Training Railroad Employees.

The Union Pacific has set a good example to other railroads in the creation of its training school for employes, and already the Illinois Central has taken up the idea. As one of the official heads of the Illinois Central, Vice President W. L. Park, having been a Union Pacific man for so long, naturally was able to appreciate the worth of an example set by the Overland.

The system of this education is threefold. It seeks to train employes so as to promote efficient service in all branches of work; prepare them for higher and more responsible positions and instruct others seeking to enter the railroad employment in the rudiments. Of course, it stands to reason that the results are profitable to the railroad or the school would not be maintained. But they are also profitable to the general public, which has suffered so much in defective service and the hazard of travel from a lack of efficient employes among other causes.

It is reported that more than one-eighth of all the employes of the Union Pacific are taking this course of study, although it is optional with each whether he shall take it or not. That fact speaks in loudest praise of the system, for it tends in itself to promote mutual interest between employe and employer and makes for a better service. But the probabilities are that very soon this percentage will be much increased. By the time the system has had an opportunity to work out its advantages and the "students" of the training school begin to fall into better positions others will see the benefit in it and refuse to stay out.

Of course the maintenance of such departments as this costs money and a large amount of money, so that it speaks well for the spirit back of it, the spirit of animating the railroad to help itself by helping its employes to become better fitted for its service.—Omaha Bee.

ADDITIONAL RAILROAD.

Engineer J. E. Sanborn is entertaining his brother from the east.

Mrs. Roy Cadman is entertaining her sister from Danbury, Miss Allen-George Kern, round house foreman, returned home, end of week, from his trip east of a few weeks.

J. E. Axtell came up from Beaver City, end of week and has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Neal Beeler.

No. 3 Saturday night and No. 1 Sunday, both ran in two sections to accommodate some special passenger traffic.

Agent G. S. Scott was down from Brush, Colorado, last Friday night, to attend the final meeting of the picnic committee.

Ray Cole has resigned his position as night clerk at the Oxford baggage room, and will go to Idaho to take a position with a telephone company.

Conductor T. E. McCarl received his notice to return to the train service, last Friday morning, and resumed his regular run on 15 and 16 Monday.

Mrs. Richard Ray of Norton, Kansas, was a guest of her cousin Mrs. S. D. Hughes, end of last week. Mrs. Ray will also visit Kearney, Nebraska, while absent from home.

The new water tank for the Burlington was completed Monday, and the steel gang, who have been here for the past two months, left Tuesday morning for Hastings, Iowa, where they have another contract.—Stratton News.

The B. of L. E. presented Miss Minnie Viersen with a handsome gold locket, suitably engraved, in recognition of her services in connection with their Memorial day exercises. The members of the M. E. choir received handsome bouquets in similar recognition.

Kicked by a Colt.

A. E. Turner, known as the ice man of other days, was seriously kicked in the face by a colt on Monday afternoon, and received a broken jaw and an injured arm. He was doctoring a sick colt which belonged to Mrs. Geo. Lindsey, and the animal was in terrible pain. When Mr. Turner was found he was leaning up against the barn in a dazed condition. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the broken bone was set but not until he was very weak from loss of blood, which left him delirious for several hours. He was brought to town to the Geo. Lindsey home, and is getting along as nicely as could be expected under the circumstances.—Red Cloud Commercial-Advertiser.

THERE ARE SEVEN

Musical companies and more than a dozen entertainers, lecturers and orators on the Chautauqua program that we are to have in this city this summer. That's a whole lot when you consider the quality of each number. The band came all the way from Europe—Ferrante's Royal Italian Guards. It's the best Chautauqua band west of the Missouri river.

And the band! That's only an incident. There are six other great musical organizations—one every day of Chautauqua week.

You never saw more variety on any Chautauqua program. More variety couldn't be given. It would be impossible.

Say—you plan for this Chautauqua. Get a season ticket and go every day—or get a season ticket and go whenever you can. It will be worth while to have a season ticket if you go only once in a while. It's the best thing that comes to this town all summer, and if you miss it you're missing something great.

With a season ticket, it costs about 15c a number. Easy? Of how easy!!

Government Stones.

Mr. McComb, a United States surveyor, came to Minden Tuesday with instructions from the surveyor-general at Washington to locate at all county seats desiring it the exact longitude and mark the same by a monument of stone to be placed upon public ground. After having made known his errand to County Surveyor Hull, he visited the grounds of the school buildings and selected the block of the Central school building. The court house block was found undesirable on account of the large amount of steel and iron in the court house, which would affect the delicate working of his instruments. There is now planned upon block 17 in this city the United States monument showing exactly the longitude and latitude of that point, from which surveyors may work out and locate the latitude and longitude of any point in the county.—Minden Gazette.
