REPUBLICAN TICKET VICTORIOUS.

Every Candidate on the Ticket Can Read His Title Clear to a Certificate of Election.

Tuesday's election was one of the most energetically contested in recent years. On the city ticket the majority was the storm center. The contest between Huber and Real was close, and in some doubt until the vote of "Little Russia" was safely delivered from the second ward. They doubtless decided the day for Huber, whose majority is 50 in a total of 686 votes.

The vote on the entire ticket is as follows:

	1st W.	2nd W.	Total
Mayor—
Huber, R.....	182	191	373
Real, D.....	200	123	323
Huber's majority.....			50
City Clerk—
Conover, R.....	287	243	530
Gatewood, D.....	32	68	100
Conover's majority.....			370
Treasurer—
Thorgrimson, R.....	266	240	506
McMillen, D.....	111	71	182
Thorgrimson's majority.....			324
Engineer—
Campbell, R.....	341	289	630
Police Judge—
Heaton, R.....	258	216	474
Sullivan, D.....	103	87	190
Heaton's majority.....			278
Councilman, 1st Ward—
Stansberry, R.....			200
Garvey, D.....			177
Stansberry's majority.....			23
Councilman, 2nd Ward—
Wood, R.....			292
School Board—
Culbertson, R.....	313	250	563
Doan, R.....	246	221	467
Green, D.....	204	121	325
Ryan, D.....	153	91	244

The school board contest was very active, both sides being championed vigorously by the ladies, but the result was quite emphatic for the Republican nominees.

The initiative and referendum was decisively defeated.

MAGNIFICENT WALL PAPERS.

Take the first opportunity to see this season's stock of wall papers. There is nothing like it to be seen elsewhere in this part of the state. We are showing the latest novelties and so many of them that our stock is well worth a sight seeing visit from any one.

The prices are as reasonable as the papers are fine. Our large buying enables us to make savings which we save for our customers. We provide every advantage in quality, assortment and price.

Mrs. A.—"The lecturer described heaven as consisting of seven entirely distinct heavens, one above the other." Mrs. B.—"Dear me! I shouldn't fancy that kind. It's too suggestive of the modern flat."

Damaged Steve's New Automobile.

Steve Wilson's fine new auto met disaster, Tuesday morning, about two o'clock, returning with a passenger from a drive to Indianola. The Carter bridge about a mile west of Red Willow was recently burned out, and evidently adequate measures had not been taken to protect the travelers against driving into the hole. Joe Malcolm was driving the car and in the darkness failed to see the hole and the heavy car plunged into the opening. Fortunately neither driver nor passenger were injured, although the passenger was thrown through the glass wind shield. The car was quite badly damaged. A dray wagon was sent out, Tuesday afternoon, and the damaged car brought to the city. Repairs have been going for and Steve will have his car wired for some in a short while.

The Old Maids Make a Hit.

The Methodist church was filled, Tuesday evening, on the occasion of their convention. After a lively debate, the young ladies decided that they would continue to cling. Prof. Makeover then introduced his marvelous machine, and ground out youthful men and maidens of accomplishments to the evident satisfaction of the old maids and the audience. Coincidentally, there was a program of vocal and instrumental music.

The old maids enjoyed quite a liberal patronage and no end of applause.

Ivy Day Orator.

At a meeting held by the Senior Class at the University of Nebraska, on April 5th, John L. Rice was elected Ivy Day Orator. Entering the law department three years ago John took class honors for excellence in scholarship in his freshman year. He has since then represented Nebraska twice in intercollegiate debates. His class now rightly honors him.

A DISASTROUS RUNAWAY.

Mrs. M. J. Stroud and Miss Ollie Huet Both Quite Badly Hurt, But Are Progressing Nicely.

Near the Morrissey home in southeastern McCook, Tuesday evening, in a runaway, Mrs. M. J. Stroud was thrown from the spring wagon on her face and shoulder and very painfully injured, though fortunately her injuries are not grave and she is resting comfortably.

Miss Ollie Huet fared worse with a fracture of the knee.

Mrs. J. M. Huet was also thrown out, but escaped severe hurts.

Mrs. Stroud was rendered unconscious and was so found in the road by a passing auto company and taken into the nearby Morrissey home.

It was a gentle team they were driving and they are at a loss to understand what caused their unusual conduct.
