The Great Memorial to Washington

FIE public inl terest in George Washington broadens and deepens with every passing year. and the scenes and memorials of his grand career are viewed with ever growing reverence Relics, statues, por traits, etc., of the great man never lose interest, and in the near future a memorial is to be erected to his memory that the entire country may share in and feel proud of.

For several years the George Wash ington Memorial association has been before the public, and a great many prominent people have been in crested in it. This movement has received a new impetus recently, plans having been made to give it a wider scope. which seem to insure complete success in the undertaking. These plans in clude giving the patriotic men and wo 25 00 men throughout the country a chance 46 50 to assist in the good work with sub-E. F. Osborn, boarding prisoner Oct. '09 17 00 scriptions of $1 or more and to awaken interest among the school children and let them feel that they have an owner ship, so to speak, in the memorial they will each be asked to give the small sum of 10 cents.

The George Washington Memorial association was incorporated in the 12 10 city of Washington in September. 1898, in response to a call made to the patriotic women of this country in August of the same year. The association determined to raise a fund for the erection of a building, to be known as the George Washington Memorial building, in commemoration of our first president and his interest in higher education in America.

Many, perhaps all, know that Wash ington in his last will (July, 1799) provided $25,000 for the endowment of a university in the District of Columbia. This legacy is no longer available, and all the more, therefore, should we consider it a privilege to assist in carrying out the thought so often expressed by Washington in his various mes sages to the congress and in his fare 2 50 well address, "Promote, then, as an tions for the general diffusion of knowledge." He also urged "the promotion of science and literature."

George Washington was a broad minded man, and there is no doubt that if he were living today he would recognize that such institutions as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia. Johns Hopkins, Chicago, Stanford and many others of similar character have accomplished the purpose he had in mind at that time. But he would also realize that in the general advance in all lines of activity, bearing on the education and welfare of the people. there is still a great work to be accomplished in this general diffusion of knowledge and the promotion of science and literature. At the present time there are no suitable facilities for bringing together at Washington the patriotic, scientific, educational, literary and art activities of our nation that may need such opportunities as will be provided.

The building will be dedicated to the increase and diffusion of knowledge in all lines of human activity that will conduce to the advancement of the welfare of mankind.

It is to be well located, attractive in appearance, practical in plan and construction and of the most durable character. It is to be planned so as to furnish a home and gathering place for national patriotic, scientific, educational. literary and art organizations that may need such accommodations, including the Washington Academy of Sciences and its sixteen affiliated societies. It will furnish a place where all the patriotic societies, both north and south, may testify to their love for the Father of His Country. The building will contain a great hall or about twenty-five acres. auditorium and room for large congresses, such as the recent tuberculoresearch rooms.

THE DAVIS CUP.

Two Americans to Play In Australia

For the Cherished Trophy. Lovers of tennis the world over are keenly interested in the international tennis competition to be held in Australia Nov. 25, 27 and 28, and it promises to be one of the most interesting sport events ever played in that country. The match is for the Davis cup which two years ago was won by Wilding and Brookes, representing Australia. The Davis cup, as it is commonly called, has become the gli edged trophy of the lawn tennis world.

Dwight F. Davis, formerly a Har vard man, traveled abroad in 1899 or a lawn tennis trip. He was one of the leading players of this country. While he was on the other side he suggested the plan of an international trophy and the British received it with en thusiasm. When he returned to the country he completed the plans, and in 1900 the trophy was put up.

From 1900 to 1903 the Davis cup was held by the United States, from 1903 to 1907 by the United Kingdom and for the past two years it has been held by Australia. In 1908 Wright and Alexander journeyed to the antipodes from this country in an effort to bring back the cherished trophy, but failed, and two other American play ers, Melville Long and Maurice Mc Laughlin, have now gone after it.

GOTHAM'S SKYSCRAPER.

Metropolitan Life Building Is the Tallest In the World.

Two sleepy looking urchins stood looking up at Gotham's tallest office building recently. Said one:

"Hully gee, Bill, but I'd like to git a job in de top floor of dat moon buster." "What fur?" asked the other in as C. H. ROYLE tonishment. "Why," was the reply, with a long-

The structure the boys were looking at was the Metropolitan Life building in New York city, the tower of which has just been completed, and it does strike one in trying to sight the top of it that it would mean a day's journey to get there. The big structure is one of the great sights of the metropolis
