

The McCook Tribune

ESTABLISHED 1882.

F. M. KIMMELL, Editor.

Largest Circulated Newspaper Published in Red Willow County.

Entered at postoffice, McCook, Nebraska, as second-class matter. Published Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The Republicans of Red Willow county present for the consideration of the voters of this county, this fall, a ticket composed from top to bottom of capable men, men who have either had experience in the office they seek or who have had thorough training and preparation for the work required: Chas. Skalla, who seeks a reelection to the office of county clerk, is a splendid example of the efficient officer; his superior has never occupied that important and exacting office. Arthur Wood, who is their nominee for county treasurer, has had years of office training, and is qualified in every essential particular to give a good and honest account of his stewardship in that position. Elmer Kay, the present deputy clerk of the district court and acting clerk, has given every assurance by practical work of his ability to conduct that office to the satisfaction of all who have business in the district court. E. F. Asborn, the one seeking the shrievalty, is no stranger to the work of that office; he has served as deputy sheriff and in other official capacities of that nature; and his record is one of efficiency and dependability. J. C. Moore has served years in the office of county judge with an honesty and carefulness and devotion to duty that is unusual, and he promises to continue such fidelity to the people if re-elected. Miss Elizabeth Bettcher's tenure of the office of superintendent of public instruction has been especially marked by efficiency, such efficiency indeed as has attracted the attention of the state's educational department; she should be re-elected by an increased majority. Chas. W. Kelley, the candidate for county surveyor, is a rising young man in his profession, and is giving an increasing degree of good service in that office at present. Dr. D. F. Smith has been named as the candidate for county coroner, and tho, happily we have small use for that office, should occasion require, he will fill the bill to the utmost. Wm. J. Stilgebauer seeks the office of county commissioner. He needs no introduction to the farmers especially of Red Willow county; he has lived here to these many years, and has gained a reputation for high character and business economy that fits him for the discharge of the exacting requirements of a good commissioner. So from the first to the last, the nominees are worthy of your support, voters.

City Council Meets.

The municipal fathers were in regular convocation Monday evening. All officers were present. Minutes were read and approved with the correction regarding firemen's pay—same to read $1.00 each and warrants drawn accordingly.

FIGHT OFF WORRY.

Don't Waste Nervous Strength and Energy in Useless Fretting.

The immediate cause of neuralgia is poison in the blood; therefore our object is to keep the blood pure and healthy, as it is only when the blood is poor that the neuralgia poisons develop in it. Poor blood is caused by lack of sleep, lack of fresh air, improper food and overfatigue, by too little exercise and by mental worry.

Nothing is easier to say than "Don't worry" and few things so difficult to carry out. But by "Don't worry" the doctors mean do not waste valuable nervous strength and energy in fretting over things beyond your control. Make a point of putting all anxiety from you during meals and above all when you go to bed. Train yourself to think of something cheerful as you try to go to sleep; otherwise your sleep will be harassed and fitful and will do you very little good.

He was a wise man who made it a rule to think of nothing disagreeable after 10 o'clock at night. He at any rate could never have been a victim to neuralgia.

Keep up the general tone of the nervous system and you will have little difficulty in keeping off nervous ailments, notably neuralgia. — London Mail.

A FREAK OF NATURE.

The Curious Vegetable Caterpillar of New Zealand.

Among the many strange growths, apparently freaks of nature, which are to be found in New Zealand the vegetable caterpillar readily ranks among the foremost. This caterpillar is several inches in length, is hairless and does not differ essentially in appearance from some of the caterpillars of our own land.

Its claim to distinction lies in the fact that when it gets ready to die it digs a hole for itself in the earth and completely buries itself. Later a slender green shoot springs from the spot. This bears two or more leaves near its top.

Upon investigation it is found that the green shoot springs from the head of the dead caterpillar, and further investigation develops the fact that the body of the caterpillar is filled with roots.

The form is retained without change, and the roots do not pierce through the skin or enter the ground. When dug up this dead yet living freak presents a most odd appearance, for the head and even the eyes of the caterpillar are distinctly seen, yet from the head is growing the green sprout, with its leaves.

"A Child Shall Lead Them."

It was in Boston. They were having a "difference." "After careful cogitation," said he, "I am firmly convinced that I displayed a deplorable lack of discernment in choosing you as the partner of my joys and sorrows."

"You are correct," said she, "and I am sure that I must have been suffering under a mental aberration to have given an affirmative answer to your impassioned pleading."

"I have realized," said Bartholomew, the four-year-old progeny, as he stepped from the nursery—"I have realized for several years that my parental affiliations were uncongenial; I might almost say distasteful. But I have deemed it my duty to continue as 'the tie that binds.' Now I must insist that unless you show to each other the courtesies due my immediate ancestors I shall be forced to repudiate my relationship."

They embraced. Again a little child had won.—Brooklyn Life.

Psychology of Sleep.

The psychology of sleep is a vast and little explored subject. Sleep deepens to trance, trance to death. Therefore in life, speaking somewhat paradoxically, sleep is most akin to death. Whether the spirit is parted from the body and goes long journeys through space, or whether it is in a state of one long dream, parts of which we are alone conscious of, is a matter for the Society of Psychical Research. Yet many of us have dreamed things, seen things or even spoken and heard things in sleep which we have seen, heard or spoken later on in reality. We can more or less follow the stages up to the final sleep of all, but here we must pause, and, with Hamlet, in vain attempt to learn what lies beyond the veil: "And in that sleep of death, what dreams may come!"—London Globe.

A Matter of Economy.

"But why do you wish to have a running account at the department store?" asked the husband. "Do you think it saves you anything?"

"Of course it does, you silly thing. Isn't that just like a man! It saves me more than you can imagine," answered the wife in a breath.

"But what does it save?" "Time. I don't have to stop and ask the price of anything I want to buy."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Her Beautiful Hair.

"Maybelle, your girl friend has beautiful hair."

"It will pass, Tom."

"Why do you girls hate to admit that another girl has fine points?" "In that case it wouldn't do to appear too enthusiastic. I lent her that hair."—Kansas City Journal.

Feminine Reasoning.

Stella—Her gown is just like yours. Bella—I don't care if hers is a duplicate of mine, but I don't want mine a duplicate of hers.—Puck.

Civilization is first and foremost a moral thing.—Amiel.

IMPLEMENT EXHIBIT WILL BE PRACTICAL

Thorough Demonstration of Farm Machinery at Land Show.

What will be one of the greatest and most thorough expositions and demonstrations of farm machinery ever exploited in the west will be seen Oct. 16 to 28 in connection with the Omaha Land Show. This feature of the products exhibit, the magnitude of which far surpasses the plans of other land shows, will be attractive in more ways than one, particularly in the fact that every contract for display space specifies that the exhibit shall be "live" or practical.

At the first Omaha Land Show the total attendance was very large and it is expected that the admissions in October will be doubled, because of the added features and the great success of the first exhibit. Farmers are drawn to this exposition from Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas and a dozen more states farther west. The majority of persons who come are not those who expect to see a grand spectacle, but rather those who have been drawn into the magnificent movement of developing the west in all those states embraced in the territory of the Western Development association. It is true that they will see spectacles, the like of which are not attempted outside of world fairs, but everything has been arranged to educate and uplift the farmer, and the western farmer is not slow to adopt improved and modern methods.

Many Big Exhibitors.

Machinery hall, which is separate from but connected with the main exposition building, has a floor space of about 20,000 square feet, and already all of this has been disposed of to exhibitors. All the big agricultural implement concerns will be represented, as will scores of smaller ones from Ohio west to the Pacific coast. Every kind of machinery will be represented, and there will be a practical demonstration of every machine displayed. Even the big gasoline, oil and steam tractors will be put through a series of tests, actually breaking up the soil as they do when in use on the rolling prairies of the west.

One of the features of the machinery exhibit is the fact that all displays are contained under one roof, instead of being scattered, as is the case at big fairs, as the buildings will be connected with each other. The scene in Machinery hall will be made as brilliant as possible with thousands of electric lights and elaborate decorations and form electric light plants will add to this feature.

SCENE WILL DAZZLE

Myriad of Lights and Fine Decorations Features of Land Show.

Those who have known the Omaha Coliseum in days gone by will not be able to recognize it now. With its new walls of concrete and with the interior entirely remodeled, its appearances have been entirely changed.

The second annual Omaha Land Show will be given in the huge Coliseum, which is now being put in shape for that purpose. When the portals are swung wide on Oct. 16 the interior of the great structure will present the most beautiful sight ever seen in the west. The decorations will be gorgeous, all brilliantly illuminated with thousands of electric lights. The court of honor, extending through the middle of the entire exhibit hall, will be a thing of artistic beauty, lined on either side with massive columns surmounted with beautiful statuary representing "sowing" and "reaping." An electric fountain will form the central feature of the court.

One big attraction that will be in full view of all who enter the exposition will be the gorgeous panoramic display depicting the development of the west from the glacial period down to the present day. This will be the best thing of the kind since the introduction of "creation" at the Louisiana Purchase exposition. A remarkable advantage to all exhibitors and visitors is that the arrangement is such that all exhibits can be seen from any point in the hall. The exposition will undoubtedly be the greatest of its kind ever presented in the west. Its dates are Oct. 16 to 28, making two full weeks this time.

Women at the Land Show.

Special attention will be shown to women visitors at the Omaha Land Show. Appreciating the fact that it is the women who decide the future policy of the home, the management of the land show extends a special invitation to them to visit the big exhibit of the products of the west. Rest rooms will be provided for their comfort and every effort will be made to make the ladies who attend enjoy their visit.

"Bee Wizard" at Omaha Land Show.

F. G. Odell, "the bee wizard," will be at the Omaha Land Show with his 50,000 assistants. They put on an interesting program, which is decidedly out of the ordinary. Instead of it being a performance of "Daniel in the Lion's Den," it is one of "Odell in the Bee's Hive." Mr. Odell handles the bees as carelessly as if they were not protected by stingers, but they never abuse his confidence in them.

TAKEN TO ST. JOSEPH.

Arthur Chelf Leaves for Home in Care of Deputy Sheriff.

A deputy sheriff arrived from St. Joseph, Mo., Tuesday on 13, and left for home again on 16, Wednesday morning, taking with him Arthur Chelf, the man whose conduct here, the past few days, has been a source of some concern to the authorities.

It appears that Chelf was some time since sandbagged and has never recovered from the injury, and doubtless his strange conduct and unaccountable behavior here may be traced to that source.

The deputy states he will be placed in a hospital in St. Joe upon his arrival there for an operation to relieve the brain pressure caused by the injury he received on the head. It is thought this will restore him to himself and family.
