HELP THE KIDNEYS.

McCook Readers Are Learning the Way.

It's the little kidney ills—The lame, weak or aching back—The unnoticed urinary disorders—

That lead to dropsy and Bright's disease.

When the kidneys are sick, Help them with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A remedy especially for sick kidneys.

Doan's have been curing kidney troubles for 75 years.

Endorsed by 50,000 people—endorsed at home.

Proof in a McCook citizen's statement.

Mrs. M. Carmony, 310 E. Fifth St., McCook, Neb., says:

"Our experience with Doan's Kidney Pills convinced us that they are the best kidney medicine to be had. A member of our family suffered a great deal from inactive kidneys. His back pained him all the time and often the misery was almost unbearable. Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief as soon as they were taken and continued use drove away the trouble."

TO THE PUBLIC.

The existence of several reported cases of typhoid fever and the various rumors as to the cause of such fever in the city of McCook lead the board of health to say that an examination of the wells from which the city is supplied, shows the same conditions that have existed in previous years when no typhoid was present. No new wells have been added. It is true that some new sand points have been put down at some little distance from the old well, but as yet no water has come from this source.

The six wells from which the water is obtained are supplying all the water as they have done in previous years and as it takes all the flow of the wells to supply the demand the water is kept fresh by having it pumped out as fast as it comes in, so the board of health does not expect to find any typhoid fever germs in the water. A sample of the city water sent to Lincoln for analysis last week was unfortunately broken in shipment and another sample has been sent, a report from which is expected at any time.

The board of health will be glad to answer any inquiries that may come in and will take notice of all complaints wherein the public health is endangered.

As McCook is usually free from typhoid fever and especially so since the private wells have been supplanted by a city water plant, the board of health is investigating every probable source of the present infection and until it is determined it would be well for all persons to use precautionary measures concerning their food and drink, by keeping the food in the most sanitary condition and boiling all fluids used for drinking.

FAVOR THE SOUTH ROAD.

Twenty automobiles and one auto-truck, participants in the annual endurance run of the Omaha Automobile club, passed thru Lincoln at noon yesterday bound for Omaha on the return from a 700 mile trip through central and southern Nebraska. The tourists parked their cars near a local garage while they took dinner here before continuing on their way.

The Omaha Lincoln Hastings road from the Missouri river to Denver has a better foundation than the road along the Platte river through Fremont, Columbus and Grand Island, according to several of the tourists. On the other hand, they are a unit in saying that the Platte River road has been more carefully graded than the southern route and that it is now in better condition than its rival highway.

The party made the outbound trip to Hastings over the northern route to Grand Island. Leaving Hastings at 6:30 yesterday morning, they came to Lincoln in 5 hours over the river-to-mountain road which was plotted several months ago.

"I think unquestionably the southern route has the best possibilities," said J. A. Moran, representative of an automobile trade journal. "But right now it is in a frightful shape part of the way. The Platte river road has a considerable amount of sand and in rainy weather develops mud puddles which your southern route will not be bothered with. But they have done a lot of work up there and the road is now in shape so that it drains off well after showers. If the people along the Lincoln-Hastings road would do an equal amount of work their road would be considerably the better of the two, for it will shed water naturally if only it is so graded as to be given a fair chance."

The tourists have had fine weather and have experienced few of the ordinary troubles of long distance tours. They encountered a slight shower just this side of Hastings this morning.

The prize offered for the best stretch of road along the Platte river route will go either to the highway just east and just west of Central City or to that near Grand Island in Hall county, according to the men who have just been over the road. Much work had been expended on these sections of the road.

The bulk of the tourists reached Lincoln at a few minutes before the noon hour. The smaller cars, running on a slower schedule, arrived an hour later. Al checked out to Omaha after spending an hour in Lincoln. — Lincoln Journal.

A WOMAN'S REVENGE.

Sensational Incident of the Civil War in Mexico.

In the civil war in Mexico, which resulted in the downfall of Diaz, a sensational incident took place—the seizure of Colonel Chiapas by an avenger. At the beginning of the insurrection Chiapas had command for the government of the Sonora district, and he quickly became known for his severity. Among those who suffered was a rich resident named Talamantes, who, with his two sons, was arrested on the charge of sympathizing with the insurgents.

After a brief hearing the three were condemned to death. Mme. Talamantes pleaded with Chiapas for the life of her husband and sons, offering everything they possessed, but the colonel replied to her entreaties only with sneers, refused her request, had the three men taken to the grounds of their own hacienda, forced Mme. Talamantes to remain within hearing of the shots and had them executed.

The widow changed from a retiring, undemonstrative woman to a vigorous avenger. Having ample financial resources, she first offered $20,000 to any one who would deliver Chiapas alive into her hands. Then she organized a troop of armed men, put herself at its head and joined the insurgents. Soon the Talamantes became one of the strongest and most effective forces among the rebels. Her avowed purpose was to capture Chiapas. When the federals evacuated Agua Prieta the widow ambushed a detachment led by Chiapas, who in the fight was wounded and delivered to her. Within two hours of his capture she compelled him to dig his own grave. He stood at its edge, and she personally gave the command to fire to her twelve troopers who faced him. — London Family Herald.

AFRICAN RHINOS.

They Are Nervous and Cowardly Rather Than Ferocious.

Instead of being a savagely ferocious animal, the African rhinoceros is a cowardly, shortsighted creature, according to John T. McCutcheon in "Hunting Adventures in the Big Game Country." He says:

"After the rhino has taken his dirt wallow and looks fine in his new red coat he then slowly and painstakingly proceeds to kill time during the rest of the day. If danger threatens he becomes exceedingly nervous and excited. His anxiety is quite acute. In vain he tries to locate the danger, rushing one way for a few yards, then the other way and finally all ways at once. His tail is up, and he snorting like a steam engine.

When he rushes toward you in this attitude it looks very much as though he were charging you with the purpose of tramping you to finders. As a matter of fact—or, rather, opinion—he is merely trying to locate where you are in order that he may run the other way. He looks terrifying, but in reality is probably badly terrified himself. He would give a good deal to know which way to run and finally becomes so excited and nervous that he starts frantically in some direction, hoping for the best. If the rush happens to be in your direction you call it a charge from an infuriated rhino; if not, you say that he looked nasty and was about to charge, but finally ran away in another direction.

In most rhino charges it is my opinion that the rhino is too rattled to know what he is doing, and instead of charging maliciously he is merely trying to get away as fast as possible. And in such cases the hunter blazes away at him, wounds him, and the rhino blindly charges the flash.

No Making Up Just Then.

The curtain lecture had finished and Mrs. Garrill, feeling that perhaps she had overdone the matter, began to read little items from the newspaper. "That," she said, "that's funny, isn't it, George? Here's a man advertising for a silent partner with a thousand dollars."

"Yes," said Garrill. "It's terribly funny. If he'd married you he'd have been darned glad to get a silent partner even if she hadn't a cent."

Explained His Mistake.

"The more I think of it the more I am convinced that I made a mistake when I married you," he exclaimed. She drew herself up proudly.

"You can undo it," she replied. "Alas, it is too late!" he said. "I suppose the organist has already spent the $10 I intended to give the minister and the minister has excommunicated me for the $2 he got." — Exchange.

Truth Will Out.

Above Water.

"The times are hard, my dear," said a man to his better half, "and I find it extremely difficult to keep my nose above water."

"You could easily keep your nose above water," returned the lady, "if you didn't keep it so often above brandy." — London Answers.
