SOCIAL AFFAIR OF REAL CHARM

A Lawn Dancing Party to Meet New Members of Young Social Set.

Miss Gertrude Milligan and Miss Pearl Mitchell gave a lawn dancing party, on last Thursday evening, at the Milligan residence on 1st street east, which is regarded as a social achievement of more than usual merit.

The party was given to meet Miss Juliet Galusha and Mr. James Galusha, former Lincoln and Red Cloud friends of the hostesses. About two score young ladies and gentlemen participated in the soiree.

The spacious lawn about the Milligan residence was brightly illuminated by incandescents, some of them in colors, giving an attractive effect to the joyous scene.

A dancing platform on the lawn and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Best at violin and piano were essential details.

Mrs. W. A. Mitchell served fruit punch during the evening, and at a convenient interval light and seasonable refreshments were served upon the lawn with tasteful particularities.

Articles of mission furniture, cushions and other comfortable items completed the provision made for the entertainment and pleasure of the guests.

C. E. Eldred for District Judge.

This paper is pleased to endorse the candidacy of Attorney C. E. Eldred, of McCook, as Judge of this judicial district. He has had a broad experience in his profession and is eminently qualified, both in temperament and training, for the duties of the office he seeks.

Mr. Eldred has always been represented to us as being absolutely fair and impartial in his dealings and he not only brings with him in this campaign a strong endorsement from his home county and the people who know him best, but his standing there is satisfactorily disclosed by the fact that he was three times elected as mayor of the city of McCook, without opposition, and that he has successively held the office of county judge and two terms as county attorney to the entire satisfaction of the people.

To us it seems that no better choice can be made for the office of district judge and advise the voters of this county to give him not only your own vote, but your active support.—Eustis News.

BANK GUARANTEE WILL BE EFFECTIVE JULY 1

After Many Delays New Law Will Be Operative and First Assessment Becomes Due.

Lincoln, Neb., June 24. — After months of delay Nebraska's bank guaranty law will become operative July 1. On that date there will be created a guaranty fund, with an initial assessment of $165,633.92. This is one-fourth of 1 per cent of the average deposits of 658 state banks for the six months beginning December 1, 1910, and ending June 1, 1911.

Notices are now being sent out to the state banks. The money is set apart, but need not be sent in. Another one-fourth of 1 per cent will be demanded January 1 and two similar assessments will be made at intervals of six months thereafter.

When the sum of $500,000 has been set apart the assessments shall cease and no more money will be set apart until the fund shall become depleted.

Wanted Marriage License Canceled.

County Judge Moore received an unusual request, first of the week, which had a rather humorous aspect. It seems that some time in March, the county judge married a couple from a town between here and Hastings. The letter received by the judge indicated that they were not getting along very satisfactorily, and an application was filed to have the license canceled, as an easy and cheap way out of the uncongenial state of matrimony which has since developed.

The People of McCook Are Enjoying the Chautauqua

Fair Sized Audiences at All Sessions and the Sentiment Is One of Satisfaction.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL CLOSE TOMORROW EVENING

With a Final Concert by the Famous Royal Italian Guards Band—Don't Miss the Great Musical Number of the Season.

The McCook Chautauqua opened auspiciously last Thursday afternoon, with an address of welcome by City Attorney Wolff, response by Platform Sup't Sias, and a concert by The Singers and Players Club.

At the evening program Lincoln McConnell was the chief attraction, the prelude being given by the Singers and Players Club. "Line" talked on several phases of the negro with an interest and weight equalled by few men on the American platform today.

Friday's program was put on by the Ruthven McDonald Co. and Dr. Allen A. Tanner in the afternoon. In the evening the same musicians were there, but with Father MacCorry as the stellar attraction. McDonald's singing was the musical feature, and Father MacCorry's pictures in words and on canvas left nothing to be desired. "The Story Beautiful" was a charming bit of artistic effort by orator and vocalist.

The Hattie Rood Grace Co. and Mrs. A. C. Zehner opened the Saturday afternoon program, the former in musical numbers and Mrs. Zehner in a lecture on social problems. "Sid" Landon, the character delineator, was added to the evening, and he made good with the audience from the get away. He is an artist in his line and carries his audience right along with him.

The Killarney Ladies Orchestra and Hon. Francis J. Heney provided the Sunday afternoon program. The orchestra did not materialize just as advertised—but they had the merchandise along with them, and gave the best musical offering of the season to date. The soprano singer was an especial and deserved favorite with the audience. Hon. Francis J. Heney's lecture on "Graft" estimated from the viewpoint of eloquence oratory was not great, but his was a great achievement and his mission on the platform is great. His story and his work were greater than the telling. In the evening, the Killarneys again delighted an appreciative responsive audience. A brief vesper service followed, and Platform Sup't Sias closed with a brief lecture, which proved his ability as a formal lecturer as well as a platform manager.

Monday, the program was in three divisions. Erush, the magician, had the forenoon. He had many to commend the excellence of his work. The Boston Lyrics made their first appearance at the afternoon session. They offer a varied program of instrumental and vocal music with readings, drawing and other specialties which mark them as versatile and entertaining. The day closed with a concert by the Lyrics and a lecture by Judge George D. Alden. The judge was platform superintendent here three years since, and delivered a lecture as well, so he was not a stranger to us. His lecture was along sociological lines. His plea was for a purer, healthier citizenship, and while you may not have been able to follow the judge to the limit, the potentiality of the man, his forceful fearlessness, yea even the vital importance of his topic, appealed to you.

This Tuesday afternoon, the Lee-Lathrop-Fullenwider Combination and Dr. Mattison W. Chase. Tonight the Combination and a lecture by Sylvester A. Long.

Tomorrow, the prelude by the Royal Italian Band, in the afternoon, and the Seton Indians and Boys Circus. Closing at night with a concert by the great band.

Miss A'Lee Mozier is in charge of the Seton Indian work, and Mr. Pinneo is athletic director.

Appointed a Committee.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the McCook Commercial club, this morning, a committee was appointed by Vice President Fahnestock to have in charge the matter of ascertaining the public sentiment about a chautauqua for next year and to take the necessary steps to secure pledges for tickets. This matter will be placed before the people of McCook at once.

FIRE DESTROYS ICE HOUSE.

Loss on House and Ice Will Total $5,000 It Is Estimated.

Last Thursday afternoon, between five and six o'clock, the west one of the company's two big ice houses at this place was practically destroyed by fire. The ice house was built of wood and was covered with a tin roof. Both the railroad company's and the city's fire fighters promptly responded to the alarm, and did all possible, but the building was practically a total loss by the time the flames were subdued.

The character of construction and the weak water pressure handicapped the fire companies, and prolonged the fight to get the fire under control. Both company and city departments, however, did all they could under the rather unfavorable circumstances.

The Loss Nearly $5,000.

The loss on the building is about $4,000; while the loss and damage to the ice will reach in the neighborhood of $700.

The building is divided by a partition, and but a little ice remained unused in the west half of the building. This ice is being transported to Holdrege for storage. The east half of the building was not so badly burned, and there was over a thousand tons of ice in this portion, which was damaged perhaps a half. This end of the building will be temporarily covered and protected from the elements until the ice is used up.

Need Larger Storage Capacity.

The company needs a considerably increased ice storage capacity at this place, and the probabilities are that when they rebuild, they will not only increase the capacity several thousand tons, but they will likely change the location of the houses to be built.

Nearer the Depot.

While the plans are still in embryo, it is expected that two houses will replace the one burned, and that they will be located in the yard space between the headquarters building and round house, special facilities to be provided for transporting the ice to the building and trains. This will be more convenient and practical than the present plan.

The company now stores about 5,000 tons of ice at this place, but the demand is for at least one-half more than that quantity.

Sparks from the switch engine are thought by the company to have caused the fire. Officials do not place much credence in the spontaneous combustion theory.

Came Called on Account of Rain.

The Boosters were defeated last Friday, not by any base ball aggression, but one J. Pluvius, Beaver City and McCook were right after it in real earnest when the clouds cut loose. From all appearances there was to be a mighty good game of base ball. McCook had been to bat twice and put out both times with nobody getting further than second, failed to score. The Boosters were just ready to bat with Bickford out and Warner on deck when the rains came.—Beaver City Tribune.
