Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of dyspepsia, heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Restorative—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and salivary complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

A Mistaken Uniform.

Uniformed officials are often a puzzle to American travelers. An instance of this is given in "Recollections of a Varied Career," by General W. F. Draper, formerly American ambassador to Italy. General and Mrs. Draper were traveling in Russia when they had the following amusing experience in the sleeping car:

Mrs. Draper's maid, Marie, speaks German as well as French, but Russian is beyond her. After Mrs. Draper's bed was made she desired another pillow, and Marie rushed into the corridor to get one. Seeing a man in uniform—the railway porters wear uniforms—she demanded a pillow in German.

"I have no pillows," said he.

"A bolster, then," said Marie.

"I have no bolster."

"Then give me a couple of towels to wrap up one of those dirty cushions."

"I have no towels either," said the uniform. "I am a colonel in his majesty's imperial guard."

Poor Marie nearly went into hysterics, and I was called in to explain that no offense was meant.

Woman on the Bench.

Hyman Lazarus, for many years recorder of Bayonne, knew the people who came before him. When a woman appeared to accuse a husband who had beaten her he said, "If I send him to jail you'll come back here tomorrow in tears and ask me to let him out." "No," she said, "I will not. I'd like to have him punished." "How much shall I give him then," asked Lazarus—"two months, one month, six months?" The woman, who had begun to relent, was speechless. "I'll tell you what I'll do," he said. "You come up here and take my chair, and whatever sentence you pronounce will go." The woman hesitated, but the recorder insisted. The husband was arraigned before her, and the recorder in a gruff voice ordered her to pronounce sentence. "Six months, three months, two months, a month—quick," he said; "let us have it." The woman burst into tears. She and her husband embraced and went out of court rejoicing. "There!" said Lazarus. "If you come back I'll give you six months each."—New York Press.

Rhinoceros a Bad Foe.

While easily stalked, the rhinoceros is a dangerous customer, as most men will agree who have hunted him. If the rhinoceros gets one's scent he almost invariably charges, often probably from sheer curiosity, but that does not make him any the easier to dispose of. Moreover, he runs and turns at a speed inconceivable in a beast of his vast bulk. Against his massive, sloping head the heaviest bullet is a mere flea bite, leaving no possibility of a stopping shot except with a hard nose ball sent fairly into the heart through the chest. An alternative is to stand absolutely motionless, when with his bad eyesight there is a possibility he may mistake you for a tree and veer past. Indeed, the best ruse in the crisis of any charge is to stand fast and still, for even the unwounded lion sometimes swerves in his charge and retires before a man who has the nerve to wait his coming.—Edgar Beecher Bronson in Century.

Effect of Fear.

A vigorous young greengrocer, aged twenty-seven, was arrested on a Tuesday on charges of drunkenness and assaulting a policeman, who was assisted in securing him by a Mr. Lyons. On Wednesday it was announced in court that Mr. Lyons was dead, and the greengrocer was remanded to see whether the coroner's jury would hold him in any way responsible for the tragedy. By Saturday it had been found that Mr. Lyons' death was due to heart disease of long standing, but meanwhile the agonizing suspense had aged the young prisoner terribly, his black hair having become completely white.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Sinister Comment.

"That new neighbor of ours asked us to let him use our hatchet and our clothesline," said Sirius Barker's wife. "Did you give him the hatchet?" "Yes; the one that has nicks in it and a wabbling handle." "And did you give him the clothesline that has been tied together in eight places?" "Yes." "Well, that's a case of borrowing trouble, all right."—Washington Star.

Russian Princesses.

In Russia the term "princess" does not mean very much, for the simple reason that there are so many of them and that it is never a royal title. All the female descendants of a prince of a certain rank are princesses, and the result is that many princesses are as poor and of as little account as any ill used princess of a fairy tale. The real royal princesses of Russia are styled grand duchesses. They are the daughters and sisters of the czar.

Their Real Duty.

"I was just reading of a man who has a hen that can sing; another man has a hen which whistles and imitates various birds."

"I don't care for those vaudeville hens. A hen should stick to the legit and lay eggs."—Kansas City Journal.

On the Safe Side.

"How do you ever get on so well with your wife? Don't you ever have any differences of opinion?"

"Of course we do. But I don't let her know it."—Cleveland Leader.

A Puzzle.

MRS. W. N. MILLAN.

Brave and Beautiful Mistress of Ranch Where Roosevelt Hunted.

The center of interest in Africa has been the great ranch owned by William Northrup McMillan, where "Bwana Tumbo" Roosevelt has been shooting wild beasts. It is an estate of enormous extent and is perhaps one of the biggest wild animal preserves extant which is privately owned. Its mistress is a woman of much courage and endurance, as well as cleverness and beauty.

Mr. McMillan, formerly of St. Louis, is a son of the late William McMillan, president of the American Car and Foundry company and a nephew of the late United States Senator James McMillan of Michigan. He is a mighty hunter and has had some remarkable adventures.

Like her husband, Mrs. McMillan is devoted to hunting and traveling. She was the first white woman to cross Abyssinia from west to east with her own caravan. She had an audience with Menelik, negus of Abyssinia, and received every courtesy on her travels, even from chiefs of tribes whom the negus regarded as hostile.

Keen as she is for sport, Mrs. McMillan did not go with her husband on his last trip to their African ranch, in which he made preparations for Mr. Roosevelt's reception. She passed the interval in visiting her kin in this country.

The McMillans make their home in England now, having two fine residences, one in Devonshire, the other at 19 Hill street, London.

The McMillan residence on the Juba ranch in Africa is a very comfortable place. It was built in sections in the United States, is lighted with electricity and is connected by telephone with Nairobi, distant some thirty miles. Mr. Roosevelt rested there between hunting trips and worked on articles describing his adventures and the dangers he has passed.

AN INTERESTING MATCH.

Engagement of Vice President Sherman's Son Richard to Utica Girl.

An engagement of much interest in Washington and in Utica, N. Y., is that of Richard Updike Sherman, a son of the vice president of the United States, to Miss Eleanor Miller of Utica. The wedding will take place in the fall. The Sherman family have a great many friends in Washington, where the vice president has long been known through his prominence, previous to a year ago, as a member of the house of representatives. Richard Sherman graduated three years ago from Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y., and for a time was assistant professor of mathematics in that institution. Later he became secretary to the collector of the port of New York, but recently he engaged in business in Utica. Miss Miller is the second daughter of the late Henry W. Miller of Utica and was left a considerable fortune by her father.

Simple.

"You say you have discovered the fundamental basis of criticism?"

"I have," answered the musician.

"You must stick to these two propositions: If anything is a success it is not real art, and if anything is real art it will not be a success."—Washington Star.

Too Much Muscle.

A young highland plowboy was pestering a female servant with his unwelcome attentions, and one day he proposed. At this instant the pair (they were walking in the fields) came upon another servant, a man, sleeping instead of working. The lassie, a brawny wench, seized a stick and beat the idler till he roared. When he had slunk off to his duty the swain remarked admiringly:

"Ma certie, lassie, but ye cud well manage yer childer."

"Aye, or their father," replied the girl, with a significant look.

The lover turned pale.

"Ma lass," he gasped, "I jist remembered ma auld mither at hame. I'm her only laddie, and I think it's na richt for me tae mairry while she's alive. W-w-when she dees I'll come back an' mairry yer."

And as he got safely away he said fervently, "May the Lord alloo ma mither to live as lang as me!"

Deeply Interested.

The play was one of Shakespeare's tragedies. Mrs. Simmons and her little boy, having been unable to secure seats in the parquet, were well located in the front row of the first balcony, where they could see better and hear almost as well as if they had been farther forward on the main floor. Mrs. Simmons was agreeably surprised at the interest that Bobby appeared to take in the somber drama. He sat leaning forward, with his elbows on the cushioned railing in front of him, resting his head on his hands, deeply absorbed. As the curtain went down on the first act he straightened up.

"Well, dear, how do you like Shakespeare?" asked his mother. "Are you enjoying the play?"

"Mamma," said Bobby with the air of one who has made a great discovery, "there are sixty-nine men here that have got bald spots on top of their heads! I've counted 'em five times!"

Swallowing a Reindeer.

"Doctor, doctor! I's swallowed a reindeer!"

Choking violently and literally black in the face, a negro boy rushed into the office of a throat specialist. His small woolly head jerked frantically, and his eyes rolled in anguish. It was very evident that some irritating substance had lodged in his throat.

The specialist summoned his assistant.

"Dr. Blank, here is a young man who says he has swallowed a reindeer."

"Nawsur," sputtered the patient, "it weren't a whole reindeer. It were jess his nake and his horns."

The physicians removed the offending object.

With a long sigh of relief the pickaninny opened his eyes. His glance rested on the instrument table.

"Yassur, dat's de reindeer."

It was an Elks button.—Los Angeles Times.

The Very Worst.

Clara (with emotion)—George, are you sure you will always love me?

George (fervently)—While life lasts, my own.

Clara (suppressing a tear)—George, if trials and tribulations should come.

George (amazed)—My heart is yours alone, my love, and always will be.

Clara (sobbing)—George, are you sure, perfectly sure, that nothing—nothing at all—could cool your affection?

George (thoroughly alarmed)—My gracious! What's happened? Has your father failed?

Clara (hysterically)—Worse, far worse!

George (much relieved)—Tell me all, my angel. I can bear it.

Clara (with a heroic effort)—George, I've—I've got a—boil coming—coming on my nose.—London Tit-Bits.

A Polished Rascal.

Mrs. Hanson—I understand, sir, that you have secretly been making love to my daughter, and I must forbid an acquaintance begun in that way. You should have seen me first.

Shrewd Suitor—Madam, had I seen you first I should have forgotten your daughter and fallen in love with you.

Mrs. Hanson—Um! The informality of the proceedings was all I objected to. Come with me, and I will introduce you to my husband.

Nelson River.

The Nelson river may be described as one of the greatest rivers of the world as regards the actual volume of water discharged into the Hudson bay. Its total length is approximately 400 miles, and its drainage area is tremendous. Its tributaries cover the whole of Manitoba, the greater portion of Alberta, Saskatchewan, North Dakota and Ontario west of the great lakes, where they also enter Montana and Minnesota.—Exchange.

Two Points of View.

Said the woman, "I wonder if her hair waved naturally."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hope.

"Hope," remarked the mere man, "is certainly a wonderful thing."

"It is," rejoined the wise woman. "Why, one little nibble will keep my husband fishing all day."—Chicago News.

Advice.

"If you take a little in return."

The complaint of Geo. Younger, claiming that he paid his 1908 real estate taxes to B. G. Gossard and later on again to J. A. Cochran, under protest and asking for a refund of said second payment, was on motion rejected. The board agreeing, however, that they will refund the second payment if Mr. Younger produces the receipt issued to him by B. G. Gossard.

On motion the county treasurer was instructed to transfer from the school district fund of District No. 10, the sum of $26.81, and place the same to the credit of District No. 2, this sum being the amount of the personal taxes of Marion Powell and of Powell & Smith for the years 1907, 1908 and 1909, and the real estate taxes on lots 13 and 14 section 13-27, for 1905, 1906 and 1907, which were credited to District No. 10, when they should have been credited to District No. 2.

On motion the county treasurer was instructed to collect taxes on the north half of lot 5, block 21, 1st addition to McCook, of $294, without interest, as J. D. McChie, owner of said real estate, holds a tax receipt issued by B. G. Gossard, for said taxes, while they are not marked paid on the tax list.

The claim for tax refund of Herman Schneider for 1908 taxes on the S. E. of 27-28, claiming too high assessment, was on motion rejected.

On motion W. P. Wood was appointed overseer of Highways for District No. 15, Driftwood precinct.

Whereas, since the burning of the county wagon road bridge about one-half mile west of Willow station on the 31st day of January, 1909, the C. B. & Q. R. R. Co. has constructed and completed a bridge at the place where the county had maintained a bridge prior to the fire complained of and said bridge constructed and completed by said railroad company has been accepted by said county in lieu of the one lately destroyed by fire.

Therefore, be it resolved by the board of county commissioners of said county, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company be and the same is hereby released of all claims and demands of every nature for the part of said county by reason of the burning of the bridge at the place herebefore mentioned, and the bridge constructed in lieu thereof by said railroad company shall be accepted as payment in full for all demands on the part of said county by reason of said railroad company setting on fire and causing the destruction of the bridge at said place, and this shall act as receipt and discharge in full for all demands of the county against said railroad company on account of the burning of the wagon road bridge belonging to said county.

The petition of T. E. McDonald and others, (105 signers), asking for the establishment of a public road, was read and considered. The board finds that all the owners of land along the line of the proposed road have given their consent thereto in writing and that the public good requires it and on motion same was granted, establishing a public road, No. 125, as follows:

Commencing at the southeast corner of the N. E. 1/4 of the N. E. 1/4 of section 24, Twp. 1, Range 28, running thence west on the quarter section line one-half mile, to the southwest corner of the N. W. 1/4 of the N. E. 1/4, thence north on the half section line one-quarter of a mile, intersecting the section line road now established between sections 13 and 24, Twp. 1, Range 28. It is understood that the half mile running east and west is to be established all on the south of said quarter section line, provided however, if the owner or owners desire, said quarter road may bear to the N. E. enough to clear any buildings that may be in line with said proposed road, also the quarter of a mile running north and south is to be located all west of the half section line, and the clerk was instructed to notify the overseer of highways to open said road.

On motion the board adjourned to meet June 18, 1909.

S. Premer, Chairman.
