and have reason to be, over the satisfaction of those who have come to us for wall paper this spring, although it's a little early in the season. The large number of rooms that we have so elegantly fitted with paper, speaks well for the assortment we have to select from, and in complimentary to the artists who so nicely combine the colors, schemes and artistic designs into such pleasing combinations. We also have a nice line of cheaper papers, room moulding and other decorations. We are always pleased to show our paper and invite all who are interested to come in and look them over.

Adultery Case Reversed.

The case of James Purdy, who was found guilty in the district court of Red Willow county on a complaint charging him with adultery, has been reversed by the supreme court. The court holds that it is material whether or not Nancy J. Lane, the woman in the case, was married. Purdy was not permitted to offer testimony showing that Nancy J. Lane was not the lawful wife of William H. Lane who had said she was his wife. Purdy contended that Lane had not been divorced from a former wife prior to his marriage to Nancy J. Lane. On this account the suit is reversed for error—Lincoln Journal.

To the Public.

I issued a proclamation setting Tuesday, April 12, as a cleaning up day. I appealed to the citizen of McCook, touching their civic pride and their general welfare for the health of the community, and I want to take this opportunity to kindly thank all those who cooperated with us in trying to make the streets and alleys of McCook a pride instead of a disgrace.

I find there are some that have either forgotten or else do not intend to take care of their alleys or clean up the refuse on their lots, and to these I want to say, I have ordered the streets and alleys committee to serve a notice and if this notice is not complied with, I will see that the offenders' lots and alleys are cleaned and this expense will be taxed up to their property.

I trust that I will not have to cause any distress to any citizen of McCook, but I wish to say that this administration proposes to make all offenders of the law be as decent as possible and a person that allows tin cans, ashes, papers and rubbish of any nature to accumulate on their lots or in the alleys are not only violators of our city ordinance but are also violators of the laws of the state of Nebraska.

I appeal to you for the last time. Comply with the law and clean up. April 25, 1910. ED. HUBER, Mayor.

Pleased With Their Sale.

W. N. Rogers of Shadland is greatly pleased with the result of the combination sale in South Omaha. The Rogers had some thirty head of cattle in the big sale of over one hundred animals. Theirs was the highest average among the sales—$186 10 per head. When it is a matter of delivering the goods in the Hereford cattle line or managing a sale, W. N. Rogers has most of them beaten eight furlongs, and then some.

THE BOARD ELECT CORPS OF TEACHERS.

The List Includes Most of the Present Corps—Miss Bednar Resigns and is Succeeded by Miss Cora Scott.

The board of education announces the selection of the following teachers for the next term of school to cooperate with Sup't C. W. Taylor in maintaining McCook's schools among the best in the state:

To succeed Miss Julia Bednar, resigned, they have chosen Miss Cora Scott, who has been teaching language in the high school. Miss Scott is an able and experienced teacher, and The Tribune hopes to see her give a good account of herself as principal of the high school.

The following high school teachers have been re-elected:

Miss Esther Bailey, Miss Ida H. Bowles, Miss Mary Hartwell. Re-elected grade teachers are: Misses Mary Powers, Ada Skjelver, Susanna Ward, Laura McMillen, Grace Lant, Anna Hannan, Martha Abel, Christine Hollister, Phoebe Waite, Lillian Moore, Catherine Price, Cleo Rector, Leonora Dougan, Louise Donisthorpe, Millie Slaby and Mrs. May Douglass.

There are a few vacancies, which will be filled later.

Miss Dougan will be in charge of the music instruction.

Sup't Taylor, Mrs. J. E. Morrissey and Miss Gertrude Morrissey will depart, tonight, for North Platte, where Miss Gertrude will contest in the State Declamatory Contest, Friday night. Here's more skill to her cleverness.

The board is furthering some improvements at the East ward school building: Filling it with dirt, grading, seeding for lawn, cement walks, and so forth.

Respond to the Proclamation.

Elsewhere in this paper you will find the second clean-up proclamation of the mayor. The Tribune wants to "second the motion" with all the emphasis at its command. There is nothing further to be stated in this connection other than to direct attention to the sentence in Mayor Huber's proclamation which makes it clear that this is final on this subject and that those who refuse or neglect to comply will be compelled to observe the laws of Nebraska and the ordinances of this city made and provided. It is however, gratifying to see how promptly most of the people of the city complied with the first order and to note the improved appearance and sanitary condition of many of the alleys of the city.

Frank Real Weds Springfield Lady.

Wednesday, April 27th, 1910. Mr. Frank Real of our city and Miss Mary Eloise Langeman of Springfield, Illinois, were united in marriage in that city.

Their wedding trip will include a visit to Boston, Washington, D. C., New York City and other points, returning to McCook by the latter part of May.

The Tribune extends its congratulations, and with them its heartiest wishes.

Mr. Real is one of McCook's most substantial businessmen of the highest type. The bride comes from a family of standing in Illinois' state capital; is accomplished and cultured.

Junior Normal This Year.

The eighth annual session of the McCook Junior Normal will begin June 6 and last to July 29. From all indications there will be a large attendance. All subjects for first, second and third grade certificates will be given. Any one desiring announcement of course of study and program of work can have same by asking the registrar, Miss Elizabeth Bettcher. The institute work will be June 13. Two special instructors have been provided for this week in addition to the regular faculty. For work in any of the branches indicated there is no better school in the state.

In a Serious Condition.

Gordon Hartman was taken to Lincoln, Tuesday night, for an operation for appendicitis. His mother and Mrs. C. R. Woodworth accompanied him. An operation was only partially accomplished, Wednesday, and had to be suspended on account of the weak condition of the patient and the startling state of a portion of the patient's intestines. A telegram about noon today states he is in critical condition but slightly improved over yesterday.

Dole-Hatcher.

Mr. Gary Dole and Miss Claudia B. Hatcher were united in marriage, Wednesday evening, at home of bride near Indianola. The bride is the late county superintendent and the groom general foreman for the Burlington at Denver. Both are known to a wide circle of admiring friends for their sterling worth. Every good thing we wish them, and as few of life's ills as possible.

Engagement Announced.

Mrs. C. J. Bowlby entertained the Bachelor Girls' Club and the Cypher Girls' Club informally Tuesday eve and as one of the little surprises, she announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Virginia, to Prof. Chas. W. Harris in the department of engineers in the Washington University at Seattle. Prof. Harris is a graduate of Cornell.—Crete Democrat.

The Value of a Dollar

Did you ever lose your position without warning or become disabled and so been kept from work for several weeks? Did you have money to carry you through? The value of a dollar asserts itself in time of misfortune and too often is thought of only in time of need. If you would know the value of each one you earn in the bank. Then when you are overtaken by misfortune you will have funds to tide you over, and will not learn by bitter experience what can be prevented by a little foresight.

BANKRUPTCY HEARING FROM HAYES.

Thomas J. O'Neill of Hayes Center Makes Application, and C. A. Ready Is Chosen as Trustee.

Thomas J. O'Neill of Hayes Center recently made application to become a bankrupt under the federal laws. The hearing in the case was held in McCook, Monday, before Referee Gus Norberg of Holdrege. Quite a number of creditors were present or were represented. It is stated that the liabilities of O'Neill, who was a Hayes Center merchant, were considerable, and the assets altogether insufficient. C. A. Ready, a lawyer of that burg, was made trustee in the case.
