HERE AND THERE.

The Burlington has made satisfactory changes in the stock-yards at Edison for the protesting shippers of that place, where facilities were inadequate.

Cambridge carried water bonds at the election, last week, by a vote of three to one. Big Medicine town.

In the light of the election, last week, the claim that the church people are running McCook will need some corroborative evidence. They ought to.

April 26th is the date of the I. O. O. F. anniversary celebration.

Akron went "dry" by 42 majority.

It is claimed that the railroad vote carried Alliance to the "dry" column, last week.

Lincoln's daylight saloons idea is receiving favorable comment in other Nebraska towns. The idea is a likely one and should expand. The average boozier should be able to tank up between seven a. m. and seven p. m.

We are gravely advised that some of the season's corsets "have that new broken bust feature that imparts a graceful brasserie effect." It is needless.

Lincoln is said to owe her failure by less than 200 votes to carry prohibition by the vote of the negroes and Russians.

Huber is still selling Wedding Breakfast Coffee. You know the brand.

Failed of Confirmation.

Two of the mayor's appointments, that of chief of police and city physician, failed of confirmation at the session of the city council, Monday evening. The mayor has, however, appointed Walter Godfrey as chief of police, and it is understood that his appointment will hold good under the law until the next session of the city council. However, the matter of salary will still be up in the air. As the administration of Mayor Stephens starts out there seems to be ample room for lack of harmonious action between the council and the executive.

Help The Lawns.

There are people in McCook who can greatly assist in producing and maintaining lawns by just refraining from walking over the lawns. The work of seeding is greatly hampered in places in the city by persons walking over the lawns. THE TRIBUNE has been especially requested to urge a discontinuance of this thoughtlessness. Good people will you assist in this work? Lawns are an expensive luxury and difficult under best circumstances of maintenance. Don't make it any more difficult than the natural drawbacks.

Death of Mrs. Bloom.

Mrs. Helen Bloom, mother of Mrs. Sam Rogers, formerly of our city, died in Denver, last Sunday. The remains were buried in Longmont, Colo. Deceased is survived by her husband and ten daughters, five of the daughters being married and five single, and all of them being present at the last illness. Mrs. Rogers of Havelock and Mrs. Olson of Omaha passed through McCook, Thursday morning on train 2, for their respective homes.

Next Meeting in McCook.

The Republican Valley Association of Congregational churches met in convention, first of this week, at Bertrand, in conjunction with the High Line association, and a profitable session is reported, albeit the attendance was not what it should be, largely on account of many pulpit vacancies in the two districts.

The Republican Valley association will meet in McCook for the fall session, some time during the last of September.

Easter Musical Service.

A special Easter service of music and recitations will be given by the Sunday school of the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Sunday morning a large choir will sing special anthems and the pastor will preach an appropriate sermon. Everybody invited.

The High School Lost.

The high school base ball team and many admirers and rooters went up to Culbertson, Saturday, to engage the local high school team there on the diamond. The story is told in the score, 9 to 7, with the big end in Culbertson's favor.

"They Sell Sunshine."

Yes, we have it in all colors. The best varnish stain ever made. Put some Sunshine on that old rocking chair or book case and it will look like new. For sale at Woodworth & Co.'s, Druggists.

A Fine Shower.

This section of Nebraska was visited by a needed shower, yesterday. While the precipitation was not heavy, it was welcome, with its promise of more.

At the Baptist Church, Sunday.

Easter service and sermon at 11 a. m. At 8 p. m. a cantata, "The Easter Evangel," will be rendered, to which the public is cordially invited.

LAST WORDS.

Thoughts That Marked the Passing of Some Noted Men.

There is a collection of "last words" of celebrated men which contains many beautiful and startling phrases. Whether they were really uttered by the men to whom they have been credited, says the Berliner Post, is another matter. "Thus the words of Augustus, 'The comedy is at an end—did I play my part well?' are known to nearly every reader. The collection of last words of great physicians published by 'The British Medical Journal' gives Haller credit for saying, 'The artery beats—it beats no more,' and says of Nothmann that he wrote: 'The night of July 6, after a violent attack of angina pectoris, * * * I will die of arterial calcination.' Cooper, Bright and Brodie died with blessings upon their lips, and Darwin, looking death calmly in the face, said, 'I really do not fear death.' Locol's last words were flippant: 'Au revoir, gentlemen. At the autopsy we will meet again.' None of these classic sentences, however, impress one so much as did the words of one of the few mortals who to our knowledge went into the unknown with minds undimmed. He was an old man who had lived a good and full life. With his last breath he said: 'It is not yet time. I want to stay—that was the voice of nature.'

Genius Defined.

Professor of Polite Literature and High Art—Now, young gentlemen, can any of you give me a good definition of genius? Beloved Disciple—Genius, sir, is an unlimited capacity for taking—or what belongs to others.—Sydney (N. S. W.) Bulletin.
