University Professorship

Sup't Taylor of the McCook High School Is Thus Highly Honored.

INCIDENTALLY MCCOOK FEELS THE DISTINCTION

Sup't Taylor's Well Known Special Qualifications for the New Position—Congratulations Mingled With Much Regret—Enters Upon New Duties September 20.

The news of the appointment of Sup't Taylor of the McCook public schools to a Nebraska university professorship will be a surprise to most readers of The Tribune and a source of regret to many. A telegram Saturday announced the fact and Sup't Taylor's acceptance.

Professor Charles W. Taylor, for several years superintendent of the McCook public schools was recently appointed professor of school administration in the Teachers College High School. Mr Taylor has been regarded for years as one of the most efficient high school teachers and administrators of the state of Nebraska. He was graduated from the Red Oak, Iowa, public schools after which he entered the University of Nebraska, from which he took his A. B. degree in 1898. While he was in the university he was prominent in student affairs having been chosen on the Interstate Debating team, serving as corresponding secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and in other positions of honor. Since leaving the University Mr. Taylor has had an North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools. This high school is organically connected with the Teachers' College for which it serves as a field for the study of educational problems connected with high school teaching and administration; Professor Taylor's skill in high school administration fits him in a peculiar way for this new task upon which he is now entering; the attendance at this school was last year one hundred and fifty. During the summer extensive improvements have been made in the laboratories and recitation rooms and a new classroom has been added to provide for the enlarged enrollment already on the waiting list. Registration will take place September 20th, 21st and 22nd.

The faculty of this high school for the coming year embraces the following electors:

Professor Taylor, principal; Cora B. Hill, supervisor of mathematics; Dorothy Mayland, supervisor of German; Daisy Needham, supervisor of European history; William French, supervisor of agriculture; Harriet Folger, supervisor of home economics; Mabel Metcalf, supervisor of botany; Donee Griffith, supervisor of geography; John F. Power, supervisor of the assembly hall; Arthur Wickland, supervisor of music.

In addition to this corps of high school teachers the following professors from the faculty of the Teachers' college will direct work in their respective fields: Doctor Stuff, English Language and Literature; Professor Persinger, American History; Professor Brownell, Physical Science; Professor Barber, Latin; Professor Conklin, French.

The appointment involves the standing and salary of a regular professorship in the Nebraska university and the scope of his duties is thus set forth by Chancellor Samuel Avery in his notice of appointment:

"Mr. Charles W. Taylor is here by appointed professor of school administration and principal of the Teachers' College high school at the rate of $2,000 per annum beginning October 1st.

"The Temple high school is to be organized as a department of the Teachers' college of which Prof. Taylor is to be the head. His relation to the dean of the Teachers' college will be similar to the relations existing between the principal of the School of Agriculture and the dean of the Agricultural college."

The distinction came to Sup't Taylor without the seeking, but while the separation from the superintendency of the McCook high school will cause some embarrassment and is regretted by

Prof. Taylor's resignation at the school board, teachers and McCook takes place September 20 when he will enter upon the duties of the principalship of the Teachers' College High School, which is a four-year accredited high school recognized by the the largeness of the opportunity

is considered.

While there has been no formal resignation by Sup't Taylor or formal acceptance by the McCook board of education, the matter has been gone over in a tentative, informal way and a reluctant conclusion arrived at. The board had expressed a willingness to materially advance the present salary.

Prof. Taylor will regularly enter upon his new duties, September 20, the family will not leave for Lincoln until a later date.

The McCook board of education is, of course, naturally anxious to fill the approaching vacancy at earliest possible date. A number of applicants will doubtless be on the field and considered during this present week.

A SNAPPY SERGE DRESS FOR EARLY AUTUMN.

With the departure of August, come the days when it is just a wee bit too cool for lingerie costumes, yet too warm to wear a coat with comfort. For this in-between-time a warm woolen dress becomes almost a necessity, especially for those who linger at the country home or who are fortunate enough to take their vacation during the prettiest month of the year—September.

The charming dress shown here sweet in its simplicity, is of blue serge trimmed with self-colored satin serge buttons, and having cuffs and collars piped with silk cord to match. From the broad collared blouse so deservedly popular to the skirt which obeys fashion's dictates and is slightly fuller than the silhouette of the season past, the design is ultra sylth.

Being devoid of ornamentation, a garment of this sort recommends itself to the business woman, the traveller and all who must foster their dress allowance and want the maximum of utility at modest cost.

While the dress pictured in the illustration is of serge, it need not be confined to this weave. Homespuns, herringbones, chevrons and kindred fabrics can be used with striking effect.

It is the proved quality of Magner's groceries that accounts for their increasing popularity with the buying public. Every patron is a satisfied patron.

The members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church will meet in the parsonage Thursday afternoon of this week.

We have a shipment of fine coke which we are selling at $8 a ton. BARNETT LUMBER CO.

If you feel you want to be shown in matter of quality, go to the McCook Flour and Feed Store.

We never hesitate to guarantee Lily Patent flour. At the McCook Flour and Feed Store.

For special on dill, sour and sweet pickles see Magner.

Wants, for rent, for sale, etc. 5c a line in The Tribune.

McConnell fills prescriptions.

Not a Thriller.

The performance of the Kit Carson Club on last Friday in this city was not a thriller in any adequate sense. Indeed it was quite mediocre. They drew a well filled canvas, however. The parade, too, lacked several feet of the promised two miles of gorgeous, glittering greatness.

Notes.

McCook was evidently show hungry—she gave the show the largest attendance of the season.

A few drunks were given lodging and due attention, the following morning, but no disturbance of note occurred during show day.

Lo the poor aborigines indulged in some little speculation over the city, but the merchants were put wise, and the Indians got away with but little pelf on that account.

Real Estate Filings.

The following real estate filings have been made in the county clerk's office since our last report:

M. A. Watson, to Village of Bartley, bill of sale, the entire electric light plant at Bartley, Neb. 1500 00
Viola Kelley to Joseph R. Stansberry, wd., w 1/2 28-1-30 1 00
Security Land & Trust Co. to Louis A. Bates, wd., sw 1/4 13-3-29 2500 00
Paul S. Seeley et al, to Emma Sorg, wd., sw 1/4 12-2-28 1 00

McCook Workmen Won.

The McCook A. O. U. W. team won from Trenton A. O. U. W. club in the base ball game at Trenton Saturday. The score was 18 to 9. The local boys say they never played with a finer bunch of boys than the Trenton team in their lives—getting a square deal and best of treatment. The Trenton team is expected to come down to McCook and play a game in a week or two.
