HOW TO PREVENT WORMY APPLES

Spraying Death to Codling Moth.

(By R. F. Howard, Department of Horticulture, University of Nebraska.)

The codling moth has reached such a stage of development in Nebraska that it is no longer possible to grow apples free from worms without the trees are given some care. One may expect neglected trees to have anywhere from 20 to 85 per cent wormy fruits. Half of the crop may drop before it reaches maturity and the greater part of the remainder will be rendered unfit for market by the codling moth worm.

Spraying with some sort of arsenical poison is the only feasible way of controlling the codling moth. Arsenate of lead may be used at the rate of two pounds per fifty gallons of water. The first application should be given as soon as the flowers begin to drop, the second about three weeks later, and the third about the 20th of July. The first application should be directed downward in order to get the poison into the calyx cups. High pressure is essential for the first spraying, though the department demonstrated in a Columbus orchard last summer that it was possible to control the worms to 5 per cent with a hand barrel outfit by doing the work thoroughly.

Apple scab is the most troublesome fungous disease we have in Nebraska apple orchards. It begins growth in the early spring and causes a scaly, brown growth on the outer surface of the apples. Some of our prominent varieties, like the Jonathan and Winesap, are particularly susceptible to this disease. Either Bordeaux mixture or one of the commercial lime-sulphur sprays may be used in preventing its development. Bordeaux mixture can be made by using four pounds of fresh stone lime, four pounds bluestone and fifty gallons of water. Slack the lime in a small quantity of water, dissolve the bluestone, dilute each with twenty-two gallons of water and pour together. The lime-sulphur sprays are put on the market in concentrated form and all that is necessary to prepare them for use is simply to add about thirty gallons of water (this will depend upon the brand used) to one gallon of the concentrated.

Spray first for apple scab just before the individual flower buds open; second, as soon as the flowers begin to fall; third, three weeks after the flowers fall. Since the second and third application for apple scab come at the same time as the first and second application for codling moth, the arsenate of lead can be added to the Bordeaux or lime-sulphur, thus reducing the labor to half.

R. F. D. No. 1. W. N. Rogers is in Omaha where he is conducting a two-days' sale in South Omaha, of 105 head of Herefords—the biggest sale of the year in that market. A. D. Johnston, John Hammell, F. M. Kennedy and Frank Dudek "all marketed hogs yesterday. The boys don't like the looks of the hog market. Low—and going lower. Too much alfalfa was the cause of the death of one of Robert Johnston's horses last week. B. A. Frazier had a runaway with a disc a few days since, completely doing up the disc, but hurting no one or the horses fortunately. Besides they are having a siege of the measles in the family. Miss Margaret Evans has moved into her new cement block house. The old one—quite a landmark—is being torn down.

PROSPECT PARK—R. R. No. 3. Miss Jessie Armstrong is home for a few weeks' vacation. A ten-pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thole on Saturday morning. Little Cora Lee, who has been very ill, is slowly improving. There is to be a temperance program at the Prospect Park school house Sunday forenoon. Everyone invited. The farmers are all getting busy since the rain. Everybody boost for the Agricultural College. About 45 of Charlie Whitlake's friends and neighbors gave him an old fashioned surprise Sunday, the occasion being his birthday, bringing well filled baskets. A general good time was had by all. We wish Mr. Whitake many more such birthdays.

RED WILLOW. Real estate changed hands at a high rate last week and from the amount that came into the houses, it was supposed not much soil was left in the northwest. The children who had a mild form of scarlet fever which lasted about a day have all recovered though some are still quarantined. The glorious rain made the farmers very active putting in spring wheat, barley and other small grain. Louis Longnecker had an attack of tonsillitis but is better. Little Marie Miller and George Helm entered school last week.
