A London Hospital Doctor's Hurry Patient From the Outside.

WALLIAM UP WILLIAM

His Wily Wife Finally Got What She Was After.

IT WAS A WELL PLAYED GAME

William Was a Little Slow, but When the Lady's Trump Card Was Played He Said Just What She Wanted Him to Say From the Very Start.

"William," said Mrs. Gilmartin, bending over the sewing in her lap, "what A wind of fifty-two miles an hour do you think we'd better have Thursgives waves of an average height of day night when the Pritchards come?" Mr. Gilmartin lowered his paper an waves will attain a height of forty instant and stared across the table at

> "Have?" he said. "Why, I suppose we'll have a couple of games of cinch and a lot of foolish talk, as usual." "I mean what will we have to eat-effect of the newly born wind is to stupid!" explained his wife. "You know they always have a little lunch when we go over to their place." "Oh, to eat!" echocd Gilmartin, resunding his newspaper. "Why, have whatever you like. I don't care." Mrs. Gilmartin siched and patted the sewing on her knee after taking a furtive glance at her engrossed husband. "That's easy enough to say," she observed. "but I want to talk to you about it. This is important. Do help me out. Will," she added. "I've thought up'il I'm dizzy, and nothing seems quite the thing." "H-m-m!" said Gilmartin, frowning at the wall paper and trying to think. "Why, I should think-er-almost anything would do that's-er-nice-who ever they usually have, you know," he added rather helplessly. "Go ahead and get up a nice little supper. You know bow." And he calmly resumed his newspaper.

"But this is different, dear," persisted Mrs. Gilmartin, puckering he brows and her sewing in her agitation. "This is Mrs. Prit hard's birthda and we invited them to celebrate it with us weeks and weeks ago. You know she's such a stickler for having everything just right. I'm worried

"What is there to worry about?" demanded her husband, looking over the top of the paper in surprise. "I suppose the Pritchards eat about the same sort of things the rest of us do. I never saw much difference the few times we had a bite with them. They aren't any better than we are, as far as I can see. I guess what's good enough for us is good enough for Al Pritchard and his wife."

er pathetic sigh and said: "It isn't the actual food I'm worrying about and whether it will be, as you say, good enough for them. That's silly. But it's the selection of a little menu for a birthday party and the table decorations and the lights and-and everything," she added. "Mrs. Pritchard says it's the little things that show the clever housekeeper."

There was silence for a few moments, and then Mrs. Gilmartin ventured a suggestion:

"Creamed oysters are nice," she said, "Um-hum," breathed the head of the house absently. "What was that?" he demanded, turning suddenly. "I didn't

"I said creamed oysters are nice." repeated Mrs. Gilmartin.

"Sure! Of course they are!" he declared with enthusiasm, "All right, Let's have creamed oysters," and he dived into the stock market reports.

"Well, you don't imagine we can make a whole birthday supper o creamed oysters, do you?" demanded Mrs. Gilmartin indignantly. "There must be a lot of other things thought of. Mrs. Pritchard says it's just these little affairs that bring out real tact and good taste."

"Oh, bother Mrs. Pritchard!" snapped Gilmartin.

"Why, Will!" said his wife mildly. "I'm afraid you're out of sorts this evening, and I did want to have a nice long talk about this little supper, because so much depends on it.'

"I beg your pardon," said her husband contritely, laying down his paper. "I didn't mean to be cross. Now, what will we have after the creamed

"I suppose a chicken salad or some thing like that would be all right," said Mrs. Cilmartin rather doubtfully, "and we ought to have a stuffed tomate, although that seems awfully common and ordinary for a birthday party. You know the Pritchards always turn the whole thing over to Robbem, who has that caterer's place near them, whenever they have anything sort of formal-a birthday or a holiday party like this, you know." "What do we want of a caterer to by him in his lecture as an illustration get up supper for four people?" de manded Mr. Gilmartin. "You can get away with it in great shape with Hilda to help you out."

"Oh, I didn't mean for us to get Rob had left home without this halfpenny bem," she said, glancing at him from beneath her lashes. "I was just telling you how easy it is for them. Mrs. Pritchard says it's absurd for people to go to the expense of hiring a caterer for a small affair unless they have plenty of money."

Mr. Gilmartin stood up and took a turn across the floor.

"Oh, she does, does she?" he said defiantly. "Is that so? Well, you just go over to Robbem's tomorrow and put the whole thing in his hands and quit worrying. I guess we an stand for it about as easily as Al Pritchard can." Mrs. Gilmartin dropped her sewing to the floor with a delightful little squeal, ran around the table and threw both arms around his neck. "Oh, you old dear," she gooed, "that's just what I wanted you to say all striving good enough to be called a Dated this 17th day of June, 1909.—18-5ts

PATTI'S EARNINGS.

The Shrewd Financial Methods of the Lucical Miracle.

Adelina latti never suffered from the financial timidity of a Jenny Lind. Adams, Mr. Sam Not only was she a supreme vocalist; Fahrenbruck, Mr. David Fisher, Miss Anna but, as Coionel Mapl son remarked, Lively, Monroe "no one ever appr. ached her in the art | Nelson, W. E. of obtaining from a manager the Piper, Mr. Geo. greatest possible sum he could by any possibility contrive to pay." But the musical miracle was the spoiled darling of her day, and she never failed to obtain exactly what she wanted. She was first engaged in London in Mahannah, Mr. W. J. 1861 by Mapleson to sing four nights St. Clair, Genevive "on approval" and in case of success to obtain £40 a week. This contract was not fulfilled, however, for, being hard pressed finantially, she had borrowed £50 from a rival manager, and her receipt proved practically a con- Matthews, Mr. Jake tract. This was the beginning of a Reed, Mr. A. W. career so dazzling that its successive Smith, Mr. Henry I. steps are simply a series of increasing banknotes. In 1872 she obtained in London 200 guineas a night, since slinsisted on having more than Christia Nilsson, who was receiving £200. She sang twice a week. Ten years late she was given $5,000 a night! Her fa mous contract to sing in America pr vided that the money should be pa her at 2 o'clock on the day she sang also a drawing room and sleeping ca to be especially built for her, with conservatory, fernery, etc. Further. there was to be deposited to her credit $50,000 for payment of the last to performances- Patti's favorite device. She thus received about twenty times what Mario and Grisl got.

Her private car incidentally cost $60,000 and contained a silver .ba and gold keys to the doors, to so nothing of a $2,000 piano. Patti gato the manager only her voice and har costumes. Der drawing capacity just! fied this, "Lucia," as an example, was sung to an "verage of $14,000. "Trav ata" drew more, since she sang more notes. It was a frequent occurrence among the poorer music lovers to be a club ticket and each take turns hearing her for twenty minutes. one overstayed his time he paid for the entire ticket. Some mathematicians computed by dividing the number of notes sums by the sum paid that in "Semiramide" Patti received 42% cen for each note. This was found to be just 7 1-10 cents a note more than Rossini got for writing the whole opera .-George Middleton in Bookman.

Why She Was Right.

Haydn ! ad a peculiar way of determining the time in which a piece of music should be sung. On one occasion a female singer in high esteem at court had been appointed to sing one of Haydn's compositions. At the rehearsal she and the conductor differed as to the time of the muric. erve sickness—nothing eise.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend
