EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATION.

The Fifth Annual Graduating Exercises of the Red Willow County Public Schools, Friday Afternoon, June 17, 1910, Were Replete With Interest and Full of Promise.

The McCook high school assembly room was the scene of an interesting event, last Friday afternoon, when therein occurred the eighth grade graduating exercises of the Red Willow county public schools.

The exercises were quite largely attended, especially by the members of the Junior Normal school. There were those present, however, from the various parts of the county represented among the forty-two graduates of the eighth grade.

The invocation was offered by Rev. Bryant Howe of the Methodist church. Dorothy Dungan followed with a piano solo, "Polish Dance," which was acceptably done.

Miss Kate L. Williams, the salutatorian, then briefly introduced Mr. G. A. Gregory, director of normal training, Lincoln, who delivered the class address, earnestly and in appropriate terms, congratulating the children upon the opportunity they enjoyed in the excellent schools of Red Willow county, and upon the progress they had so far made. He closed with the ardent hope that they might continue on through the high school work into the still higher opportunities of college and university endeavor.

Miss Florence Rosebush's vocal offering, "Good Night Little Girl," was plainly appreciated.

The cornet solo by Joseph Moore met with prompt approval. Ben Stahl was the victor. It was a simple but plain and earnest expression of their appreciation of the benefits and opportunities of the public schools.

Leta Monks sang effectively "Sing On."

The presentation of diplomas followed by Miss Elizabeth Bettcher, county superintendent. Of the forty-two in the class, just one-half were present to receive the diplomas in person, the others for various reasons not being able to be present.

The song, "Morning Invitation," by nine girls of the McCook High School Girls' Glee club made a decided hit and they responded to the enthusiastic encore.

Rev. Reed Taft Bayne of the Congregational church delivered the benediction, which ended the formal exercises of an event which cannot fail to appeal strongly to all who were present.

The Tribune has a congratulatory word for all interested, teachers and pupils, as well as for the heads of the state and county educational departments.
