzied finance in over-exploitation and over-capitalization of corporate interests—especially of railroad properties, most of which are abnormally watered. Many millions of money have been frightened into seclusion and thus taken out of circulation and the channels of commerce and trade by the insane speculation rife over the land. A resumption of rational business dealings will bring into circulation most of this money and the establishment of a postal saving system by the next session of congress will do the rest. Confidence based on a rational faith in sane, honest dealings and business conduct will do more than fiat or elastic currency however hedged about by retiring clauses. It is to be hoped that western congressmen will unite in a warfare against the real cause of the currency stringency—that is stock gambling, over issue of stocks and bonds etc., rather than joining in any measure having for its purpose and end the placing in the hands of the bankers the contracting and expanding of the currency of the country at the whim of the financial free-booters of Wall street. The country at large is no mood to stand any further strangling from that source.

ANCIENT BOWS.

That of the Scythians Was in the Form of the Letter C.

While universally used by the ancients, the form of the bow varied with different nations. The Scythian bow was in the form of the letter C, and the bow of the Tartars, descendants of the Scythians, still keeps that shape. The Greek bow was not more than three or four feet in length, but so stout and stiff that it required considerable strength and skill to use it. It is said that the first Greek bows were made from the horns of a species of goat, the bases being united by means of a metallic band. Afterward other material was used in their manufacture, but they still retained their original shape. These bows were too short to be of much use, and, comparatively speaking, but a small portion of the troops were armed with them.

The Romans carried the bow to Britain, where it at once obtained favor and during the middle ages was extensively used, forming an important element of the armies of that period. The English archers were said to be the finest in the world, and their skill decided the battles of Creecy, Poitiers and Agincourt. The bows used were of two kinds—the long bow and the arbalest, or crossbow. The arbalest was made of steel or horn and was of such strength and stiffness that it was necessary to use some mechanical appliance to bend it and adjust the string. The arbalestiers carried a quiver with fifty arrows and were placed in the van of the battle.
