Perhaps it were just as well for the capital re-location humorists to subside, temporarily, at least.

Alliance will vote, November 8, on the proposition to issue bonds in the sum of $5,000 to buy land for a city park, within or adjacent to the city.

Mr. Cordeal, who is making the race for state senator on the Republican ticket, was in this county the greater part of this week and made many friends. His election is conceded by all who know anything about the situation.—Stockville Faber.

While the governorship and county option are taking up much of the energy and attention of this campaign, Republicans of Nebraska should not overlook the fact that they have in the field an excellent state ticket from top to bottom; a ticket worthy of their votes and support.

The people of the Fifth district are hearing from Congressman Norris himself the deeply interesting story of the rise of insurgency in the house of representatives. At Beaver City, Wednesday evening, Mr. Norris held the closest attention of his audience while he gave incident after incident making plain the causes of the struggle in the house. There was little of the campaign flavor in Mr. Norris' address, no appeal for support, no promises of what he would do in the future. I thought, however, that Mr. Norris' course was somewhat dangerous. It seemed to me that every patriotic citizen in the audience would feel that he himself wanted to be in congress and help out in that fight and the similar ones to come.—Flora Bullock, in the State Journal.

GREAT-GRANDFATHER is telling a story of the Mexican War—how the "Napoleon of the West" was routed. If you'll just drop in here for a few minutes we'll be glad to tell you a story that will rout all notion that you can't be easily and handsomely fitted in "ready clothes"—clothes that you can put on and wear right now—no matter what your age or station in life.

This is a store for men - for all men - young men of 20 - old men of 80 - for the enthusiasm of youth and the dignity of age.

So we can clothe any men of any age, any time, and do it fittingly and right.

And in the story we'll tell you, we'll claim, demonstrate and prove to you that, in all the essentials of good clothes, cut, pattern, fit, quality and finish - both inside and out - there are no better-made, better-looking, better-wearing clothes than the kind we sell at the prices we ask - $15.00 to $40.00.

The story is ready and so are the clothes. Come in. Hear one and try on the others. See how they will fit you.

MEN'S OUTFITTERS FROM HEAD TO FOOT

The Republican legislative ticket is one that should command every Republican vote in the district. John F. Cordeal, candidate for senator, is a young man of ability, good business judgment, and an excellent gentleman. You won't miss it by working and voting for Mr. Cordeal.—Curtis Enterprise.

Charles D. Ritchie, Republican nominee for county attorney, is not only thoroughly qualified legally to be county attorney, and in high personal character, but he has every honorable inducement that any honest public official can have to conduct the office as economically as the same can be done, and the duties of the office efficiently performed, at the same time. Let the voters of Red Willow county keep this fact in mind. Ritchie will give you efficient service with every possible and practicable economy.

No one has license to prejudice Jim Dahlman's case faster than does Jim himself.

Those who heard the splendid address of Congressman Norris delivered here, Monday evening, cannot question the sincerity of the man. In a plain, unassuming way he recited the history of his work in congress, the fight the insurgents made against Cannonism, and it was evident to any observer that he had the audience with him, and many were the expressions of approval of his course. Men of all party lines were loud in praise of the address and the good work accomplished in the late congress, and none hesitate to say that he should be re-elected to continue the good work. We believe Judge Norris will carry the district this fall by a majority that will surprise even his most enthusiastic supporters.—Curtis Enterprise.

Edgar insists that Gilbert "put it back."

Julia Ward Howe passed away, October 17, in her 91st year.

Congressman Norris was greeted at Beaver City on Wednesday night of last week on his arrival from Orleans by automobile by an enthusiastic assemblage of his former neighbors. The court room was packed until standing room was in demand. Mr. Norris gave a full history of the origin and growth of the insurgent movement and a description of the various fights waged on behalf of the people by insurgent congressmen. It was a comprehensive presentation of this issue of national politics. Many Democrats who have been his lifelong friends there but who have not supported him for office declare that they will vote for him this year.—Oxford Standard.

State Railway Commissioner W. H. Cowgill died in a Lincoln sanitarium, Sunday night.

Mr. Voter, there is no use for you to hesitate in your choice for the man to represent you in the state senate next season. The ability, the character, the progressiveness of John F. Cordeal of McCook are such that it becomes your civic duty to vote for him. No one questions John F. Cordeal's honesty; no one questions his bright mentality; no one can truthfully assail his spotless integrity. He is a steadfast Republican, to be sure, but with a mind and interest so constituted that where his district is concerned, or where his duty to the state is involved, partisanship will assume secondary place and common sense will direct all his acts toward a higher plane of good citizenship. And that is what you want. Vote for Cordeal.—Benkelman News.

There is something reassuring in the knowledge that an "Aldrich for Governor" club has been formed in Omaha.

The sudden death of U. S. Senator Dolliver of Iowa removes from public life in the prime of life a foremost public man whose heart beat in genuine sympathy with the progressive sentiment of the great middle west. His progressiveness was able, aggressive and not afraid, and his death will be a distinct loss to the movement.

The people of the Fifth district of Nebraska are proud of Hon. G. W. Norris, their representative in congress, and they will see to it that he is sent back to Washington this fall. And then again, this is not the time to make the change. Mr. Norris and his ability will be needed to fight the machine and to help fulfill the Republican pledges.—Stockville Faber.
