SUDDEN DEATH OF A WELL KNOWN CITIZEN.

"Dick" Hatcher of Fritsch Precinct Joins the Great Majority.

Early Wednesday morning Richard E. Hatcher, the well-known and highly esteemed citizen of Fritsch precinct, this county, father of Miss Claudia B. Hatcher, county superintendent, suddenly expired at his farm home. He had gotten up and was in the act of making the morning fire when death overtook him. Mr. Hatcher had not been in rugged health since an injury of a severe nature, a few years since, but as he had been in Indianola only the day previous, his death was most unexpected and the cause of much regret in all parts of the county—his acquaintance being wide and his popularity general.

Miss Claudia Hatcher was over in the Driftwood county in the line of her official duties, and an auto was dispatched for her soon after the news reached here of the sad event at home, which she reached in a few hours thereafter.

THE TRIBUNE lacks data for a biographical sketch, and can merely at this time note the passing of an old settler and highly respected citizen, and convey its sympathy to the bereaved and sorrowing family.

The funeral will take place in Indianola, Saturday.

Services will be held in the Christian church at 11 o'clock, under auspices of the A. O. U. W. and M. W. of A. Rev. Carman of this city will have charge of the services.

FRANK WILEY of Wauneta spent part of Wednesday in the city on his way home from Kansas City from marketing some stock. He had some stock in the Red Cloud wreck and just escaped the terrible shooting affair in Kansas City, Tuesday. He was ready to welcome that dear old Wauneta.

Surprised But Happy.

Last Monday was the 45th birthday of Engineer James G. Inglis and it was a memorable and happy one for him, too. A score or more neighbors and friends surprised him and were of appreciated assistance in making the occasion a very pleasant one. A bountiful supper was spread. Mr. Inglis was the object of a number of gifts, Master Mechanic H. E. Culbertson doing the honors handsomely in presenting them. In responding, Jim did not exhibit any of the cleverness or art of the orator but he did disclose a big, proud appreciative heart. Canadian born Mr. Inglis is proud of the land of his adoption and what his friends have assisted him in achieving in McCook. It was an occasion of more than ordinary satisfaction to all concerned.

"Strongheart."

A strong local company, under the direction of Dr. S. C. Beach, the patronage of Mrs. C. M. Bailey and Mrs. Adele Phelan, and for the improvement of Calvary cemetery, will present the popular and powerful play, "Strongheart," at the Menard opera house, next week Thursday and Friday. This will be one of the strongest and best plays ever offered by local talent and will no doubt receive a most liberal support. Remember the dates, December 17 and 18; and the worthy object.

Reserve Some Money

Adopted New Laws.

The commercial club held a regular meeting, Tuesday evening, with a good attendance of the membership.

The new constitution and by-laws were read, revised, corrected and adopted. House rules to meet new conditions will be prepared and adopted later.

The water works park committee reported that a representative of the Lincoln Land company would be here before long and would make a preliminary survey, when the committee would be able to report to the club.

Rest room committee reported but was given further time. It was the expressed hope of several members that arrangements might be made to secure such facilities in the basement of the library building.

The committee on roads and on city property acquirement was not ready to report.

Bills were allowed. Four new members were voted into the club.

Laviga Olmstead and family were Sunday visitors at John Calkins.

The shellers are working at Markwad's and at Phillippi's, this week.

Henry Rogers went over to Atwood, Kansas, Saturday, returning on Monday.

Albert Ebert is home from Hastings, where he has been helping in building a church until the weather interfered.

An enjoyable surprise dance at Carl Schuetz's, Saturday night.

Mike Esch is in Eastern Nebraska and in Iowa on business and pleasure.

Hear Judge Dungan.

Judge H. S. Dungan, of Hastings, Neb., judge of the 10th judicial district, will give an address on the subject, "Fundamental Needs of Business," at the Congregational church next Sunday, Dec. 13, at 8 p. m. Judge Dungan is one of the growing men in public life in Western Nebraska and all will want to hear him. At the same service Mrs. H. S. Dungan, one of the best-known soloists in this part of the state, will sing several selections. The public is cordially invited to this service. Auspices Men's Sunday Evening club.

Weidenhamer For Sterling.

While the formal bulletin has not yet been posted in the case, there is current a well defined rumor that Trainmaster W. M. Weidenhamer is to be transferred to Sterling as superintendent and that Sup't Lyman of Sterling will succeed Sup't Rodgers, resigned, at Wymore. An efficient and popular official, the removal of Mr. Weidenhamer and family from our city will be generally and sincerely regretted. Mr. Weidenhamer has been at Sterling part of the week looking over the situation.

Knows Good Stuff.

This week, F. S. Wilcox sold a carload of registered Hereford bulls to John W. Lowell of Denver. This is the second carload he has sold to Mr. Lowell, who is credited with knowing a good thing when he sees it in cattle. Fowler says he doesn't spend much time curling the hair on his Herefords—but he delivers the goods.

Are You, Mr. Merchant?

Considerable Christmas buying is now being done—only 17 days to Christmas, Mr. Merchant, are you giving proper attention to your advertising? Are you offering inducements for trade? THE TRIBUNE is the best advertising medium to reach the most of the buying public in this section of Nebraska.

Their First Appearance.

The high school glee club made their initial appearance at assembly, last Friday, and gave a good account of themselves in the music program of the morning. There were several other numbers of merit also.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN

Conducted by the McCook W. C. T. U.

The nation is founded on manhood and womanhood, the saloon on the wrecks of both.

Already in view of the spring election and possible local option can be heard the cry of the fearful ones, predicting the death of our town, should it go dry. In our opinion it were better far to die a natural death than die of delirium tremens as it seems to be in a fair way of doing at present.

KEEP ON FIGHTING THE SALOON.

One of the most encouraging pieces of news which the daily papers have chronicled for many a long day is found in a report of a meeting held in Chicago last week by a so-called Manufacturers' and Dealers' Club. One of the principal speakers at a banquet held under the auspices of this organization, whatever it may be, was one F. P. Esler, editor of Humanity. Mr. Esler pointed out the necessity which existed, according to his idea, of combating effectively the efforts of the anti-saloon forces, and especially of the ministers of the United States. Doubtless because there is greatest need in this direction, he called attention first to the necessity of reforming the saloon-keepers, and ended by recommending an agitation which shall lead to the divorce of the ministers and church influence from the prohibition question. He further suggested the advisability of boycotting business men who helped the opponents of the rum traffic. He then went on to say: "The key to the situation is to drive the ministers out of the fight. If the ministers preach prohibition in the pulpit, if women, as in Philadelphia, will march the streets with banners singing, 'Onward, Christian Soldiers,' there's no force that can beat a fight like that. The question is not a moral one, although it has moral aspects, and no Christian minister has the right to stand in his pulpit and preach it. * * * If you are going to bump your head into prohibition, it is going to win. But there are always ways of sidetracking public issues. I'd make the legislative bills so bad that they would never pass."

This, indeed, is hopeful. Hitherto the saloon-keepers have sneered at the "cloth," and held up to derision the rampant person, declaring that the ministry is composed of effeminates who are powerless to touch the liquor trade. Now we observe that the united ministry is a potent force which must be resisted, and by all the powers of a united liquor trade. Mr. Geo. W. Peck, of Wisconsin, the one time influential editor, best known as the author of "Peck's Bad Boy," brought the speech-making to an impotent conclusion by an address in which he reiterated the worm-eaten assertion that prohibition does not prohibit. He made such ridiculous statements as that in Atlanta the real estate business is dead, that in North Dakota the railroads are refusing passengers because they take up the room of whiskey barrels, and that in Maine, boys and girls are agents for breweries and distilleries. In other words, the first speaker declared that prohibition is ruining the liquor business, and the latter speaker declared that prohibition is booming the liquor business.

The moral of all this is that every minister should keep on in the work of opposing the saloon in every way possible. It is evident that the saloon-keepers are on the run, and they ought to be prodded by the bayonets of the Anti-Saloon League, they ought to be shelled by the repeating guns from the pulpit, they should be bombarded with arguments from the religious press. When saloon-favoring speakers thus acknowledge the tremendous influence of an aroused Christian manhood, there is hope for further temperance victories.—The Standard.
