Her Boy's Book.
A certain woman is going to keep a diary of the clever things said and done by her boy. She expects to buy a large book and jot down all the interesting events in the child's life, keep it a secret, and give it to him when he is of age. The mother is of literary turn of mind, and this book, if ever completed, will be valuable to the owner, as many pleasant little childhood incidents occur that one forgets.

No Snow on Highest Peaks.
Snow does not fall at a greater height than 16,000 feet above the sea level, there being no moisture in the atmosphere. Therefore the highest mountains are not capped with snow.
