NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the county court of Red Willow county, Nebraska. In the matter of the estate of Garret Getman, deceased.

You are hereby notified that I will sit in the county court of Red Willow county on the 23rd day of March, 1909, at one o'clock p. m. to receive and examine all claims and demands against said estate with a view to their adjustment and allowance. The time allowed for the presentation of claims against said estate is six months from the 19th day of September, 1908, and any claim not presented by that time shall be forever barred.

J. C. MOORE, County Judge.
J. E. Kelley, attorney.

LEGAL NOTICE.

In justice court before H. H. Berry, justice of the peace.

J. H. Pratt, defendant, will take notice that on the 30th day of August, 1908, H. H. Berry, justice of the peace of Red Willow county, Nebraska, issued an order of attachment for the sum of $88.23, in an action pending before him wherein George S. Scott is plaintiff and J. H. Pratt is defendant, and that property of the defendant consisting of money, here and there, in the hands of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company, garnishee, is a writ for work and labor performed by said company for said Railroad Company, has been attached under said order of attachment. This case has been continued for hearing to the 23rd day of September, 1908, at one o'clock p. m. - 528-28.

GEORGE S. SCOTT.

ORDER OF HEARING.

State of Nebraska, Red Willow county, ss. In the county court.

To all persons interested in the estate of Andrew R. Hammel, late of said county, deceased. You are hereby notified that on the 10th day of August, 1908, Edith V. Fowler filed her petition in the county court of Red Willow county for the appointment of John R. Hammel as the administrator of the estate of Andrew R. Hammel, late of said county, deceased, and that the said petition will be heard at the county court room in the city of McCook in said county on the 12th day of September, 1908, at the hour of one o'clock p. m. It is ordered that notice of said hearing be given to all persons interested in said estate by the publication of this notice for three successive weeks in The McCook Tribune, a newspaper published, printed and circulated in said county.

Dated this 10th day of August 1908—823-28.
[SEAL] J. C. MOORE, County Judge.
Cordell & McCarl, attorneys.

NOTICE OF SUIT.

Charles G. Wallace, defendant, will take notice that Marie Wallace, as plaintiff, has filed her petition in the District Court of Red Willow county, state of Nebraska, the object and prayer of which are to obtain a divorce from him on the grounds that without sufficient ability so to do he has, without cause or provocation, grossly, wantonly and cruelly failed and refused to support or to be any manner contribute to the support of plaintiff for more than four months last past; and that her maiden name is Marie Wandberg.

You are required to answer said petition on or before Monday the 21st day of September, (A. D.) 1908—841-4.

MARIE WALLACE, Plaintiff.
By J. E. Kelley, her attorney.

How a Girl Throws.

Perhaps a better title would have been "How a Girl Doesn't Throw," because it is well known that a girl cannot propel a ball or anything else like a boy. Most people—and all boys—conclude that this defect arises from clumsiness, but that is a mistake.

The difference between a girl's throwing and a boy's is substantially this: The boy crooks his elbow and reaches back, with the upper part of his arm about at a right angle of forty-five degrees. The direct act of throwing is accomplished by bringing the arm back with a sort of snap, working every joint from shoulder to wrist.

The girl throws with her whole arm rigid, the boy with his whole arm relaxed. Why this marked and unmistakable difference exists may be explained by the fact that the clavicle or collar bone in the feminine anatomy is some inches longer and set some degrees lower down than in the masculine frame. The long, crooked, awkward bone interferes with the full and free use of the arm. This is the reason why a girl cannot throw a stone.

First Victory of the Revolution.

The importance of the assault upon Fort William and Mary is generally overlooked by historians. The demonstrations against various British armed vessels, beginning with the firing upon the schooner St. John in July, 1764, as well as the battle of Alamance in North Carolina, in 1771, were essentially local and were so far removed from the Revolutionary period that they produced no appreciable effect upon the war itself. The "Boston massacre" was the repulse of a mob by a squad of British regulars, but at Fort William and Mary the royal standard was lowered for the first time, and the gun powder taken therefrom was burned by the patriots at Bunker Hill. The king recognized in the daring assault the inevitability of the impending struggle. There is truth in the claim set forth on the tablet on the old Fort Constitution of today that the site marks "the first victory of the American Revolution."—Army and Navy Life.

A Pretty Warm Fish.

A well known fisherman was fishing for perch and was seated along the edge of a lake near the roots of a large tree, which was a favorite spot for the perch. Luck had been only fair, and he was debating on the question of hauling in the line and going home when there came a powerful tug.

He knew that he had a huge fish and struggled vigorously for twenty minutes before he landed his prize. It was a sunfish, one of the largest he had ever seen. He landed it on the bank, and then he noticed that the rays from the fish were so powerful that he was almost blinded, and the grass in the vicinity was shriveled up by the heat.

A few minutes later the man fell over. He had been struck by the sunfish and was beyond hope.—Philadelphia American.

Startling.

A gentleman opened a letter addressed to his son containing suggestions from a friend to the latter for a novel which he (the son) was privately writing. The father was exceedingly surprised and frightened upon reading the following dreadful words:

Dear Bob—You really must show more caution in constructing your plots, or the governor will be sure to discover the dead body of Geratline in the cellar, and then your secret will be out. You consulted me about the strychnine. I certainly think you are giving it him in rather large doses. Let Emily put her mother in a madhouse. It will answer your purpose well to have the old girl out of the way. I think your forgery is for too small a sum. Make it three thousand. Leave the rest of your particularly nice family circle to me. I will finish them off and send you back the "fatal dagger" afterward by post. Yours, JACK.

Burning Heretics.

The following items, copied from the municipal records of Canterbury by an English magazine, show that the burning of heretics in 1535, the time of the great King Henry VIII, was an inexpensive amusement:

To bringing a heretic from London for wood to burn him..... 1s. 8d.
For wood to burn him..... 2s. 0d.
For gunpowder..... 10.
A stake and staple..... 8d.
Total..... 17s. 8d.

Inspiring Hope.

The Doctor—Bear up. I must tell you the worst—you can't possibly recover. The Client—That's a pity, for if I'd lived a bit longer I should have come into a fortune. As it is, I haven't a penny to pay you with, doctor. The Doctor—Well, now, don't give up hope. We'll try to mend you. We'll try.—Illustrated Bits.

As to Stage Fright.

"Stage fright" is surely among the most mysterious of sudden seizures. It begins when the actor or speaker thinks "they are not interested in me." It ends when he determines "I will interest them."—London Chronicle.

The Modern Child.

Little Girl of Four (standing entranced before the window of a toy-shop)—Oh, mother, if you was my little girl, wouldn't I take you in and buy you some of these lovely things!—London Tatler.

Her Preference.

"I want to make a gift to Miss Pansy," said Dumley. "I wonder what sort of animal she'd prefer for a pet?" "A man," promptly suggested Miss Knox.—Philadelphia Press.
