

Old Dutch Cleanser
In The Farm Kitchen is the greatest help and convenience.

It Cleans, Scrubs, Scours, Polishes.

Pots, kettles, pans, boilers, sinks and flat-irons; milk pails and separators; wood floors, etc., easier, quicker and better.

Some cleansers are harmful. Avoid caustic and acid. Use this One handy, all-round cleanser for all your cleaning—a time and labor saver throughout the house.

TO CLEAN FLOORS—
Wood, Linoleum or Stone

Wet—sprinkle with Old Dutch Cleanser and rub with mop or scrubbing brush; then mop with clean water.

This will give you quick, unusual and most satisfactory results.

LARGE SIFTER CAN 10¢

District Court Proceedings.

E. C. Clark vs. C. B. & Q. Ry. Company; damage. Continued.

Hiram C. Rider vs. William Huber and R. D. Geddings; suit on note. Continued.

John Morris vs. McCook Water Works Company; injunction. Demurrer sustained as to J. E. Kelley; overruled as to McCook Water Works Company. Plaintiff excepts; 30 days to answer.

Lettie A. Brown vs. John H. Granis; appeal. Death of plaintiff suggested continued.

Kettle Rivers Quarries Company vs. R. N. Liberty and A. S. Ennis; suit on contract. Default of R. N. Liberty.

Geo. W. Wyrick vs. John J. Strunk, et al.; equity. Dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Harry Morris Bailey, by Weaver Bailey, his next friend and natural guardian vs. C. B. & Q. Railway Co.; damage. Jury waived; trial to court; plaintiff given judgment for $225.

Wm. Jefferies vs. Hubert Beach; damage. Continued.

Steele-Weedles Co. vs. David Diamond and Mrs. David Diamond, his wife; equity. Continued.

Frank Stillman vs. C. B. & Q. Railway Company; appeal. Continued.

Clara E. Smyth vs. Claude Smyth; divorce. Continued.

State of Nebraska, ex rel. Kunkel, vs. Henry N. Colling; mandamus. Continued.

R. P. Smith & Sons Co. vs. David Diamond; reviver of judgment. Continued.

Edith N. Deeder vs. Arthur J. Deeder; divorce. Dismissed.

Lavonia Finch vs. Albert R. Weeks; damage. Order to comply with order of court instant or cause dismissed.

Charles A. Hotze vs. John B. Rozell; damage. Motion to strike out part of amended petition, sustained. Plaintiff allowed 30 days to file amended petition, defendant 30 days thereafter.

William B. Mills et al. vs. Viola Ballew; appeal. Erroneously on docket.

Polk Bros. vs. Frank Carson, Bella Weidenhamer, and W. M. Weidenhamer; equity. Dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

Stansberry Lumber Co., a corporation, vs. School District of the City of McCook, et al.; equity. Motion to strike out overruled; defendant school district and officers except. Sustained motion to make more definite as to 3rd and 8th counts; overruled as to others. 10 days to file amended answer.

In the matter of the adoption of William E. Connor, a minor child, the court finds the issues in favor of the petitioner and plaintiff and grants the prayer of petitioner and plaintiff and decrees that petitioner and plaintiff be granted the adoption of Willie E. Connor as prayed in his petition. To which ruling and decree the defendant and relater duly except 40 days allowed to prepare and serve bill of exceptions. Motion for a new trial overruled. Lucy M. Rehman excepts. 40 days to prepare and serve bill of exceptions.

William Randel vs. Lottie Kennedy; appeal. Erroneously on docket. William H. Staples vs. Rudolph Quadnor; damage. Continued.

Lewis B. Korn vs. Indianola Driving Park Association. Continued.

Singer Sewing Machine Co. vs. E. F. Osborn; appeal. Leave to file petition instant. To answer 30 days.

Susie Kennedy vs. D. F. Osborn; appeal. 30 days to file answer.

Lewis Grams vs. Gustaf Schell; appeal. Continued.

The County of Red Willow vs. H. L. Peterson, et al. "Demurrer"; continued.

Oscar N. Rector and Clifford E. Rector vs. Jacob Schwartz. Injunction made perpetual.

State of Nebraska vs. George Liston criminal. Continued to June 27, 1910.

Laura E. Starr vs. Viola Ballew and Peterson Sisters; appeal. Special appearance sustained; plaintiff excepts.

Nebraska Central B. & L. Co. vs. Ed Jeffers and May Jeffers. Default; due plaintiff $789 with 10% interest from date. Decree of foreclosure.

William Buffington vs. John W. Hunter, et al. Title quieted in plaintiff.

James S. Doyle vs. Stratton W. Moore, et al. Title quieted in plaintiff.

Laura E. Starr vs. Frank Cain; appeal. Leave to file petition in 30 days.

Grace D. Caraway vs. Thomas J. Caraway; divorce. Court orders defendant pay plaintiff $15 per month during pendency of this action.

Wm. M. Hiller vs. Laura J. Hiller; divorce. Divorce granted plaintiff.

Edward Curlee vs. Reeves & Co.; damage. Order made to distribute proceeds: Hall, Woods & Pound, $700; E. B. Perry, $341; P. E. Reeder, $100.

Charles F. Lehn vs. Margaret H. Heade, et al.; equity. Sale confirmed and deed ordered.

In the matter of the application of Patrick Walsh, guardian of Ida Walsh insane, for leave to sell her interest in certain real estate, it was ordered that notice issue and be served. Continued to June 27, 1910.

In the matter of the application of M. E. church of McCook for authority to mortgage real estate, leave was given to mortgage the parsonage.

State of Nebraska vs. Charles Grant. Alternative writ issued to show cause why the defendant should not be punished for contempt for violating temporary restraining order, returnable forthwith. Continued to June 27, 1910. Also the motion to discharge restraining order on June 27.

DANBURY.

Dr. W. A. DeMay was an Atwood, Kansas, visitor, Tuesday last.

C. Wise from Hastings came home Monday last, and returned, Tuesday.

The Ideal Comedy Company gave a two nights' show in the opera house, this week. And there wasn't much to it.

Everybody saw the eclipse of the moon.

J. L. Sims is having the hotel repainted, which improves the looks greatly.

Barnett Witham from Cedar Bluffs was down on business, Thursday.

The ladies served dinner in S. G. Bastian's old store building, Decoration Day.

The Danbury and Bartley girls will play basket ball here, Friday.

Mrs. Addie Sewell has gone to Concordia, Kansas, on an indefinite visit.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Spease were Marion visitors, Friday, between trains.

P. M. Spease has been hired to teach school at Laurel, Nebraska.

Word has been received that Mrs. Perry Johnson of Gandy, Nebraska, is very sick.

Madeline McDonald came up from Beaver City on a visit between trains, Saturday, Flora going back with her, the same evening.

Claude Young and Griff DeMay were Indianola visitors, Sunday, for Decoration.

A large crowd was in town, Monday, for Decoration.

Foster Stilgebauer and family were over from Bartley, Monday.

The Conservation of Nature's Resources applies as well to our physical state as to material things. C. J. Budlong, Washington, R. L., realized his condition, and took warning before it was too late. He says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble, the disease being hereditary in our family. I have taken four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and now consider myself thoroughly cured. This should be a warning to all not to neglect taking Foley's Kidney Remedy until it is too late." A. McMillen.

Anecdotes About the Late King Edward

KING GEORGE V. LATE KING EDWARD VII. PRINCE EDWARD.

WHEN KING EDWARD WAS PRINCE OF WALES.

DURING the first twenty years of his life the little prince, who was afterward King Edward VII., rarely forgot for a moment that he was in all probability to be a ruler of the land. He lived in the firm belief that "a king can do no wrong."

When he was a boy of ten he was with his mother, Queen Victoria, at Balmoral castle, in the Highlands of Scotland. At that time the queen was quite a skillful painter in water colors and spent many days by the waterfalls and in the glens making pictures.

One day while she was sitting at her easel young Edward was playing around her. The little prince suddenly caught sight of a Highland lad in kilts. The lad was making a sand castle and adorning it with heather.

"Ye'll No Dae That Again!"

The prince advanced to him with royal hauteur and asked for whom the sand castle was being built.

"For bonnie Prince Charlie," was the playful reply of the boy, who stood with his hands on his hips to see the effect of a thistle on the top story. The lad had no idea that his interlocutor was any different from any other boy. The young prince, however, determined to make it clear that he, and not Prince Charlie, was to be king some day. He kicked over the castle.

The Highlander, glaring at him, said: "Ye'll no dae that again!"

It was a challenge. The lad rebuilt his sand castle very deliberately. The prince waited until the thistle was stuck on the top story, then kicked it over.

"Ye'll no dae that a third time!" challenged the little Scot, beginning to rebuild with even more deliberation.

The queen had been noticing the affair. She set aside her brush and palette, but said nothing, only watched.

A third time Prince Edward kicked over the Highland lad's sand castle. No sooner was it done than its tilted builder closed his fists and lowered his head. In another moment the two boys were hammering one another.

The queen sat there and never interfered by word or act. The little prince presently returned, weeping, bruised and bloody nosed, while the rebel Gael stood apart. To the little prince's plea for speedy justice and vengeance the motherly queen merely replied as she wiped the blood from the future king's nose:

"It served you right!"

One other boy who has long since grown into a tall, sturdy Californian told tales in former years of an encounter which in his schoolboy days he had in Scotland with the then youthful prince. In this case, too, it seems royalty was the aggressor. The Californian, James Miller, was living at the time in Scotland. As James was enjoying a donkey ride one morning near the Firth of Forth the prince passed by and—just for fun—pulled him out of his saddle. Next moment his royal highness found himself giving and taking blows with a pebbler rather bigger than himself, who did not spare him punishment. In after life the prince often referred pleasantly to the "little mixup." He never resented the drubbing he got, and once on learning that his former adversary was in money difficulties went generously to his assistance.

It was "Bertie" No Longer.

Edward VII. was a man who felt his dignity keenly. At heart he was one of his people. None ever realized more utterly than he that in the ideal he stood for the nation and was the personal representative of the people as a whole—their concrete expression. How deeply he felt that in small things was shown by simple acts. When Edward VII. was Albert, Prince of Wales, none could be more rollicking and gay. He had no closer friend than

KING EDWARD AT THE AGE OF SEVEN.

Lord Rothschild, the great banker. Driving in Tring park, Lord Rothschild's place in Hertfordshire, England, they would walk together like two overgrown boys, even to the extent of mashing in one another's hats in their exuberance. To Lord Rothschild then the prince was "Bertie." But the week that he became king he was heard to say, "Nye"—that was his pet name for Baron Nathan Rothschild—"it won't do now." He never was "Bertie" again, and there was no more knocking of hats over one another's eyes. The friendship remained the same, but the kingship had to be respected.

As King and as Private Person.

An incident at Sandringham, King Edward's estate in Norfolkshire, showed how keenly he felt that as king he belonged to his people and how closely he separated the kingly from the personal identity. He was attending the parish church as king. A newspaper photographer tried to step out into the pathway to obtain a snapshot. A couple of detectives seized the man by the neck and flung him back into the crowd. Edward VII. stopped, had the photographer called and posed for him. Later in the day Edward VII. was sauntering around his garden as a private person, enjoying a smoke after lunch. The same photographer, deeming he was safe as a persona grata, ventured over a fence for a picture of the king in private life. The king signaled to his guard, had the man seized and carried to the railroad station, with word that he was never to let himself be seen at Sandringham again.

King Edward was a "good fellow." A few years ago one of his closest friends was repeating to him something that had been overheard as to the qualifications of George, the new king, to take his place. King Edward smiled and replied: "Oh, that's all right! They've never heard George curse."

Intermarriages of With Other

- Princess Victoria married Emperor Frederick of Germany.
- King Edward VII. married Princess Alexandra of Denmark.
- Princess Alice married Louis, Grand Duke of Hesse.
- Alfred, Grand Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, married Grand Duchess Marie of Russia.
- Princess Helena married Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.
- Princess Louise married the Duke of Argyll.
- Arthur, Duke of Connaught, married Princess Louise of Prussia.
- Leopold, Duke of Albany, married Princess Helene of Waldeck-Pyrmont.
- Princess Beatrice married Prince Henry of Battenberg.

British Royalty Royal Houses

- Emperor William II., Charlotte, hereditary Princess of Saxe-Meiningen; Prince Henry of Prussia, Princess Adolphus of Schaumburg-Lippe, Sophia, Duchess of Sparta; Princess Frederick Charles of Hesse.
- Prince Albert Victor (deceased), George, Prince of Wales (now King George V.); Princess Louise, Duchess of Fife; Princess Victoria, Queen Maud of Norway.
- Victoria, Princess of Battenberg; Grand Duchess Sergius of Russia; Princess Henry of Prussia, Ernest Louis, Grand Duke of Hesse; Alexandra, empress of Russia.
- Princess Ferdinand of Roumania, ex-Grand Duchess of Hesse, hereditary Princess of Hohenzollern-Langenburg; Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg.
- Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein, Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, Princess Louise of Schleswig-Holstein.
- Princess Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden, Prince Arthur of Connaught, Princess Victoria Patricia of Connaught.
- Princess Alice of Teck, Charles Edward, Duke of Saxe-Coburg.
- Prince Alexander of Battenberg, Victoria, queen of Spain; Prince Leopold of Battenberg, Prince Maurice of Battenberg.

Jewell Gasoline Stoves
are sold in McCook by
H. P. Waite and Co.

June Bulletin of Excursion Rates

TO THE EAST: Unusually low and attractive summer tourist rates are in effect every day to New York, Boston, Atlantic Coast and Canadian resorts, Niagara Falls, Detroit and vicinity. Also for desirable Lake tours with 30 days limits, and 60 day diverse tours of the East, including coastwise ocean trip. These rates afford the best chance in years to make that long desired East-ern tour.

WESTERN TOURS: Very desirable tourist rates daily all summer to the Pacific Coast; for instance, $60.00 round trip, and on special dates only $50.00. A complete scheme of tours through Yellowstone Park for any kind of an outing journey; low excursion rates to Scenic Colorado, Big Horn Mountains, Black Hills and Thermopolis, Wyoming, one of the greatest hot springs sanitariums in the world.

CALL OR WRITE, describing your trip; let me help you plan it, including all the available privileges, etc.

D. CLEM DEEVER, General Agent,
Land Seekers' Information Bureau,
Room 6, "Q" Building, Omaha, Neb.

STARTLING!

IS THE SUCCESS of our (Pat'd) EXTENSION-ARM STACKER, which extends after it is half way up with the load, and is operated with one horse. Also our (Pat'd) PUSH RAKE, and (Denver Made) MOWER.

Our Clients and Competitors Acknowledge This

$25,000, invested in our factory to back our goods. Our elegant illustrated printed matter, and prices delivered at your station, sent free for the asking.

ASK CERTIFICATE and SOUVENIR FREE THE PLATTNER IMPLEMENT CO. DEPT. 7 DENVER, COLO.

Kindly mention this paper

THE TRIBUNE $150 Value for $100

V. FRANKLIN, Pres. G. H. WATKINS, Vice-Pres.
R. A. GREEN, Cash.

The Citizens National Bank of McCook, Nebraska

Paid-Up Capital $50,000 : Surplus $25,000

DIRECTORS
V. Franklin A. McMillen R. A. Green
G. H. Watkins Vernies Franklin

Hughes' Crescent Cottage Paints
are sold in McCook by
H. P. WAITE and CO.

D. W. COLSON
FIRE INSURANCE AGENT

I have Residence and Business Properties for Rent

Office Phone 16
Residence, Black 333
McCook, Nebraska

HIGH-PRICED McCOOK!

Living expenses have advanced 50 percent in the past few years, but you can get the BEST OF ALL KINDS OF COAL at the SAME OLD PRICE of the

BULLARD LUMBER CO.
Phone No. 1 M. O. McCLURE, Mgr.